Foreign Aid Cut Has Opposition

WASHINGTON (AP)—Foreign aid supporters counted on President Eisenhower's appeal and a big House attendance today to reverse a heavy cut voted Wednesday in the foreign aid bill.

But both friends and foes of the multi-billion-dollar measure were cautious about predicting the outcome as the House gathered for a showdown.

The lawmakers prepared to meet earlier than usual in a drive to finish action on the embattled bill by nightfall.

As it now stands, the bill authorizes $3,042,333,000 to aid other countries economically and militarily during the next 12 months. This is $802,300,000 less than Eisenhower sought, counting the $200 million cut voted Wednesday by the House.

First on tap today was a leadership move to reverse the Wednesday action. The House voted 106-100 then for an amendment by Rep. Bentley (R-Mich) to reduce to $500 million the economic aid funds to support defense programs of allies.

EISENHOWER had requested $900 million. The Senate cut that figure to $800 million, and a House committee had further reduced it to $700 million before the bill got to the House floor.

Eisenhower said after the Bentley move succeeded that the cut to $500 million "can be considered as no less than a threat to our nation's security and that of the free world." He asked for a return to at least the $800 million figure approved in the Senate.

Representatives Carnahan (D-Mo) and Vorys (R-Ohio), floor managers for the bill, were cautiously optimistic that the one-day layover had supplied enough opportunity to round up votes to overturn Bentley's amendment. But they weren't sure they could get up to the $800 million.

Carnahan noted that only 206 of the 433 present House members voted on the Bentley proposal and Bentley said he is "not at all optimistic" that his cut will stick.

Bentley says the defense support funds can be cut safely because there is an $8 billion back log unspent from past aid appropriations. The administration says the money is vitally needed to shore up economies of poor anti-Communist nations like Korea, Formosa, Viet Nam and others on the Communist borders.

Ohio Legion Opens Annual Convention

CINCINNATI (AP)—The Ohio Department of the American Legion, now a mixture of aging veterans of World War I and their more youthful counterparts from World War II, opened its annual three-day convention here today.

Gov. C. William O'Neill and Rep. Gordon Scherer of Cincinnati were to be speakers at the convention's opening business session. The three days will be a combination of business meetings, parades, contests and fun-making.

Two candidates for the post of national commander also were to be on today's program. They are Howard C. Kingdom of Conneaut, and Truman Wold of Fargo, N. D.

Lie Test for Dr. Sam Asked

O'Neill Still Silent On Sheppard Case

COLUMBUS (AP)—Action by Gov. C. William O'Neill still was awaited here today in the new speculation in the Sheppard murder case.

The governor has been asked to grant permission for a lie detector test of Dr. Samuel Sheppard, serving a life term in the Ohio Penitentiary for the 1954 slaying of his wife in Bay Village, near Cleveland.

Warden Ralph Alvis of the penitentiary previously declined to permit the test for Sheppard but said "I could be overruled by the governor."

Sheppard refused a lie test prior to his trial and conviction but since has told his attorneys he would permit it.

Meanwhile, in Deland, Fla., a lie detector expert has repeated that Donald Wedler has told "the truth or what he believes to be the truth" about the slaying of Mrs. Sheppard.

ALEX GREGORY of Detroit made such an announcement Thursday after a second examination of the 23-year-old prisoner who on Monday confessed a crime resembling the Sheppard slaying in July 1954.

Gregory, representing a nonofficial group of criminologists who call themselves the Court of Last Resort, will be joined here today by Earle Stanley Gardner, the mystery writer and head of the court. It was Gardner who petitioned O'Neill for action.

Gregory said his tests of Wedler have been completed and that Gardner will decide whether to continue the investigation. The court, whose aim is to prove innocent persons it feels wrongly convicted, has been interested in the Sheppard case for some time.

Gregory declined to give details of exact questions he asked Wedler in 3½ hours of testing Wednesday night and almost 4 hours Thursday.

He referred newsmen to a typewritten statement saying "Donald Wedler is either telling the truth or what he believes to be the truth about the murder of Marilyn Sheppard." Marilyn was Mrs. Sheppard's first name.

Gregory elaborated by saying he asked Wedler whether he had killed a woman and that the subject

Springfielder Admits Fatal 1948 Clubbing

SPRINGFIELD (AP) — A 45-year-old Springfield man, whose conscience is bothering him, has admitted clubbing another man to death nearly 10 years ago.

A first degree murder charge was lodged Thursday against Herman William Snyder in the death of William Ellis Crowell, 48, of New Carlisle.

The deputies quoted Snyder as saying that he and some companions had been riding in an auto with Crowell and that they decided to rob him. Snyder said he hit Crowell with a bottle while they were in the car, and then again with a rock when Snyder dumped Crowell's body in a wood near Wright View Heights in Greene County.

Snyder said he took some bonds and between $600 and $700 in cash from Crowell, deputies related. Snyder said he did not remember his companions' names.

Snyder's statements were made in May while he was in county jail here on a grand jury indictment for burglary.

Snyder remained in Clark County jail until Thursday when he was taken to Green County jail in Xenia for investigation.

U.S. Treasurymen To Stop Carping About Rare Carpet

WASHINGTON (AP)—A local rug cleaner has promised to stop displaying a customer's Persian rug and the Treasury Department says it will stop pestering him for the name of the customer.

The 3x6-foot rug is woven to resemble an old-style dollar bill, complete with portrait, seal and serial number.

Alex George, the rug cleaner, said Treasury agents had been harping at the carpet because it's illegal to display facsimilies of U. S. currency for commercial purposes. He said they also wanted to know who owns it.

George said a customer bought the rug, which took 15 years to make, in Iran during World War II. He explained it would violate his code of ethics to identify the owner.

Wreck Cleared From B&O Track

The Baltimore and Ohio Railroad's crack freighter, "Springfield 97," traveled from Washington C. H. to Chillicothe shortly before midnight Thursday on track that had been torn out just 35 hours before.

The 97's sister train, the "Springfield 94," was wrecked on the track just south of Fairview Rd. at the Fayette-Ross County line about 12:45 p. m. Wednesday.

Cause of the wreck is still undetermined. Specially equipped repair crews went to work Wednesday night clearing the track of 14 smashed cars and worked almost around the clock until repairs were completed Thursday night.

Harold Wise, yardmaster here, said he understood railroad detectives would continue to search for the cause of the wreck.

Though repairs have completed to the point where trains can travel over the track, "some additional work" has yet to be done, Wise said.

The wreck caused damages to freight and equipment totaling possibly $185,000.

First Marriage Best One After All

DETROIT (AP)—When Walter M. Dunham, 61, and Selma Mae Back, 57, exchange marriage vows Monday his first wife will become his fourth and her first husband will become her fifth.

Dunham and Selma were first married in Hot Springs, Ark., when he was 21 and she was 17. They were divorced 11 years later.

Dunham moved to Detroit where he married twice. Selma remained in Hot Springs where she married three times.

Last month Dunham went to Hot Springs on vacation and looked Selma up for the first time in 30 years. He proposed and was accepted.

Exhibits To Pack Fairground; Entertainment Features, Too

The gates will swing open next Tuesday on a Fayette County Fair that holds promise of favorable comparison with the best of the many, Fairs that have been held here through the years.

The Fairground will be jam-packed again with everything from exhibits of a wide variety of products from Fayette County's rich soil and the handiwork of its people to small concession stands.

Sharing interest with the exhibits will be the four days of harness horse racing, starting Wednesday at 1:30 p. m., and the Night Fair shows, Tuesday through Saturday.

The Fair will have two queens this year. One will reign over the entire Fair and the other over the Junior Fair.

The Fair queen, who will be chosen by popular vote in a contest sponsored by 42 Washington C. H. merchants, will be crowned in an elaborate ceremony at 7 p. m. Wednesday in the grandstand. She will be one of 10 nominated in the primary election.

CONSIDERABLE emphasis has been placed on the Junior Fair and Junior Fair Night Tuesday, when the spotlight will be turned on the variety show the young people will put on in front of the grandstand.

In years past, the Junior Fair, with its many facets, has been scattered over the Fairground and its special shows have been held in different places at different

Queen Will Be Crowned At Fair Next Wednesday

The Fayette County Fair is going to have a queen this year.

She will be one of ten young ladies nominated for the honor during the primary balloting, June 17 to 26 — but which one will not be known until 7 o'clock next Wednesday evening when she is crowned at brief but impressive ceremonies on the stage in front of the grandstand at the Fair.

Voting on the ten nominees started July 1 and closed at noon Thursday, July 18, with an avalanche of ballots to be added to the thousands already cast. Counting of the votes is expected to continue almost until the day of the coronation.

All ten of candidates for queen will be on stage, looking their prettiest in their formals and radiant with excitement.

One of these girl will be Queen of the Fair: Louise Stewart, 423 W. Elm St.; Cindy Schlichter, Route 1, Bloomingburg; Sandra Rose, 729 Washington Ave.; Anita Payne, Route 5; Kay Knisley, 511 Eastern Ave.; Patsy Hollar, Route 5; Jean Cupp, 415 W. Circle Ave.; Mary Chakeres, Route 5; Betty Carpenter, Route 2 and Mary Allison, Route 5.

William Stoughton, manager of the Chamber of Commerce, will be the master of ceremonies and Thomas Gormley, advertising director of the Record-Herald, will congratulate the 10 candidates on behalf of the people of the community and commend the 42 mer-

He Drives 25 Years Without License

STROUDSBURG, Pa. (AP) — A motorist revealed Thursday he had been driving for 25 years without a driver's license.

Police said Harold Strill, 49, told them he was refused a license because of poor eyesight.

He related the story after his first encounter with traffic police — when he lost his grip on the steering wheel while lighting a cigaret and ran over an embankment near Canadensis, Pa. He was unhurt.

Cop's Son Is Bound To Jury in Burglary

PAINESVILLE (AP)—The son of a Cleveland police lieutenant, Norman Bayless Jr., 20, was bound over to the Lake County grand jury Thursday on charges of burglary and grand larceny. He pleaded guilty to breaking into the Willoughby High School May 10 and stealing $5,750 worth of musical instruments. An accomplice, Joseph Di Tirro, 18, pleaded guilty to the same charges.

First Air to Air A-Rocket Fired Successfully by U. S.

ATOMIC TEST SITE, Nev. (AP)—The first air to air atomic rocket fired from a plane burst over the desert today with a flash that paled the morning sun.

The Air Defense Command's newest and most powerful weapon caused a vivid fireball to flare in the target area at an altitude of more than 15,000 feet. It sent up a pink doughnut-shaped cloud.

The nuclear rocket was launched from a Northrop F89 Scorpion jet fighter.

As the rocket's cloud rose in stately fashion into clear blue sky, the vapor trail of an airplane, probably the launcher, cut sharply away to the north.

The target in this test was a predesignated point in space, the exact altitude and distance from the launching plane of which were not disclosed.

Within 10 minutes after the detonation the cloud was only a faint misty smudge in the sky.

WHEN THE ROCKET exploded, five defense command officers were on the ground directly beneath it to study blast and flash effects. They had no protection, and were not expected to need any.

The burst was more than 13 miles from News Nob where observers were stationed.

The launching plane was the leader in a formation of three Scorpion jets. The rocket was the Genie, manufactured by Douglas Aircraft Co.

Power of the weapon was announced only as "well below nominal." A nominal bomb is rated as the energy equivalent of 20,000 tons of TNT.

From the size of the fireball and the noise of the explosion it seemed far down in the range of kilotons.

Col. J. H. Atkinson, commander of the Air Defense Command, disclosed before the test that air to air rockets with atomic warheads already are in the inventory of his force. The weapons are designed to knock down invading bombers.

Col. Atkinson said defense command planes do not carry these weapons but they could be put into use in a matter of minutes.

Surgery Corrects Heart of Boy, 9

COLUMBUS (AP)—Chuckie Hathaway, 9, who literally didn't have the heart for playing sports with other youngsters, is apparently on the threshold of an active, normal life.

Surgeons at Children's Hospital here used a heart-lung pump developed at Ohio State University to operate on the boy nine days ago. The apparatus functioned for the boy's heart and lungs for 26 minutes July 10 while they corrected the congenital heart defect that has restricted his activity.

Fire In Coffee Shop Nearly Unquenchable

At 4:50 p.m. Thursday they were called to Cap's Coffee Shop. They doused a grease fire.

At 6:10 there was another call. Cap's grease fire.

Firemen had just returned to their base when a third call came from Cap's.

"It turned out there was a leaking grease drain," explained owner Lois Thompson.

Colorado Dam Being Plugged By Bulldozers

CAPULIN, Colo. (AP)—A thousand persons their homes and land in jeopardy, watched apprehensively as workmen tried to plug a gaping hole today in the face of Terrace Reservoir dam.

"This is the critical period," said highway patrol chief Gilbert Carrel following an inspection.

"But the situation looks somewhat improved."

Five bulldozers ripped dirt from a mountainside near the crumbling earth-filled dam and tossed it into the hole believed created by recent cloudbursts.

The 45-year-old dam in southern Colorado, full for the first time in years, groaned with the weight of nearly six billion gallons of water behind it.

Below, in a valley stretching virtually to Albuquerque, N. M., lie dozens of small communities and many isolated farms.

All 300 residents of this town were evacuated to higher ground Thursday and those in La Jara, Manassa and Sanford, Colo., were alerted to flee should the dam burst.

Work crews have dumped several tons of dirt and rocks in the hole 60 feet below the top of the 160-foot-highdam. Water still pouring through the breach today turned clearer, indicating little new earth was being torn loose.

Fire In Coffee Shop Nearly Unquenchable

At 4:50 p.m. Thursday they were called to Cap's Coffee Shop They doused a grease fire.

At 6:10 there was another call. Cap's grease fire.

Firemen had just returned to their base when a third call came from Cap's.

Colorado Dam Being Plugged By Bulldozers

CAPULIN, Colo. (AP)—A thousand persons their homes and land in jeopardy, watched apprehensively as workmen tried to plug a gaping hole today in the face of Terrace Reservoir dam.

"This is the critical period," said highway patrol chief Gilbert Carrel following an inspection.

"But the situation looks somewhat improved."

Five bulldozers ripped dirt from a mountainside near the crumbling earth-filled dam and tossed it into the hole believed created by recent cloudbursts.

The 45-year-old dam in southern Colorado, full for the first time in years, groaned with the weight of nearly six billion gallons of water behind it.

All 300 residents of this town were evacuated to higher ground Thursday and those in La Jara, Manassa and Sanford, Colo., were alerted to flee should the dam burst.

Work crews have dumped several tons of dirt and rocks in the hole 60 feet below the top of the 160-foot-highdam. Water still pouring through the breach today turned clearer, indicating little new earth was being torn loose.

Parents of Missing Girl Joining Search

CENTERVILLE, Iowa (AP) — Mr and Mrs. Hubert Strandberg have decided to join the search for their daughter Zanna Lee, 23, who disappeared in Cleveland July 8. Zanna and Virginia Glena, her roommate in Chicago, flew to Cleveland July 4 for a vacation.

18 Are Nabbed For Speeding

Dozen are Caught With Speedmeter

A total of 18 speeding cases were recorded in Municipal Court Monday morning. Of these, 11 forfeited bond, six were fined and one was found not guilty.

Police made 12 of the 18 arrests Thursday on Highland Ave. with the city's speed meter. A total of 11 of the 19 were made by one officer, Patrolman Simon White.

People pleading guilty to speeding charges, and the amount of each fine, were:

Wilbur Jones, 27, 1208 Rawlings St., $10 and costs;

James Welch, 26, Johnstown, $10 and costs.

Phyllis Neff, 27 614 S. Main St., $15 and costs;

Barbara Bricker, 34, near Washington C. H., $15 and costs;

Howard Finley, 70, Orient, $5 and costs, the fine suspended.

Fred Strasser, 40, Columbus, $10 and costs;

Carl Maddy 21, of 406 N. North St., was found not guilty.

Forfeiting bond on speeding charges were:

Webster Huff, 21, New Cumberland, $20;

Edwin Irwin, 51, Ashville, $20;

John L. Sagar, 27, 630 Yeoman St., $20;

land, giving a hometown of Glen Burnie, a Baltimore suburb.

Actually, she was married at 14 to Gene Norris Ennis, 28, Air Force staff sergeant stationed at Friendship International Airport, near Baltimore. The children are David Nathan, 2, and Gene Jr., 3.

Leona told contest officials she was single and 21. Other sources give her age as 18 and her marriage date as Feb. 3, 1953.

Contest officials say she will be stripped of her title and Miss Utah, Charlotte Sheffield, 20, Salt Lake City blonde, will take over as Miss United States. Miss Utah was runnerup in the finals Wednesday night.

Miss Utah, however, will not compete in tonight's Miss Universe finals.

Oscar Meinhardt, director of the international beauty pageant, said of Miss Gage:

"She swore to us that she is not married and her sponsor insisted she is not."

The rumors started flying Thursday tearfully denied them. This morning she denied them again. At last, however, she changed her story and admitted the marriage.

At first, St. Ennis denied he and the beauty were man and wife. Later he said, "I have no comment to make. I don't want to be involved in all this."

Mrs. Clarence Long of Chrisfield, Md., Leona's mother-in-law, told newsmen that the girl came to her three weeks ago with the children and said she was going to try for the contest.

Mrs. Long kept the oldest child and the other was turned over to a family on a farm near Baltimore. Mrs. Long said Leona told her contest officials knew she was married.

After winning her title, Leona told a story of rags to riches path to the contest. She said she and a cousin with whom she lived near Baltimore pooled $45 in savings to buy a dress to enter the Maryland contest. After winning that, she said the two of them split her round trip ticket and came here together, with practically no money.

She won the title in a dress borrowed from a Long Beach merchant and said afterward she had but $2 in cash.

A girl who gave her name to newsmen Wednesday night as Barbara Gage could not be located today and officials expressed doubt she is related to Leona.

Confirmation of the marriage came from the Air Force and Leona's mother, Mrs. Walter Briggs of Dallas, Tex.

Dulles' News Policy Studied

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles' offer to allow a "limited number" of American reporters to visit Red China for a trial period got a mixed reaction on Capitol Hill today.

Sen. Mansfield (D-Mont) called it "the first break in the paper curtain" and "better than no American coverage at all on Red China." He commended Dulles for proposing it, but news representatives who received the offer Thursday balked at the limitations it contained.

Sen. O'Mahoney (D-Wyo) objected to the idea of the State Department saying "who could, and who could not report."

The State Department, which controls passports, now bars all Americans from going to Communist China, which this country does not recognize.

Dulles proposed a six - month trial of his limited plan Thursday at a meeting with five representatives of American news organizations. But they disagreed with his proposal that the number be limited to perhaps 12 or 15 men.

THE RESULT was a decision to determine how many newsmen actually want to go.

The State Department will poll newspapers, news services, magazines and radio and television companies shortly to find out how many want to send correspondents to Red China.

William Dwight, president of the American Newspaper Publishers Assn. and the other news organization representatives told Dulles that no arbitrary limitation should be placed by the government on news gathering operations.

Woman Breaks Hip In Fall at Home

A Bogus Rd. woman was admitted to Memorial Hospital and three other people were treated in the emergency room after accidental injuries Thursday.

Described as in "good" condition Friday was Mrs. Emmer Miller, who fell on a walkway at her home and fractured her right hip.

Treated after they sustained minor injuries playing baseball were Lonnie Ayers, 14, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ayers of Bloomingburg and Elden Kerns, 11, son of Mrs. Jane Kerns of 1105 Lakeview Ave.

Southerners Strengthen Position

Concessions Scented On Civil Right Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Additional concessions to Southern foes of the administration's civil rights bill were in the making today.

Senate Republican Leader Knowland of California said he was consulting with spokesman for Northern Democrats in an effort to reach agreement on an amendment to the part of the bill that has drawn the heaviest Southern attacks.

He said he hoped a specific proposal could be presented at a closed-door conference of all Republican senators, the second such meeting called in as many days to discuss the House-passed measure.

He declined to discuss how far supporters of the bill might be willing to go in meeting Southern protests against Section 3. Under that section, the attorney general could obtain federal court injunctions for the enforcement of civil rights in general.

BUT KNOWLAND said that if "an area of agreement" were found among Republicans and Northern Democrats, he might offer an amendment in the Senate later in the day.

One amendment to Section 3 already has been put forward by Knowland and Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn). It would repeal a reconstruction era law which permits the President to employ troops to enforce court orders in civil rights cases.

Sen. Russell (D-Ga), leader of the Dixie forces, said Thursday he was "grateful" for this amendment, but he told the Senate it failed to "remove the objection that this is a force bill of the rawest kind."

He said it still would permit the attorney general to use "all the might" of the federal government except troops to force school intebration and other "comingling" of the races of the South.

Senators Anderson (D-NM) and Aiken (R-Vt) have offered an amendment to strike Section 3 from the bill altogether, but Knowland's and Humphrey's amendment to repeal the old troop law will be voted on first.

Another revision under discussion would require a request from local authorities before the attorney general could seek injunctions to back up the Supreme Court's school integration decision.

Some senators reportedly felt, however, that the attorney general should be allowed leeway to act in cases where local school officials were taking steps to comply with the Supreme Court ruling but might be reluctant to ask for his help because of comunity pressures.

Sheppard Case

replied "yes."

Dr. Stephen Sheppard, brother of Samuel, canceled plans to come here today to talk to Wedler.

"WHEN WE heard that the Court of Last Resort was in it," he said, "we thought it best to stay away. We originally planned to go because we were getting no cooperation from the people up here."

Wedler, awaiting trial for escaping from a 10-year sentence for robbery at Tampa, told Sheriff Rodney B. Thursby of Deland in his cofession that he hit a woman on the head two or three times with an iron pipe while ransacking her home in July 1954.

Cleveland police pointed out several discrepancies between Wedler's confession and what they call "the facts" in the Sheppard slaying. She was hit 35 times, they said, and the house was not ransacked.

Sheppard, who claims an intruder committed the crime, says the intruder he grappled with was large and dark haired. Wedler is 5 feet 11 and has light hair.

Democrats Lash Treasury Move To Hike Bond Interest

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democrats in Congress today fired charges of "immoral" and "inflationary" at new Treasury offerings of government securities bearing an interest rate of 4 per cent — a new post-depression high.

A flurry of partisan criticism built up in the wake of public announcement by the Treasury Thursday that it will pay 4 per cent interest on $24 billion worth of debt refinancing coming due in August and October.

Not since October 1943, when it refunded an issue of the Fourth Liberty Loan, has the government paid an interest rate on its debt as high as 4 per cent.

Sheet Metal Union Rapped by Lausche

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Lausche (D-Ohio) has urged a Senate committee to investigate what he termed a "tyrannical" move by the Sheet Metal Workers Union against the Burt Manufacturing Co., Akron. Employes at Burt, Lausche said, have been members of the United Steelworkers Union for 10 years. The sheet metal union, he said, is seeking either to compel Burt to accept the Sheet Metal Workers Union in collective bargaining or to suffer ruin.

Researcher Says Some Filters Fail To Help Cigarets

WASHINGTON (AP)—A researcher said today some tobacco companies are producing filter cigarets which have as much or more tar and nicotine than unfiltered cigarets.

Dr. Ernest L. Wynder said "a safer cigaret can be made today by using an effective filter, plus the proper blend of tobacco."

But, he added in testimony for the House Government Operations subcommittee, some companies have taken advantage of the public desire for filtered cigarets by marketing "increasingly ineffective filters" on cigaretts.

Wynder, of the Sloan-Kettering Institute for Cancer Research, said about 25,000 persons will die of lung cancer this year.

Gerald Hidy Injured When Train Hits Car

Gerald E Hidy, White Oak Rd., near Bloomingburg today is recovering from severe injuries received when his car was hit by a Pennsylvania train at 7:24 a. m. Thursday at the W. Main St. crossing in Xenia.

Police reported Hidy was driving west on Main St. and the train was traveling north when it hit the car and knocked it approximately 25 feet into a telephone booth.

Hidy's 1952 car was demolished, but no damage to the train's engine was reported.

Catch only Judge

CASPER, Wyo. (AP) — Aware that three armed robberies had taken place here recently, Lyle Svoboda perked up when he spotted two men in a car watching his service station Thursday.

Svoboda quietly telephoned police, and soon a squad car full of officers armed with riot guns pulled up.

Dulles' News Policy Studied

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles' offer to allow a "limited number" of American reporters to visit Red China for a trial period got a mixed reaction on Capitol Hill today.

Sen. Mansfield (D-Mont) called it "the first break in the paper curtain" and "better than no American coverage at all on Red China." He commended Dulles for proposing it, but news representatives who received the offer Thursday balked at the limitations it contained.

Sen. O'Mahoney (D-Wyo) objected to the idea of the State Department saying "who could, and who could not report."

The State Department, which controls passports, now bars all Americans from going to Communist China, which this country does not recognize.

Dulles proposed a six - month trial of his limited plan Thursday at a meeting with five representatives of American news organizations. But they disagreed with his proposal that the number be limited to perhaps 12 or 15 men.

THE RESULT was a decision to determine how many newsmen actually want to go.

The State Department will poll newspapers, news services, magazines and radio and television companies shortly to find out how many want to send correspondents to Red China.

William Dwight, president of the American Newspaper Publishers Assn. and the other news organization representatives told Dulles that no arbitrary limitation should be placed by the government on news gathering operations.

Woman Breaks Hip In Fall at Home

A Bogus Rd. woman was admitted to Memorial Hospital and three other people were treated in the emergency room after accidental injuries Thursday.

Treated after they sustained minor injuries playing baseball were Lonnie Ayers, 14, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ayers of Bloomingburg and Elden Kerns, 11, son of Mrs. Jane Kerns of 1105 Lakeview Ave.

Southerners Strengthen Position

Concessions Scented On Civil Right Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Additional concessions to Southern foes of the administration's civil rights bill were in the making today.

Senate Republican Leader Knowland of California said he was consulting with spokesman for Northern Democrats in an effort to reach agreement on an amendment to the part of the bill that has drawn the heaviest Southern attacks.

He said he hoped a specific proposal could be presented at a closed-door conference of all Republican senators, the second such meeting called in as many days to discuss the House-passed measure.

He declined to discuss how far supporters of the bill might be willing to go in meeting Southern protests against Section 3. Under that section, the attorney general could obtain federal court injunctions for the enforcement of civil rights in general.

BUT KNOWLAND said that if "an area of agreement" were found among Republicans and Northern Democrats, he might offer an amendment in the Senate later in the day.

One amendment to Section 3 already has been put forward by Knowland and Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn). It would repeal a reconstruction era law which permits the President to employ troops to enforce court orders in civil rights cases.

Sen. Russell (D-Ga), leader of the Dixie forces, said Thursday he was "grateful" for this amendment, but he told the Senate it failed to "remove the objection that this is a force bill of the rawest kind."

He said it still would permit the attorney general to use "all the might" of the federal government except troops to force school intebration and other "comingling" of the races of the South.

Senators Anderson (D-NM) and Aiken (R-Vt) have offered an amendment to strike Section 3 from the bill altogether, but Knowland's and Humphrey's amendment to repeal the old troop law will be voted on first.

Another revision under discussion would require a request from local authorities before the attorney general could seek injunctions to back up the Supreme Court's school integration decision.

Some senators reportedly felt, however, that the attorney general should be allowed leeway to act in cases where local school officials were taking steps to comply with the Supreme Court ruling but might be reluctant to ask for his help because of comunity pressures.

Sheppard Case

replied "yes."

Dr. Stephen Sheppard, brother of Samuel, canceled plans to come here today to talk to Wedler.

"WHEN WE heard that the Court of Last Resort was in it," he said, "we thought it best to stay away. We originally planned to go because we were getting no cooperation from the people up here."

Wedler, awaiting trial for escaping from a 10-year sentence for robbery at Tampa, told Sheriff Rodney B. Thursby of Deland in his cofession that he hit a woman on the head two or three times with an iron pipe while ransacking her home in July 1954.

Cleveland police pointed out several discrepancies between Wedler's confession and what they call "the facts" in the Sheppard slaying. She was hit 35 times, they said, and the house was not ransacked.

Sheppard, who claims an intruder committed the crime, says the intruder he grappled with was large and dark haired. Wedler is 5 feet 11 and has light hair.

Democrats Lash Treasury Move To Hike Bond Interest

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democrats in Congress today fired charges of "immoral" and "inflationary" at new Treasury offerings of government securities bearing an interest rate of 4 per cent — a new post-depression high.

A flurry of partisan criticism built up in the wake of public announcement by the Treasury Thursday that it will pay 4 per cent interest on $24 billion worth of debt refinancing coming due in August and October.

Not since October 1943, when it refunded an issue of the Fourth Liberty Loan, has the government paid an interest rate on its debt as high as 4 per cent.

Sheet Metal Union Rapped by Lausche

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Lausche (D-Ohio) has urged a Senate committee to investigate what he termed a "tyrannical" move by the Sheet Metal Workers Union against the Burt Manufacturing Co., Akron. Employes at Burt, Lausche said, have been members of the United Steelworkers Union for 10 years. The sheet metal union, he said, is seeking either to compel Burt to accept the Sheet Metal Workers Union in collective bargaining or to suffer ruin.

Researcher Says Some Filters Fail To Help Cigarets

WASHINGTON (AP)—A researcher said today some tobacco companies are producing filter cigarets which have as much or more tar and nicotine than unfiltered cigarets.

Dr. Ernest L. Wynder said "a safer cigaret can be made today by using an effective filter, plus the proper blend of tobacco."

But, he added in testimony for the House Government Operations subcommittee, some companies have taken advantage of the public desire for filtered cigarets by marketing "increasingly ineffective filters" on cigaretts.

Wynder, of the Sloan-Kettering Institute for Cancer Research, said about 25,000 persons will die of lung cancer this year.

Gerald Hidy Injured When Train Hits Car

Gerald E. Hidy, White Oak Rd., near Bloomingburg today is recovering from severe injuries received when his car was hit by a Pennsylvania train at 7:24 a. m. Thursday at the W. Main St. crossing in Xenia.

Police reported Hidy was driving west on Main St. and the train was traveling north when it hit the car and knocked it approximately 25 feet into a telephone booth.

He was charged with ignoring the railroad flasher signals at the railroad by police.

Hidy's 1952 car was demolished, but no damage to the train's engine was reported.

Catch only Judge

CASPER, Wyo. (AP) — Aware that three armed robberies had taken place here recently, Lyle Svoboda perked up when he spotted two men in a car watching his service station Thursday.

Svoboda quietly telephoned police, and soon a squad car full of officers armed with riot guns pulled up.

Promise of Another Big County Fair Success

The way time slips along, almost before many of us know it, "fairtime" is with us again.

Next week, beginning Tuesday, the annual Fayette County Fair, opens with promise of attractions even beyond its usual high standards.

Few of us pause to consider what an important role county fairs play in our American economy and what an important position the Fair has assumed in Fayette County's yearly activities. Our county fair here fits into the scheme of things like ham does eggs.

Competition is what our nation, and our own community, has thrived upon and in our county fair, competition is aroused to a high pitch. Farmers vie with other farmers to breed and show to the public a better bull, chicken, hog, or better exhibits of agricultural field or garden products. Madam Farmer gets busy in her kitchen to display her handiwork in baked and canned goods, clothing exhibits and many other things which she regards as in her domain.

Make no mistake about it, Fayette County's annual Fair is an outstanding event and has a heavy impact on the general welfare of the people living and working in this county - wide community. It also always draws well from populations of other counties.

Due to the enterprise and interest of our county Fair officials, this county has kept its standards high, clean and wholesome. There is no gypping or swindling permitted. Perhaps this is one big reason why the Fayette County Fair has continued as a high attraction and kept its operations "in the black" while quite a number of other county fairs in this state and nation have slipped badly.

Special attention this year is being paid to Junior Fair activities and young people of the county are enjoying this prominence and are giving help along many lines toward making the Fair a success, from exhibits to other features of the week's program.

The Junior Fair group takes charge practically all day Tuesday and Tuesday night, including their own show Tuesday evening when there will be a free grandstand admission for the only time during the days of the Fair.

This year's racing program is reported to be better than ever with special attention being turned toward more entries of two and three-year-old horses.

Exhibits show great promise and the always popular Midway will be as attractive as ever, Fair officials say.

Yes, it is fairtime again and with weather permitting this big event will be another decisive success. We'll be seeing you at the Fair next week.

What To Do If Insects Get Into Your Pantry

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

FEW things are more annoying to a meticulous homemaker than finding insects in the pantry. Ants, flies, meal worms, weevils and grain and flour beetles ruin thousands of tons of food each year.

From a health standpoint as well as from one of economy, you've got to protect your home from these pests.

Ants Like Sweets

While ants especially like sweets, such as spilled syrup, the weevils, beetles and moths seem to prefer grains and flour.

Once they enter a pantry, they spread like an army through crackers, nuts, cereals, flour, spaghetti and macaroni products.

Chocolate is enticing, too, especially to flies.

The best way of protecting your pantry or food cabinets from these hordes is to keep the shelves clean. If food is accidentally spilled, wipe it up right away, paying particular attention to cracks and corners.

To Clean Shelves

If, unfortunately, some of these insects do attack your food shelves, here's what to do:

Remove all food from the shelves and place it where the insecticide you must use can't reach it. Carefully vacuum or brush the shelves clean. Then wash and dry them and, finally, spray them with a 5 per cent DDT solution.

Don't, however, place this on your food shelves. Rather, use a 5 per cent powder or 2 per cent spray solution and apply it to the area where the ants enter the house.

Household Enemy

The common housefly probably spreads more disease than any other insect. He's your enemy no matter where he is, inside or out. Kill every one you find, no matter how you do it.

Again, use a DDT solution to keep these pests from your home. Spray or brush a 5 per cent solution on all window and door screens. Gradually, however, flies are becoming immune to our most potent insecticides. Scientists are even now trying to develop new ones.

Insects in some foods does not necessarily mean foods are spoiled.

Most dry foods, for instance, can be sterilized by placing them for half an hour in a 140-degree oven. If you are in doubt, however, throw the infested food away.

QUESTION AND ANSWER

A Reader: Is it possible for a cyst to become malignant?

Answer: There is a great tendency for some cysts to become cancerous, depending on their location.

You should have an examination made by your physician to determine whether or not the cyst should be removed.

Churchmen view this as evidence of the key place the World Council is assuming in the younger churches of Asia.

It carries the responsibility for the churches' assistance to refugees. In 1956 the World Council resettled 28,459 refugees from Europe and Asia, a record figure.

The Council also helps struggling Protestant minorities in various parts of th eworld. It is deeply concerned with keeping churches in Communist countries from being isolated from Christians in the free world.

The membership now includes 165 denominations in 50 countries.

On Hiking Postoffice Deficit

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP)—One of the great delights of growing up when the world was young — I keep telling myself, now that the world is old—was getting secret mail.

Every adult is sure in his heart he did something when young that no one else ever did before or since.

One of the things I am surest of in my heart is that, as a child, I must have been responsible for the fact the U. S. Postoffice ran so deeply in debt to the public. Certainly it complains to this day that the stamps it sells don't buy it out of the red ink.

Looking back now, I find it hard to figure just why I went overboard for secret mail. I think that basically, as one of the junior citizens in a seven-member family in a one-bathroom house, I was reaching for some kind of privacy.

If so, I never got it. My private mail got to be pretty public in our neighborhood. The mere size of it was hard to hide on a street where a postcard from out of town signed by a stranger would stir more lives than the influenza.

Since nobody had ever written to me in my lifetime, I decided to write to them first.

The magazines of that day, as some still are to this day, were full of advertisements which invited correspondence. Once I started answering these invitations I hardly knew where to quit.

Opportunity didn't seem to knock at one's door. It merely awaited the lick of a two-cent stamp.

I began by deciding I wanted to be a ventriloquist. My mind was made up by seeing an ad which showed a man carrying a heavy box on his shoulder, and a muffled voice supposedly from the box startled bystanders by calling:

"Let me out!"

Naturally the voice came from a ventriloquist on the sidelines, just having fun. The idea of being able to do this appealed to me then (it still does), and I spent at least 12 cents in stamps investigating the price of becoming a ventriloquist by mail. The cost came to more than I could afford at the time, but even now when I pass someone carrying a trunk I always halt and murmur, "Let me out!" Fortunately, no one pays any attention.

This has gone on for so many years that in my own mind I have reached the conclusion it's not a matter of ventriloquism at all:

Other invitations I explored by mail were how to build yourself from a skinny joke at the beach into a muscled man who could whip any bully, how to become an electrical-engineer in 12 easy shocks, how to grow chinchillas for profit in grandfather's beard during the uneasy summer months, and how to make quick money by selling Christmas cards to the neighbors just before Easter.

The postman got interested in some of these situations himself. I remember the day I got the reply to the ad saying send one dollar and receive 12 different pictures of 12 beautiful girls in 12 different poses. The postman opened that letter himself, looked at the enclosed pictures (harmless photos of old movie stars), sighed in disappointment, and marched bravely forward on his rounds.

This whole golden age of youth collapsed when my mother intercepted the reply to an ad on how any girl can develop bigger busts in the privacy of her own home. Mama tore up that letter. I wonder what it said.

Punishment Fits the Crime

By George Sokolsky

A friend writes me:

"...Fundamentally the reason why punishment does not act to deter crime, is because every crime in the book is a symtom of a fundamental disease and apprehending and punishing the criminal does no more good than putting salve on the open sores of one who is suffering from the deficiency disease of scurvy."

This is a point of view that has been growing upon the human race since Beccaria engaged in proposing prison reform. If we sentence a man to reform him, we shall inevitably fail because it is experience that punishment does not improve the criminal, although it may make him afraid.

Nevertheless, we cannot place a crown of laurel leaves on the kidnapper's brow and praise him for his kindness in not kidnapping two children instead of only one. What needs to be done with a kidnapper is to deprive him of his liberty and life as we deprive a murderer of his life. And we ought to be honest about it: we ought not to say that we send a kidnapper to Alcatraz to reform him, to improve his morals, or to set a glowing example to future generations. We ought to say that we do it because his fellow is a no good so - and - so and we want to get rid of him.

It is nonsense to say that men kidnap or murder or go into rackets because they are starving. Who that is older than 25 years has not, somewhere along the line, had it very tough and even been hungry at times? But most of us of the older generation expected nothing that we did not earn ourselves and there were no laws to keep boys of 18 with mustaches and sideburns, idle.

I have known many wicked people in my day, gangsters, thieves, murderers, bandits, even kidnappers, the kind of people a newspaperman gets to see and talk to professionally or even socially. Part of my boyhood was spent where on one side, the Kid Twist gang was being formed and on the other side, the Paul Kelly gang was already operating.

My friend's idea that punishing the criminal does him no good has merit, if that is what she means, but when I see a young girl in New Jersey raped and murdered by a dope, or a baby on Long Island kidnapped and thrown among bushes to die from exposure, I have no desire to reform the guys who did it. I want to get rid of them, so that they may not do it again. It is presently regarded as sound sociology to be merciful to the evildoer, to be tough on the police if they try to discover a criminal, and to ignore the social value of protecting the person against whom the crime is committed. It is twisted logic.

Did the little girl in New Jersey have as much right to live as her raper and murderer? She did not have a twisted mind. She was not just a girl, going her way and living a decent life. This idiot was impelled to rape and murder her because, as my friend says, he was suffering from a fundamental disease. So he raped and murdered her.

But what about her? And what about other little girls that this fellow or similar ones will feel impelled to rape and murder? Are they not to be protected from such compulsions?

And that is what is so wrong about the Jencks and Mallory decisions handed down by the Supreme Court. Suppose you, as a citizen, driving along the road, hear a small child crying in what looks like an abandoned house. Suppose you have been a neighbor of that child and recognize its voice. You telephone to the FBI and express your suspicion that you know where the kidnapped child is.

Your suspicion goes into the raw files of the FBI. They may be correct or not. Up to the Jencks decision, you could be sure that your act of good citizenship would be sacred, that your own children would not be imperilled by an act of revenge. Once the citizen feels he is in such peril, he will not aid law enforcement agencies. The law of self-preservation will guide him.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

AN AMIABLE chap who obviously had had about four too many was reeling around a bar, blissfully wishing everybody a happy new year. "Hey," the barkeep reminded him, "it's 90 in the shade outside. Ya crazy, or something? This is the Fourth of July."

"Four' of July!" echoed the merrymaker. "Thish ish terrible. My wife'll kill me. This ish the latest I've been out yet!"

It was his first trip by airplane and the elderly gentleman was scared stiff. When the motors began to roar, he gripped the arms of his seat, closed his eyes tightly and determinedly counted to one hundred. Then he opened his eyes and looked down out of the window. "Look at those tiny people below," he marveled to his seat partner. "They look just like ants."

"They are ants," said the man in the other seat gently. "We haven't left the ground yet."

Promise of Another Big County Fair Success

The way time slips along, almost before many of us know it, "fairtime" is with us again.

Next week, beginning Tuesday, the annual Fayette County Fair, opens with promise of attractions even beyond its usual high standards.

Few of us pause to consider what an important role county fairs play in our American economy and what an important position the Fair has assumed in Fayette County's yearly activities. Our county fair here fits into the scheme of things like ham does eggs.

Competition is what our nation, and our own community, has thrived upon and in our county fair, competition is aroused to a high pitch. Farmers vie with other farmers to breed and show to the public a better bull, chicken, hog, or better exhibits of agricultural field or garden products. Madam Farmer gets busy in her kitchen to display her handiwork in baked and canned goods, clothing exhibits and many other things which she regards as in her domain.

Make no mistake about it, Fayette County's annual Fair is an outstanding event and has a heavy impact on the general welfare of the people living and working in this county - wide community. It also always draws well from populations of other counties.

Due to the enterprise and interest of our county Fair officials, this county has kept its standards high, clean and wholesome. There is no gypping or swindling permitted. Perhaps this is one big reason why the Fayette County Fair has continued as a high attraction and kept its operations "in the black" while quite a number of other county fairs in this state and nation have slipped badly.

Special attention this year is being paid to Junior Fair activities and young people of the county are enjoying this prominence and are giving help along many lines toward making the Fair a success, from exhibits to other features of the week's program.

The Junior Fair group takes charge practically all day Tuesday and Tuesday night, including their own show Tuesday evening when there will be a free grandstand admission for the only time during the days of the Fair.

This year's racing program is reported to be better than ever with special attention being turned toward more entries of two and three-year-old horses.

Exhibits show great promise and the always popular Midway will be as attractive as ever, Fair officials say.

Yes, it is fairtime again and with weather permitting this big event will be another decisive success. We'll be seeing you at the Fair next week.

What To Do If Insects Get Into Your Pantry

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

FEW things are more annoying to a meticulous homemaker than finding insects in the pantry. Ants, flies, meal worms, weevils and grain and flour beetles ruin thousands of tons of food each year.

From a health standpoint as well as from one of economy, you've got to protect your home from these pests.

Ants Like Sweets

While ants especially like sweets, such as spilled syrup, the weevils, beetles and moths seem to prefer grains and flour.

Once they enter a pantry, they spread like an army through crackers, nuts, cereals, flour, spaghetti and macaroni products.

Chocolate is enticing, too, especially to flies.

The best way of protecting your pantry or food cabinets from these hordes is to keep the shelves clean. If food is accidentally spilled, wipe it up right away, paying particular attention to cracks and corners.

To Clean Shelves

If, unfortunately, some of these insects do attack your food shelves, here's what to do:

Remove all food from the shelves and place it where the insecticide you must use can't reach it. Carefully vacuum or brush the shelves clean. Then wash and dry them and, finally, spray them with a 5 per cent DDT solution.

Don't, however, place this on your food shelves. Rather, use a 5 per cent powder or 2 per cent spray solution and apply it to the area where the ants enter the house.

Household Enemy

The common housefly probably spreads more disease than any other insect. He's your enemy no matter where he is, inside or out. Kill every one you find, no matter how you do it.

Again, use a DDT solution to keep these pests from your home. Spray or brush a 5 per cent solution on all window and door screens. Gradually, however, flies are becoming immune to our most potent insecticides. Scientists are even now trying to develop new ones.

Insects in some foods does not necessarily mean foods are spoiled.

Most dry foods, for instance, can be sterilized by placing them for half an hour in a 140-degree oven. If you are in doubt, however, throw the infested food away.

QUESTION AND ANSWER

A Reader: Is it possible for a cyst to become malignant?

Answer: There is a great tendency for some cysts to become cancerous, depending on their location.

You should have an examination made by your physician to determine whether or not the cyst should be removed.

Oil Industry Looking for $115 Billion

Leaders Say Amount Needed To Develop New Supply Sources

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—The oil industry is looking for 115 billion dollars. That is what oilmen estimate it will cost to find and develop enough new oil sources to supply the increasing demands of the economy of the non-Communist world in the next 10 years.

The industry expects some of the increased oil supply to come from exploration and discoveries, and some from continuing research into improving the recovery of oil from known sources. At present oilmen count as obtainable reserves only 40 per cent of the oil in known fields.

This long-range planning is going on despite today's chief immediate problem: Over supply and an unexpected lag in domestic demand.

Both world and U.S. demand continues to grow each year—most oilmen were predicting that domestic demand would increase by 5 per cent this year. At the half way point the increase has been only 1.4 per cent.

Oilmen are most surprised by the failure of demand for gasoline to spurt as usual with the end of school and the start of the vacation rush. On the contrary, gasoline stocks have been climbing, and in widely scattered spot in the nation there are flourishing gas price wars.

Domestic demand for crude oil — from which come some 2,000 other end products besides gasoline—is currently running between eight and nine million barrels a day.

Economists at the Chase Manhattan Bank who keep a sharp eye on the oil industry now estimate that by 1957 domestic demand will have risen to more than 15 4¼ million barrels a day, and demand in the rest of the non-Communist world will be almost as high.

The bank's economists expect the U.S. sources will be supplying 11 million barrels a day and foreign sources 17 million a day. It will cost, industry men estimate, 115 billion dollars to finance that big expansion.

American oilmen are confident they will be able to produce the vast new amount of oil they see the world demanding. The upcoming American Petroleum Corp. point out that for years oilmen have been finding more oil each year than we consumed. They added 17 billion barrels of proven reserves between 1925 and 1935, and 21 billion between 1935 and 1945, and 31 billion barrels in the next 10 years.

Parents Accused Of Child Cruelty

MARION (AP)—The parents of a 2½-year-old boy who died here have been charged with neglect and cruelty in Juvenile Court.

The charges stem from the alleged neglect and abusive treatment of the twin sister of the boy who is in a hospital with an injured right arm and swollen leg.

The mother, Mrs. Aaron Thompson, 19, pleaded guilty and Judge Edward Ruzzo said disposition of her case was delayed pending further investigation. The 33-year-old father pleaded innocent and will get a preliminary hearing July 31.

His first impulse is to do just what you do... to walk in daddy's tracks. Notice how many farmers' boys farm, how many bankers' boys go into banking and how many preachers' sons enter the ministry. They are following you, daddy, even to the tone of your voice. If you want them to help build a good society, to know God... then take them to church and sit with them in the place of worship.

Circle Meets, Elects Officers At Adams Home

Mrs. Dwight Coffman was elected chairman of the Jenny Adams Missionary Circle of the First Baptist Church when the group met at the home of Mrs. Eugene Adams Thursday afternoon.

Others officers are: Mrs. Ruth Smith, vice chairman; Mrs. Otto Reno, spiritual life chairman; Mrs. Howard Burnett Sr., white cross chairman; Miss Nellie Fogle, love gift chairman; Mrs. Richard McLean, secretary-treasurer.

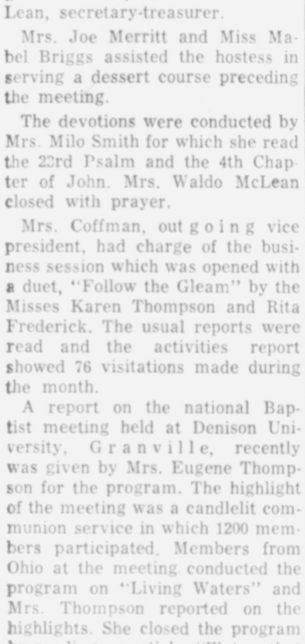
Mrs. Joe Merritt and Miss Mabel Briggs assisted the hostess in serving a dessert course preceding the meeting.

The devotions were conducted by Mrs. Milo Smith for which she read the 23rd Psalm and the 4th Chapter of John. Mrs. Waldo McLean closed with prayer.

Mrs. Coffman, outgoing vice president, had charge of the business session which was opened with a duet, "Follow the Gleam" by the Misses Karen Thompson and Rita Frederick. The usual reports were read and the activities report showed 76 visitations made during the month.

A report on the national Baptist meeting held at Denison University, Granville, recently was given by Mrs. Eugene Thompson for the program. The highlight of the meeting was a candlelit communion service in which 1200 members participated. Members from Ohio at the meeting conducted the program on "Living Waters" and Mrs. Thompson reported on the highlights. She closed the program by reading an article, "Waters that Fail Not."

Informal visiting was enjoyed during the social hour.



FROM THE SUMMER COLLECTION designed by Betty Carol comes this bare-shouldered dress with a full parachute skirt in bright Irish cotton that has a gingham pleated hem-flounce and a tie of black and white.

THIS SUMMER DRESS has bodice and skirt cut on the bias to cling flatteringly to the figure. Made of cornflower blue very sheer cotton, the dress has a high modified cowl neckline, is sleeveless, and has a full easy hanging skirt. From the Ceil Chapman summer collection.

Group Enjoys Interesting Program Thursday

The president, Mrs. Homer Garringer, opened the meeting with prayer. She read a communication concerning WSCS literature and displayed a book, "All The Women of the Bible" which the group will study during the coming month. Mrs. Garringer then reported on the parsonage repairs and said their contribution had been paid. The activities report showed 59 cards sent, 36 visitations made, eight gifts donated and eight other donations.

For the program Mrs. Garringer told of the woman in the Garden of Eden, the first woman in the Bible. Mrs. Eldon Bethards read an article, "Segregation in Foreign Lands."

Mrs. Carrie Wilson conducted the devotions and chose as her topic "Spiritual Truth" for which she read two articles, "Warm Up Your Church" and "Worship Where Ever You Are." She then read an article "I Am Not Afraid" which told of Barbara Murray Finkes who left letters for her two children ages two and four, when she was dying of cancer. Her instructions were for the children to open the letters when they reached the age of 15 so they could understand her deep spiritual feelings of why she was not afraid.

Social Happenings

Wednesday Club Holds Meeting

Mrs. Florence Inskeep, of Columbus, was welcomed as a guest of the Wednesday Club when 17 members met at the home of Mrs. Thayne McCoy Wednesday afternoon.

The hostess decorated her home with flowers from the garden and Mrs. M. G. Morris assisted in serving seasonal refreshments.

After a short business session conducted by the president, Mrs. Don Thornton, needlework and visiting occupied the remainder of the afternoon.

Members received favors from Mrs. McCoy and Mrs. Morris from Florida where they had spent the winter.

Mrs. Janes Entertains Club

During the business session at which Mrs. Ray Bartlett presided the following officers were elected: Mrs. John Ritenour, president; Mrs. Roy Fultz, vice president; Miss Louise Fults treasurer; Mrs. Neal Conner, secretary; Mrs. Ray Fisher, press reporter.

Mrs. Bartlett announced to the 18 members present the next meeting will be a picnic at the home of Mrs. Roy Young at 6:30 p. m. Aug. 15.

Refreshments were served by the hostess with the assistance of her daughter, Mrs. Ancel Creamer, and her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Carl Janes, Mrs. Roscoe Straley was a guest.

Marine Flier Wins Distinguished Cross

WASHINGTON (AP)—Marine Corp Maj. John H. Glenn Jr. of New Concord, Ohio, has received his distinguished flying cross for his record - breaking transcontinental flight. Secretary of the Navy Thomas S. Gates presented the medal in a Pentagon ceremony Thursday. Glenn was credited by the Navy with an average speed of 726 m.p.h.

"Mary Haworth's Mail"

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: My problem is just the opposite of the average parent-of-a-teenager nowadays. My daughter Anna, 15, isn't popular with boys and doesn't seem to care for them; at least, she is excessively shy and self-conscious around them.

She is pretty, with beautiful eyes and good figure and features. She gives promise of really outstanding beauty, if she could just acquire more poise and grace. She has above - average intelligence, and her reading is advanced and mature for her age, she really enjoys such books. Her scholastic standing is high and so are her marks.

She is an excellent swimmer but a stiff awkward dancer, and frequently has no dates for parties and dances to which she's invited. But her father and I insist that she go anyway; and he takes her and calls for her.

As it is the custom to exchange dances, sometimes she is the odd girl then, and sits all evening without dancing—and even during intermission, when the young people pair off, two by two, for refreshments. She lives in dread, almost horror, of these affairs. She says the evening seems intolerable; she suffers acute embarrassed loneliness, and in fact feels the pity of the more popular girls.

When she hangs her head and isn't gay and friendly with young people, I tell her she is the underdog and must put forth extra effort to be accepted by them and well liked. We (her parents) also tell her that we never mention her, in conversations when other parents we know are discussing their gay popular daughters and the good times they have.

Now she's becoming still more shy and self-conscious at home, and seems to want to retire to her room more and more. What else can I do, to shame her so that she will make more of an effort to change herself and be like other girls?

T. M.

DEAR T. M.: You talk as if Anna were the problem. But as I see the picture, YOU are the problem—Anna's problem for a large part of it.

You aren't thinking of her needs, nor of the tragedy of her defeats, in the arena of adolescence, when you review the saga of her humiliation at parties and under the whiplash of your scorn, as you try to goad her to "get in there and pitch" and make a hit.

No, you aren't reaching out to help her, really. Instead, you are meanly concerned with the blow to your self-love. You are reacting to your own mortification and wounded pride, in having an offbeat daughter, who, despite her virtues and rare potentials of loveliness, isn't going over big with the younger set in your town.

It is Anna's misfortune, just now, to have parents who are figuratively smaller than she; who don't measure up to her greater and finer potentials as a person. It seems you haven't the wisdom or good common sense to give her warm-hearted support in fulfilling her promise at her own pace—and in accepting herself as a valuable person in her own right, who is set apart from the crowd, in some ways.

It is shockingly stupid of you to persecute Anna on the score of being unlike the gay popular girls who pity her at dances. That's comparable to bullying the orchid for not being a rose. Also it is destructively cruel to force her into social situations where wallflower ignominy awaits her, through endless hours of torture—on the theory that you are thereby boosting her stock with boys! How madly wrong can you be?

Anna's depressed behavior recently, in sticking more and more to her own room, proves the damage you are doing. But yet you ask, what more can you do to shame her! The question reveals a brutal kind of ignorance, in the face of Anna's poignant need of assured sympathetic parental guidance, during the adolescent struggle to find, and know, and be herself. For pity's sake, get psychiatric help for yourselves, to give her a break.

Circle Meets, Elects Officers At Adams Home

Mrs. Dwight Coffman was elected chairman of the Jenny Adams Missionary Circle of the First Baptist Church when the group met at the home of Mrs. Eugene Adams Thursday afternoon.

Others officers are: Mrs. Ruth Smith, vice chairman; Mrs. Otto Reno, spiritual life chairman; Mrs. Howard Burnett Sr., white cross chairman; Miss Nellie Fogle, love gift chairman; Mrs. Richard McLean, secretary-treasurer.

Mrs. Joe Merritt and Miss Mabel Briggs assisted the hostess in serving a dessert course preceding the meeting.

The devotions were conducted by Mrs. Milo Smith for which she read the 23rd Psalm and the 4th Chapter of John. Mrs. Waldo McLean closed with prayer.

Mrs. Coffman, outgoing vice president, had charge of the business session which was opened with a duet, "Follow the Gleam" by the Misses Karen Thompson and Rita Frederick. The usual reports were read and the activities report showed 76 visitations made during the month.

A report on the national Baptist meeting held at Denison University, Granville, recently was given by Mrs. Eugene Thompson for the program. The highlight of the meeting was a candlelit communion service in which 1200 members participated. Members from Ohio at the meeting conducted the program on "Living Waters" and Mrs. Thompson reported on the highlights. She closed the program by reading an article, "Waters that Fail Not."

FROM THE SUMMER COLLECTION designed by Betty Carol comes this bare-shouldered dress with a full parachute skirt in bright Irish cotton that has a gingham pleated hem-flounce and a tie of black and white.

THIS SUMMER DRESS has bodice and skirt cut on the bias to cling flatteringly to the figure. Made of cornflower blue very sheer cotton, the dress has a high modified cowl neckline, is sleeveless, and has a full easy hanging skirt. From the Ceil Chapman summer collection.

Group Enjoys Interesting Program Thursday

The president, Mrs. Homer Garringer, opened the meeting with prayer. She read a communication concerning WSCS literature and displayed a book, "All The Women of the Bible" which the group will study during the coming month. Mrs. Garringer then reported on the parsonage repairs and said their contribution had been paid. The activities report showed 59 cards sent, 36 visitations made, eight gifts donated and eight other donations.

For the program Mrs. Garringer told of the woman in the Garden of Eden, the first woman in the Bible. Mrs. Eldon Bethards read an article, "Segregation in Foreign Lands."

Mrs. Carrie Wilson conducted the devotions and chose as her topic "Spiritual Truth" for which she read two articles, "Warm Up Your Church" and "Worship Where Ever You Are." She then read an article "I Am Not Afraid" which told of Barbara Murray Finkes who left letters for her two children ages two and four, when she was dying of cancer. Her instructions were for the children to open the letters when they reached the age of 15 so they could understand her deep spiritual feelings of why she was not afraid.

After a circle of prayer, Mrs. Wilson assisted the hostess in serving refreshments.

Wednesday Club Holds Meeting

Mrs. Florence Inskeep, of Columbus, was welcomed as a guest of the Wednesday Club when 17 members met at the home of Mrs. Thayne McCoy Wednesday afternoon.

The hostess decorated her home with flowers from the garden and Mrs. M. G. Morris assisted in serving seasonal refreshments.

After a short business session conducted by the president, Mrs. Don Thornton, needlework and visiting occupied the remainder of the afternoon.

Members received favors from Mrs. McCoy and Mrs. Morris from Florida where they had spent the winter.

Mrs. Janes Entertains Club

During the business session at which Mrs Ray Bartlett presided the following officers were elected: Mrs. John Ritenour, president; Mrs. Roy Fultz, vice president; Miss Louise Fults, treasurer; Mrs. Neal Conner, secretary; Mrs. Ray Fisher, press reporter.

Mrs. Bartlett announced to the 18 members present the next meeting will be a picnic at the home of Mrs. Roy Young at 6:30 p. m. Aug. 15.

16 Survivors Vying For Honors Today; Darkhorses Watched

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Sammy Snead and Doug Ford continued to rule as red-hot favorites as 16 oddly-assorted survivors surged today into the 39th National PGA championship's fourth round of match play.

Several darkhorses, who surprised everyone including themselves by getting this far in the man-to-man combat, were scattered through the list. But plenty of tournament-tested talent was still around, too.

Dow Finsterwald of Tequesta, Fla., and Athens, Ohio, one of the brightest of the young stars, was the big road block in 45-year-old Snead's path today. The 27-year-old youngster hasn't been out of the money in 56 straight tournaments and has $21,447 to show for his 1957 club-swinging.

Ford, 34 and the year's big-money man with $37,946, tangles with the elder half of Golfdom's star brother act, Jay Hebert of Sanford, Fla. Hebert, 34-year-old ex-Marine, was the hottest thing on the winter tour.

His 29-year-old brother, trumpet-playing Lionel, also is still around and has Mike Souchak, the former Duke footballer, as his foe.

In the same bracket are 41-year-old Claude Harmon, former Masters champion, who tangles with fiery Tommy Bolt of Los Angeles; and Henry Ransom, the 46-year-old former welterweight boxer and Texas ranch owner, who meets 38-year-old Walter Burkemo of Franklin, Mich., three times a PGA finalist in the last six years.

Ted Kroll of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., 37-year-old winner of the world championship last year, meets National Open champion Dick Mayer in the Snead-Finsterwald bracket, but the other four are horses of a darker hue.

Milon Marusic, 42, Webster Groves, Mo., who followed the tournament trail for three years without a victory, and Donald A. Whitt, 26, of Alameda, Calif., were foes in one fourth-round match. Marusic ousted defending champion Jackie Burke by 2 and 1 Thursday.

Nicklaus Ousted From Junior Meet

WASHINGTON (AP)—Larry Beck and John Konsek, a pair of par-slashing youngsters face new challenges today as they battle for quarter-final slots in the U. S. Golf Assn. junior championships.

Konsek, New York State junior titlist, whacked three strokes from par over the 16 holes necessary to dispose of Atlanta's Don Patterson, 3 and 2, in a third round bout Thursday.

Beck, three times junior champ of the Carolinas, pulled the biggest surprise of the first two days by whipping Jack Nicklaus of Columbus, Ohio, 4 and 3.

Bloomingburg Wins From Good Hope

The Bloomingburg boys swung big bats on their home field Thursday evening as they drubbed the Good Hope team, 18-3 in a Babe Ruth League game.

Nine hits were cracked out by the Bloomingburg boys with Larry Ayers, Don Evans and Mike Evans getting two each.

Although the Good Hope hit production was only three less than Bloomingburg's, clutch hits were the difference. A home run was belted by the Good Hope pitcher, Stroth, in a vain effort to help his own cause. Mike Newman had a triple while Dave Frock belted a double.

Bloomingburg scored in every inning except the fourth with a big nine run affair in the first.

Cowboys Win From Flashes

The Cowboys roped and tied the Flashes, but good, in their Little League game at Wilson field Thursday night as they turned in an 18-5 victory.

Flee, on the hill for the Cowboys, held the flashes to 4 hits, but a loose defense and some bases on balls let in 5 runs.

The Cowboys had little trouble connecting with the offerings of Armbrust and Halliday for 16 safeties which, with the help of 7 Flash errors, were good for 18 runs. Flee contributed a home run to the Cowboy assault.

Chows Leading Sox When Game Called

In one of the best Little Minor League games of the season—for four innings before time ran out—the Chows edged White Sox, 4 to 3.

The Chows, however, staged a rally in their half of the fifth that netted them 8 runs. The White Sox did not have a chance to overcome it because the game was called before they had time to go to bat.

Lineups:

Chows — Stemple, Woods, Mays, Slagle, Fitzpatrick, Riley, S. Shipley, Morgan, Bryant, Inskeep, R. Shipley and Beuchler.

Recreation Basketball Marked by Close Scores

Basketball, gathering momentum as a part of the summer recreation program, has been marked by keen competition in the first two games.

English, with 22 points, was high for the game and Ray Justice, with 17, set the pace for Campbell's team. Campbell got 14 points and Ronnie Myers got 15.

R&S Boss Optimistic For His Team

"We're going to win every game from here on in!"

That's the way Tom Smalley, manager of the Washington C. H. (Ross & Satterfield) South Western Ohio League baseball team, described his team's prospects for the rest of the season.

"Well, . .perhaps not every one. But we'll come close!" he said.

Smalley's team won its first game of the season last week by swamping winless Blanchester, 12-6. Smalley explained that his team is a completely new outfit this year, and it took that long for them to "congeal."

"Now that we're working together, we ought to start making a showing," he said.

The team will have a chance to demonstrate their new strength Sunday when they travel to Chillicothe to tackle the Reformatory squad. It'll be one of four games in the SWO circuit.

Other contests will see first-place Columbus at Greenfield, the Chillicothe Businessmen at Milledgeville and Blanchester at Bloomingburg.

Here's the way they will stand as they go into Sunday's games:

	W	L
Columbus	10	0
Chillicothe	8	2
Greenfield	7	3
Milledgeville	4	5
Reformatory	4	6
Bloomingburg	4	6
Washington C. H.	1	7

Panthers Win Softball Game

The Panthers took the honors in the first round of the girls softball tournament of the summer recreation program when they swamped the Dee-Dees under a 30 to 19 score at the park on Oakland Ave. Thursday evening.

A reorganization meeting is to be held Monday in the shelter house at the park. At this time, personnel probably will be shuffled to provide better balance among the teams, Fred Domenico, recreation director, explained. He added that a couple of more teams may be formed by the time play is resumed after the Fair.

No games will be played during Fair Week here.

Lineups for the game Thursday night were:

Panthers—N. Owens 1b, 3-4; Emrick ss, 2-3; B. McCoy 3b; 2-4; B. Harris cf, 2-3; P. Weaver p, 2-5; J. Conaway 2b, 0-2; E. Winfield c, 2-3; A. Craig rf, 3-3; J. Owens lf, 3-3; Osborne cf, 0-0; Mouser rf, 0-0; S. Stagg lf, 0-0.

Dee-Dees— D. Mabra 3b, 3-2; D. Owens lf, 3-4, P. Johns p, 3-3; M. Wilson ss, 2-1; J. Matson cf, 2-0; P. Emrick 1b, 2-1; L. A. Foster c, 0-0; M. Palmer 2b, 0-2; H. Ducey rf, 1-2.

WCH Legion Juniors Lose at Marysville

The Washington C. H. American Legion Junior baseball team was routed by the Marysville Juniors, 16 to 3, in a game played there under the lights Thursday night.

Although the Marysville boys hit Herman's slants hard and often, a leaky defense was a major factor in the downfall of the Washington C. H. outfit.

The Washington C. H. team was held to two hits, doubles by Snider and Korn.

Seals Edge Jeff In Babe Ruth Tilt

The Seals continued on the warpath Thursday evening as they bludgeoned two Jeff hurlers for a total of 14 hits and 15 runs in a free-scoring Babe Ruth League game at the park here. At the end of five innings of play the score read Seals 15—Jeff 10.

Leading the Seal onslaught was Bill Batson, 3 for 3, and Gene Pavey with 3 for 4. Pavey provided the power with a home run and a double while Batson belted out a pair of doubles. Gil Crouse hit a triple and Corky Wilt had a double.

Jim Bush, hard hitting catcher for Jeff, had a double, but no Jeff batter was able to garner more than one hit.

Breaks Can Go For WCH Team

Athletics Have Chance to Climb

The Washington C. H. Athletics can move back into second place in the Heart of Ohio circuit Sunday.

Two things have to happen (1) the Athletics have to beat Zanesville, one of two teams in a second place tie, and (2) Chillicothe, the other team in the tangle, has to lose to Lancaster.

The Athletics, still smarting from a defeat at the hands of Chillicothe last week, stand a good chance of dropping Zanesville. What will happen in the Chillicothe-Lancaster game is anybody's guess.

Whatever happens, it's almost certain there will be a switch somewhere in the league's tangled midsection. Six of the circuit's eight teams are crowded in just inches from each other between second and seventh place.

THE WAY schedules are drawn up now, the seventh place team (Columbus) could move into second in just three quick games. First place Grove City, with a 10-0 record, and last-place Lockbourne with a 0-10 mark, don't stand much of a chance of moving anywhere. But for the rest of the group, it's wide open.

In Sunday's games, the Athletics will travel to Zanesville while Chillicothe will play host to Lancaster. Other games will see Lockbourne at Grove City and Columbus at Reynoldsburg.

Here are the standings:

	W	L
Grove City	10	0
Chillicothe	6	4
Zanesville	6	4
Washington	6	5
Lancaster	5	6
Reynoldsburg	4	6
Columbus	4	6
Lockbourne	0	10

Calhoun Pitted Against Frenchman

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (AP) — Rory Calhoun, a sturdy middleweight who has had trouble with two guys named Joe (Giardello and Giambra) hopes to get back on the win path tonight in a 10-round match with Germinal Ballarin, a Frenchman.

Calhoun, ranked fourth among the challengers to Ray Robinson's title in the latest National Boxing Association rankings, had won 23 straight before he lost to Spider Webb in Chicago last August. He reeled off four more before losing to Giardello on a split decision, May 17 at Cleveland. In his last fight he was held to a draw by Giambra, June 21 at Syracuse.

New York Giants Confirm They Will Move Next Year

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Giants "is dead."

By next year the National League club will have shifted to San Francisco, or Minneapolis, or some place.

Club President Horace Stoneham laid it on the line Thursday, announcing he will recommend to his board of directors that the Giants quit the Polo Grounds at the end of the season, and indicating there is very little chance of the club finding another ball yard in New York.

Stoneham also made it clear that the Giants already have league permission to transfer their franchise, even if the Brooklyn Dodgers choose to stay behind.

League permission for the Giants to switch to San Francisco and the Dodgers to move to Los Angeles—when the two clubs decided to do so—was thought to be a package deal, with one move hingeing on the other.

"That is not true," said Stoneham.

Stoneham indicated San Francisco and Minneapolis are the prime possibilities for a new Giant home, but left the door open for any "satisfactory deal"—which he defined as a new and adequate ball park and a rental rate based on a percentage of the attendance.

A move to Minneapolis would require league permission again.

Joe Cronin, general manager of the Boston Red Sox, said Thursday night the American League club "wouldn't stand in the Giants' way if they wanted to draft the San Francisco territory." The Red Sox own the San Francisco franchise in the Pacific Coast League.

California mayor, John Purchio of Hayward, will fly here today to offer the Giants an 8½-million-dollar stadium in the community located about 30 miles from San Francisco.

Stoneham, regretting a move from New York, said the club "would be stupid to stay" here from a money viewpoint. "I don't think New York can support three clubs," he said, "and I'm not so sure it can support two. From what I've been given to understand, the city of New York is bankrupt."

16 Survivors Vying For Honors Today; Darkhorses Watched

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Sammy Snead and Doug Ford continued to rule as red-hot favorites as 16 oddly-assorted survivors surged today into the 39th National PGA championship's fourth round of match play.

Several darkhorses, who surprised everyone including themselves by getting this far in the man-to-man combat, were scattered through the list. But plenty of tournament-tested talent was still around, too.

Dow Finsterwald of Tequesta, Fla., and Athens, Ohio, one of the brightest of the young stars, was the big road block in 45-year-old Snead's path today. The 27-year-old youngster hasn't been out of the money in 56 straight tournaments and has $21,447 to show for his 1957 club-swinging.

Ford, 34 and the year's big-money man with $37,946, tangles with the elder half of Golfdom's star brother act, Jay Hebert of Sanford, Fla. Hebert, 34-year-old ex-Marine, was the hottest thing on the winter tour.

His 29-year-old brother, trumpet-playing Lionel, also is still around and has Mike Souchak, the former Duke footballer, as his foe.

In the same bracket are 41-year-old Claude Harmon, former Masters champion, who tangles with fiery Tommy Bolt of Los Angeles; and Henry Ransom, the 46-year-old former welterweight boxer and Texas ranch owner, who meets 38-year-old Walter Burkemo of Franklin, Mich., three times a PGA finalist in the last six years.

Ted Kroll of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., 37-year-old winner of the world championship last year, meets National Open champion Dick Mayer in the Snead-Finsterwald bracket, but the other four are horses of a darker hue.

Milon Marusic, 42, Webster Groves, Mo., who followed the tournament trail for three years without a victory, and Donald A. Whitt, 26, of Alameda, Calif., were foes in one fourth-round match. Marusic ousted defending champion Jackie Burke by 2 and 1 Thursday.

Nicklaus Ousted From Junior Meet

WASHINGTON (AP)—Larry Beck and John Konsek, a pair of par-slashing youngsters face new challenges today as they battle for quarter-final slots in the U. S. Golf Assn. junior championships.

Konsek, New York State junior titlist, whacked three strokes from par over the 16 holes necessary to dispose of Atlanta's Don Patterson, 3 and 2, in a third round bout Thursday.

Beck, three times junior champ of the Carolinas, pulled the biggest surprise of the first two days by whipping Jack Nicklaus of Columbus, Ohio, 4 and 3.

Bloomingburg Wins From Good Hope

The Bloomingburg boys swung big bats on their home field Thursday evening as they drubbed the Good Hope team, 18-3 in a Babe Ruth League game.

Nine hits were cracked out by the Bloomingburg boys with Larry Ayers, Don Evans and Mike Evans getting two each.

Although the Good Hope hit production was only three less than Bloomingburg's, clutch hits were the difference. A home run was belted by the Good Hope pitcher, Strouth, in a vain effort to help his own cause. Mike Newman had a triple while Dave Frock belted a double.

Bloomingburg scored in every inning except the fourth with a big nine run affair in the first.

Cowboys Win From Flashes

The Cowboys roped and tied the Flashes, but good, in their Little League game at Wilson field Thursday night as they turned in an 18-5 victory.

Flee, on the hill for the Cowboys, held the flashes to 4 hits, but a loose defense and some bases on balls let in 5 runs.

The Cowboys had little trouble connecting with the offerings of Armbrust and Halliday for 16 safeties which, with the help of 7 Flash errors, were good for 18 runs. Flee contributed a home run to the Cowboy assault.

Chows Leading Sox When Game Called

In one of the best Little Minor League games of the season—for four innings before time ran out—the Chows edged White Sox, 4 to 3.

The Chows, however, staged a rally in their half of the fifth that netted them 8 runs. The White Sox did not have a chance to overcome it because the game was called before they had time to go to bat.

Lineups:

Chows — Stemple, Woods, Mays, Slagle, Fitzpatrick, Riley, S. Shipley, Morgan, Bryant, Inskeep, R. Shipley and Beuchler.

Recreation Basketball Marked by Close Scores

Basketball, gathering momentum as a part of the summer recreation program, has been marked by keen competition in the first two games.

English, with 22 points, was high for the game and Ray Justice, with 17, set the pace for Campbell's team. Campbell got 14 points and Ronnie Myers got 15.

R&S Boss Optimistic For His Team

That's the way Tom Smalley, manager of the Washington C. H. (Ross & Satterfield) South Western Ohio League baseball team, described his team's prospects for the rest of the season.

"Well, . .perhaps not every one. But we'll come close!" he said.

Smalley's team won its first game of the season last week by swamping winless Blanchester, 12-6. Smalley explained that his team is a completely new outfit this year, and it took that long for them to "congeal."

"Now that we're working together, we ought to start making a showing," he said.

The team will have a chance to demonstrate their new strength Sunday when they travel to Chillicothe to tackle the Reformatory squad. It'll be one of four games in the SWO circuit.

Other contests will see first-place Columbus at Greenfield, the Chillicothe Businessmen at Milledgeville and Blanchester at Bloomingburg.

Here's the way they will stand as they go into Sunday's games:

	W	L
Columbus	10	0
Chillicothe	8	2
Greenfield	7	3
Milledgeville	4	5
Reformatory	4	6
Bloomingburg	4	6
Washington C. H.	1	7
Blanchester	0	9

Panthers Win Softball Game

The Panthers took the honors in the first round of the girls softball tournament of the summer recreation program when they swamped the Dee-Dees under a 30 to 19 score at the park on Oakland Ave. Thursday evening.

A reorganization meeting is to be held Monday in the shelter house at the park. At this time, personnel probably will be shuffled to provide better balance among the teams, Fred Domenico, recreation director, explained. He added that a couple of more teams may be formed by the time play is resumed after the Fair.

No games will be played during Fair Week here.

Lineups for the game Thursday night were:

Panthers—N. Owens 1b, 3-4; Emrick ss, 2-3; B. McCoy 3b; 2-4; B. Harris cf, 2-3; P. Weaver p, 2-5; J. Conaway 2b, 0-2; E. Winfield c, 2-3; A. Craig rf, 3-3; J. Owens lf, 3-3; Osborne cf, 0-0; Mouser rf, 0-0; S. Stagg lf, 0-0.

Dee-Dees— D. Mabra 3b- 3-2; D. Owens 1f, 3-4; P. Johns p, 3-3; M. Wilson ss, 2-1; J. Matson cf, 2-0; P. Emrick 1b, 2-1; L. A. Foster c, 0-0; M. Palmer 2b, 0-2; H. Ducey rf, 1-2.

WCH Legion Juniors Lose at Marysville

The Washington C. H. American Legion Junior baseball team was routed by the Marysville Juniors, 16 to 3, in a game played there under the lights Thursday night.

Although the Marysville boys hit Herman's slants hard and often, a leaky defense was a major factor in the downfall of the Washington C. H. outfit.

The Washington C. H. team was held to two hits, doubles by Snider and Korn.

Seals Edge Jeff In Babe Ruth Tilt

The Seals continued on the warpath Thursday evening as they bludgeoned two Jeff hurlers for a total of 14 hits and 15 runs in a free-scoring Babe Ruth League game at the park here. At the end of five innings of play the score read Seals 15—Jeff 10.

Leading the Seal onslaught was Bill Batson, 3 for 3, and Gene Pavey with 3 for 4. Pavey provided the power with a home run and a double while Batson belted out a pair of doubles. Gil Crouse hit a triple and Corky Wilt had a double.

Jim Bush, hard hitting catcher for Jeff, had a double, but no Jeff batter was able to garner more than one hit.

Breaks Can Go For WCH Team

Athletics Have Chance to Climb

The Washington C. H. Athletics can move back into second place in the Heart of Ohio circuit Sunday.

Two things have to happen (1) the Athletics have to beat Zanesville, one of two teams in a second place tie, and (2) Chillicothe, the other team in the tangle, has to lose to Lancaster.

The Athletics, still smarting from a defeat at the hands of Chillicothe last week, stand a good chance of dropping Zanesville. What will happen in the Chillicothe-Lancaster game is anybody's guess.

Whatever happens, it's almost certain there will be a switch somewhere in the league's tangled midsection. Six of the circuit's eight teams are crowded in just inches from each other between second and seventh place.

THE WAY schedules are drawn up now, the seventh place team (Columbus) could move into second in just three quick games. First place Grove City, with a 10-0 record, and last-place Lockbourne with a 0-10 mark, don't stand much of a chance of moving anywhere. But for the rest of the group, it's wide open.

In Sunday's games, the Athletics will travel to Zanesville while Chillicothe will play host to Lancaster. Other games will see Lockbourne at Grove City and Columbus at Reynoldsburg.

Here are the standings:

	W	L
Grove City	10	0
Chillicothe	6	4
Zanesville	6	4
Washington	6	5
Lancaster	5	6
Reynoldsburg	4	6
Columbus	4	6
Lockbourne	0	10

Calhoun Pitted Against Frenchman

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (AP) — Rory Calhoun, a sturdy middleweight who has had trouble with two guys named Joe (Giardello and Giambra) hopes to get back on the win path tonight in a 10-round match with Germinal Ballarin, a Frenchman.

Calhoun, ranked fourth among the challengers to Ray Robinson's title in the latest National Boxing Association rankings, had won 23 straight before he lost to Spider Webb in Chicago last August. He reeled off four more before losing to Giardello on a split decision, May 17 at Cleveland. In his last fight he was held to a draw by Giambra, June 21 at Syracuse.

New York Giants Confirm They Will Move Next Year

By next year the National League club will have shifted to San Francisco, or Minneapolis, or some place.

Club President Horace Stoneham laid it on the line Thursday, announcing he will recommend to his board of directors that the Giants quit the Polo Grounds at the end of the season, and indicating there is very little chance of the club finding another ball yard in New York.

Stoneham also made it clear that the Giants already have league permission to transfer their franchise, even if the Brooklyn Dodgers choose to stay behind.

League permission for the Giants to switch to San Francisco and the Dodgers to move to Los Angeles—when the two clubs decided to do so—was thought to be a package deal, with one move hingeing on the other.

"That is not true," said Stoneham.

Stoneham indicated San Francisco and Minneapolis are the prime possibilities for a new Giant home, but left the door open for any "satisfactory deal"—which he defined as a new and adequate ball park and a rental rate based on a percentage of the attendance.

A move to Minneapolis would require league permission again.

Joe Cronin, general manager of the Boston Red Sox, said Thursday night the American League club "wouldn't stand in the Giants' way if they wanted to draft the San Francisco territory." The Red Sox own the San Francisco franchise in the Pacific Coast League.

California mayor, John Purchio of Hayward, will fly here today to offer the Giants an 8½-million-dollar stadium in the community located about 30 miles from San Francisco.

Stoneham, regretting a move from New York, said the club "would be stupid to stay" here from a money viewpoint. "I don't think New York can support three clubs," he said, "and I'm not so sure it can support two. From what I've been given to understand, the city of New York is bankrupt."

Suspicious Trail Brings Retreat

NEW BERN, N. C. (AP)—A state alcoholic beverage control board agent, Albert Russell of New Bern, was poking around in a swampy area near Cherry Point looking for moonshiners.

He saw a trail which looked as if it had been made by a boat. He cautiously guided his own motorboat into the swamp grass.

Dallas Seeking Old Planes for Display

DALLAS (AP) — Anyone have a Curtiss carrier pigeon, or maybe a pinch - back Fairchild, stored where?

Dallas would like to borrow several dozen types of airplanes to display on the opening of the new Love Field Terminal Oct. 20-27.

The list includes Stinsons, Stearmans, Fokkers, etc. along with modern Douglas and Lockheed ships and the Boeing 707 jet.

Suspicious Trail Brings Retreat

NEW BERN, N. C. (AP)—A state alcoholic beverage control board agent, Albert Russell of New Bern, was poking around in a swampy area near Cherry Point looking for moonshiners.

He saw a trail which looked as if it had been made by a boat. He cautiously guided his own motorboat into the swamp grass.

Clinton Trial Defense Builds Up Its Case

Chief Aim; To Show Lack of Planned Violence in Dispute

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—The defense in the "Clinton trial" set out today to demolish two vital points, violence and conspiracy, in the U. S. government's case against 11 advocates of all-white schools.

"We are going to call some eyewitnesses — people who saw that alleged violence," said Chief Defense Counsel Robert L. Dobbs of Memphis, Tenn. They will tell "the other side of the story," he said.

The defense battery professed not to be disappointed over having lost their hard-hitting plea for a directed verdict to acquit the 10 men and one woman.

After hearing hours of argument from both sides, U. S. Dist. Judge Robert L. Taylor made a long analysis of the case. At the end of it, he said gravely, "I am constrained to overrule the defense motion."

He said evidence exists to support the major sections of the government's accusation—that the 11 knowingly, and with common purpose, acted to circumvent a federal order to integrate Clinton High School last fall, and that "overt acts" followed.

* * *

WHETHER THE evidence is sufficient to prove guilt, Taylor said, is not for him to decide. That is in the hands of the all-white jury. But he held that the evidence does exist.

Thereupon, the defense immediately began calling witnesses.

"Call Mrs. Sybil Davis," said Grover S. McLeod, a defense lawyer from Birmingham, Ala.

Mrs. Davis, tall, slim, with an oval face and auburn hair, was sworn in. She said she was secretary of the Tennessee White Citizens Council, segregationist body.

"How many members does the council have?" McLeod asked.

"Oh, hundreds," said Mrs. Davis.

"Now then," said McLeod, "I notice that many of the council members are women." Mrs. Davis agreed.

"And many of them are respectable businessmen," she added.

"Did you ever talk violence in council meetings?"

"Certainly not," she said firmly.

"Do you believe in segregation?"

"I've always believed in segregation. I believed in it before John Kasper (Northern segregationist organizer and a defendant) ever came to Anderson County."

"Did John Kasper attend meetings of the White Citizens Council?"

"We never invited him," said Mrs. Davis, "but our meetings were open to the public and I believe he came."

* * *

"TELL ME," said McLeod, "did you ever hold meetings where you plotted something?"

"No sir," said Mrs. Davis with a show of indignation.

This testimony was designed to bring out several points:

1. That the council membership represented, not a few hot-heads, but a fair cross-section of opinion in Anderson County (Clinton is the county seat). The defense contends that segregation is the will of the majority there.

2. That the members were prepared to work by legal methods, not by violence, to preserve the all-white school.

3. That the planning moves in the battle against desegregation were made by the council.

Bloomingburg Streets To Be Resurfaced

A street resurfacing project covering approximately 14 blocks is scheduled to get under way in Bloomingburg Monday and be completed within a week if no unforeseen delays are encountered.

The bid of Blue Rock, Inc., to supply the T-35 asphaltic concrete and resurface the streets at the rate of $7.45 a ton was accepted by the Bloomingburg council at its meeting this week.

Council agreed to resurface as much of the five streets included in the project as the approximately $8,000 in the resurfacing fund will cover.

Streets designated for improvement are Lincoln St., which runs about six blocks north and south the entire length of the village one block east of Main St. and about two blocks each of four short east-west streets—Market, Bowers, Cross and Union.

The $8,000 earmarked for the resurfacing has been accumulated over the last three years with money from the gasoline tax and automobile license fees, Robert Hughes, clerk of the council, explained.

The total tax collection just recently completed by the Fayette County treasurer shows only $1,607.80 more in delinquency than for the previous year.

According to figures submitted by the county auditor's office today the total delinquency last year after the year's second half collection ending the first part of July was $9,911.78. For this present year collection the amount delinquent is $11,515.58.

Those who failed to pay on time are assessed the usual 10 percent penalty.

The delinquency reported following the close of the recent collection amounted to $9,472.52 on real estate and $2,047.06 on special taxes such as ditches, sewers etc.

Previous to the last three days of this year's final collection, county officials had expressed some fear that the total delinquency would be much higher than it actually turned out to be.

There was a noticeable delay, officials said, on the part of a considerable number of taxpayers many of whom waited as long as possible before paying their tax bills. Also a considerable amount of payment showed up in the treasurer's office through the mails after the books closed, but was within the time limit according to the stamped mailing date.

Good Hope Lions Plan for Picnic

Pledges Are Made For Blood Donations

Paul Pope presided over his first meeting as the new president of the Good Hope Lions Club Thursday night when his predecessor and the club's first president, Earl Rea was presented a fitted picnic icebox as a token of the club's appreciation of his leadership and guidance during its infancy. The presentation was made on behalf of the club by Tail Twister Charles Shaper.

The meeting in the Township Hall started with a dinner at 7:30 p. m. The later start, it was explained, was agreed on because so many of the club members are farmers and like to take advantage of as much daylight as possible during this time of year.

Pledges for donations the Red Cross blood bank, when the mobile unit comes here again Aug. 5, were made at this meeting. They have not been checked yet, but Dale Eakins, the club correspondent, said pledges were made by a "good percentage" of the members.

THE COMING visit of the bloodmobile is being sponsored by the four Lions Clubs in Fayette County — at Good Hope, Bloomingburg, Jeffersonville and Washington C. H.

Plans also were outlined for a family picnic to be held Aug. 14 in place of the regular meeting. The picnic will be at the Fayette County Fish and Game Assn. recreation area near Buena Vista and members of Good Hope's boys (Little League type) baseball team will be guests.

The meeting was brought to a close with the showing of a motion picture of the lighter side of the sport of baseball. Wilbur Hoppes was chairman of the program committee. Charles Harris made arrangements to get the film and it was shown by Harold Thomas.

"Swim In Approved Areas Only," Sanitarian Todd Urges

Allow children to swim only in approved areas. This was the advice given today by John G. Todd, sanitarian, for the Fayette County Health Department.

"The 'old swimming hole' may recall memories to oldsters, but to youngsters it could mean drowning, injury, illness, or skin infection. Approved areas are those under inspection from the Health Department," Todd states.

He outlined the following qualities as those looked for when a swimming area is checked by the sanitarian.

Safe water—such water should be treated with chlorine or some approved compound, this kills the bacteria. The bather can tell if water has been treated by the odor.

Crystal clear water — a coin should be visible on the bottom of the pool through at least 6 feet of water.

Qualified life guards should be on duty at all times.

Clean surroundings including clean toilet and locker rooms.

Todd said, "obviously, the old swimming hole does not qualify on most of these points. Worse yet, the old swimming hole could be hazardous because of currents, sharp stones, hidden rocks or perhaps pollution".

It was pointed out that the county sanitarian can make only periodic visits to approved swimming pool areas and it's up to the individual bather to help keep the bathing areas in a safe, sanitary condition.

A list of approved swimming areas in Fayette County can be obtained by contacting the health department, Todd said.

Oil Well Derrick Being Moved

Second Kewanee Test To Be West of First

Early Friday morning the big derrick of the Union Rotary Corp. of Mt. Clemens, Mich., which is drilling test wells for Kewanee Oil Co. in this area, was lowered to the "cradle" in preparation for moving it to the new location on Mrs. Edgar Wilson's farm on the Miami Trace Rd., a little more than half a mile north of U. S. 62, where the second test well will be started next week.

Work of raising the derrick probably will get underway Sunday. This will be just the reverse procedure of lowering it—the heavy cable used to support the drill shaft will be used in raising the entire derrick to an upright position.

In lowering the derrick, it was necessary to attach a heavy truck to the engines so the great weight of the derrick would not dislodge the engines from their location on the platform on which the derrick stands.

The big derrick was lowered without incident, within a few minutes.

Special trucks are being used to move the outfit. Because it must be hauled across country over roads with several sharp turns the derrick was being taken apart in three sections.

Drilling the first "wildcat" well on the Hopkins farm on the Creek Rd. ended when granite was struck at 4,706 feet.

Rifle Shot Quiets Florida Court Room

GREEN COVE SPRINGS, Fla. (AP)—It took a deputy sheriff with a rifle to restore order in Circuit Court Thursday.

A pigeon flew into the courtroom and Judge W. A. Stanly interrupted a charge to the jury and asked Court Clerk George Carlisle to chase him out.

Carlisle yelled "Shoo" and flapped his arms but succeeded only in frightening the bird which began wheeling wildly around. Jurors and spectators joined in the arms-flapping.

Stanly finally tossed the problem to Sheriff John P. Hall who summoned a deputy with a .22 rifle. One shot killed the bird.

IT'S SO EASY TO PLACE A WANT AD.

Increase Charge On Certificates of Births and Deaths

According to a memorandum received by Fayette County Health Department from the Ohio Department of Health, it is noted that a new law becomes effective on August 20, this year, whereby an increase in fees on certain items must be charged on certain certified copies obtained from the vital statistics registrars of counties.

Under this law the county health department here will be compelled to increase the cost from 50 cents to $1.00 for certified copies of birth, stillbirth or death certificates issued by the vital statistics registrar in the department.

The only copies of a birth or death certificate issued which are to be free of charge are those issued for veterans' claims.

Pledges Are Made For Blood Donations

Paul Pope presided over his first meeting as the new president of the Good Hope Lions Club Thursday night when his predecessor and the club's first president, Earl Rea was presented a fitted picnic icebox as a token of the club's appreciation of his leadership and guidance during its infancy. The presentation was made on behalf of the club by Tail Twister Charles Shaper.

The meeting in the Township Hall started with a dinner at 7:30 p. m. The later start, it was explained, was agreed on because so many of the club members are farmers and like to take advantage of as much daylight as possible during this time of year.

Pledges for donations the Red Cross blood bank, when the mobile unit comes here again Aug. 5, were made at this meeting. They have not been checked yet, but Dale Eakins, the club correspondent, said pledges were made by a "good percentage" of the members.

THE COMING visit of the bloodmobile is being sponsored by the four Lions Clubs in Fayette County — at Good Hope, Bloomingburg, Jeffersonville and Washington C. H.

Plans also were outlined for a family picnic to be held Aug. 14 in place of the regular meeting. The picnic will be at the Fayette County Fish and Game Assn. recreation area near Buena Vista and members of Good Hope's boys (Little League type) baseball team will be guests.

The meeting was brought to a close with the showing of a motion picture of the lighter side of the sport of baseball. Wilbur Hoppes was chairman of the program committee. Charles Harris made arrangements to get the film and it was shown by Harold Thomas.

Aluminum was not discovered as a separate metal until 1824. Still, scientists say there is more aluminum yielded by the earth than any other metal.

"Swim In Approved Areas Only," Sanitarian Todd Urges

Allow children to swim only in approved areas. This was the advice given today by John G. Todd, sanitarian, for the Fayette County Health Department.

"The 'old swimming hole' may recall memories to oldsters, but to youngsters it could mean drowning, injury, illness, or skin infection. Approved areas are those under inspection from the Health Department," Todd states.

He outlined the following qualities as those looked for when a swimming area is checked by the sanitarian.

Safe water—such water should be treated with chlorine or some approved compound, this kills the bacteria. The bather can tell if water has been treated by the odor.

Crystal clear water — a coin should be visible on the bottom of the pool through at least 6 feet of water.

Qualified life guards should be on duty at all times.

Clean surroundings including clean toilet and locker rooms.

Todd said, "obviously, the old swimming hole does not qualify on most of these points Worse yet, the old swimming hole could be hazardous because of currents, sharp stones, hidden rocks or perhaps pollution".

It was pointed out that the county sanitarian can make only periodic visits to approved swimming pool areas and it's up to the individual bather to help keep the bathing areas in a safe, sanitary condition.

A list of approved swimming areas in Fayette County can be obtained by contacting the health department, Todd said.

Oil Well Derrick Being Moved

Second Kewanee Test To Be West of First

Early Friday morning the big derrick of the Union Rotary Corp. of Mt. Clemens, Mich., which is drilling test wells for Kewanee Oil Co. in this area, was lowered to the "cradle" in preparation for moving it to the new location on Mrs. Edgar Wilson's farm on the Miami Trace Rd., a little more than half a mile north of U. S. 62, where the second test well will be started next week.

Work of raising the derrick probably will get underway Sunday. This will be just the reverse procedure of lowering it—the heavy cable used to support the drill shaft will be used in raising the entire derrick to an upright position.

In lowering the derrick, it was necessary to attach a heavy truck to the engines so the great weight of the derrick would not dislodge the engines from their location on the platform on which the derrick stands.

The big derrick was lowered without incident, within a few minutes.

Special trucks are being used to move the outfit. Because it must be hauled across country over roads with several sharp turns the derrick was being taken apart in three sections.

Drilling the first "wildcat" well on the Hopkins farm on the Creek Rd. ended when granite was struck at 4,706 feet.

Rifle Shot Quiets Florida Court Room

GREEN COVE SPRINGS, Fla. (AP)—It took a deputy sheriff with a rifle to restore order in Circuit Court Thursday.

A pigeon flew into the courtroom and Judge W. A. Stanly interrupted a charge to the jury and asked Court Clerk George Carlisle to chase him out.

Carlisle yelled "Shoo" and flapped his arms but succeeded only in frightening the bird which began wheeling wildly around. Jurors and spectators joined in the arms-flapping.

Stanly finally tossed the problem to Sheriff John P. Hall who summoned a deputy with a .22 rifle. One shot killed the bird.

Increase Charge On Certificates of Births and Deaths

According to a memorandum received by Fayette County Health Department from the Ohio Department of Health, it is noted that a new law becomes effective on August 20, this year, whereby an increase in fees on certain items must be charged on certain certified copies obtained from the vital statistics registrars of counties.

Under this law the county health department here will be compelled to increase the cost from 50 cents to $1.00 for certified copies of birth, stillbirth or death certificates issued by the vital statistics registrar in the department.

The only copies of a birth or death certificate issued which are to be free of charge are those issued for veterans' claims.

People . . . Places . . and Things

Round about Fayette County

By B. E. KELLEY

A lot of us recall some of the old time fairs held on the present Fairground, and some of us even rode on the shuttle train of two or three coachs, which plied between the C&MV station here and the Fairground.

The train ran into the north side of the Fairground near where the open ditch leaves the grounds. The fare was 10 cents each way, as I recall. It crossed what is now the Meriweather nursery grounds.

The train was heavily patronized during the fair and I presume the service was rendered by the old C&MV more as a public relations gesture than as a means of making money.

I recall people who walked as much as five or six miles to board a train and come to the fair, then in the evening walked the five miles or more back to their homes.

Sometimes there were gambling devices o the grounds—but not in recent years. The "wheels of fortune" were real wheels of fortune—to the owners. Many a "sucker" lost all of the money he had with him, thinking that the next time he would win and finally "break the bank". However, it was not "bank", but bunco!

Some of us had little spending money left after paying the gate admission. Invariably it went for some candy, popcorn or something else to eat, so we did not get to see much in the way of midway attractions, or anything else for which there was a charge.

Nevertheless it was something really worthwhile to see the people, the exhibits and the many, many wonderful new things which went to make up the early fairs in horse and buggy days.

FIRST COMBINE

The first "harvester - thresher" (combine) operated in Fayette County, as noted in the Daily Herald of July 14, 1927, was owned by Frank L. Parrett, at one time county representative to the Legislature. It started operating July 13, 1927, on his farm two miles north of Washington C. H., where it attracted farmers from a wide area.

Crowds watched the outfit as it was pulled by a McCormick-Deering tractor. It had a wheat bin capacity of 30 bushels. The field in which the "harvester-thresher" was operated on what was known as the Proctor farm, now owned by Carroll Halliday.

Scores of persons assembled, followed the outfit about, and watched it in operation. They examined wheat heads and the ground to see that no wheat was being wasted.

Apparently, the results of the outfit were satisfactory, for sales of combines grew rapidly within a few years and the old method of wheat threshing virtually vanished over a period of some 15 years.

WEEDS CURE AILS

Early woodsmen of Fayette County, and that includes the women and children, knew many "weeds" growing in the woods which had real medicinal qualities. They gathered them and used them freely for nearly all ailments, usually with good results.

In addition to such plants as yellow root (golden seal,) may apple (mandrake) and numerous other so-called weeds, many were herbs that were gathered and used for curing various afflictions and ailments.

For instance, they used the juice of jewel weed or wild touch-me-not for eradicating ivy poison. Because most of the frontiers men were rather well saturated with wood smoke from open fireplaces and particularly from their clearings, they were immune to ivy poisoning.

For instance, there is one plant known as wood betony or lousewort, woodsmen called "rattlesnake master." They used the crushed leaves to counteract the bite of poisonous snakes. Strangely enough the plant has an odor like a snake.

They used pennyroyal or common speedwell, peppermint and many of the other mints for tea, and illness. Sassafras teas was a blood purefier.

Early doctor's books contained many cures in which various herbs and other flora were used as the basis. The old time doctors themselves recommended various plants for certain ailments, and often used medicine made from the roots and leaves of the plants.

Even today many medicines have a base coming from certain plants, showing that the old timers were on the right track in using what nature so liberally provided.

THIRTY YEARS AGO

Pennsylvania Railroad was erecting new watertank west of Sycamore St., where the old tank had burst and scattered timbers over the surrounding area.

Wheat was producing 11 to 29 bushels to the acre.

John Robinson's Circus showed on Old Fairground. It required two long trains to move the big show.

Machine Gun Company M was in camp for 15 days at Camp Perry.

Fair Board officials asked commissioners for $5,000 for fair purposes during next year.

Council passed legislation for paving East St., from Short St., to Washington Ave.

Man, 25, Hitchhikes To Make Confession

DAYTON (AP)—After spending the night—at his own request—in the Preble County jail, Jack Swink, 26, hitchhiked 15 miles to the Montgomery County jail here today to admit an $81 forgery.

Asked why he hadn't surrendered in Preble County, Swink said he found the jail there "too lonely."

Authorities here said Swink will probably see another county jail—in Portage County — because he said he forged the check at his home in Brady Lake there.

Doctor Urging Men Dress Fitting with Hot Weather

By JANE EADS

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dr. Shane MacCarthy believes a man can do a better job in his short shirtsleeves when heat and humidity conspire to undermine comfort.

Executive director of the President's Council on Youth Fitness, he wears a sports shirt to work, on calls to the White House, and to conferences around town.

He believes the physical fitness of men in general would be improved if they dressed sensibly in sweltering weather. He says he hopes other officials will follow shirt!

"I feel that what I'm doing is completely in the viewpoint of aiding your responsibilities," he told me. "So many men go home after a long hot day, take off coat and tie as soon as they're in the house and sigh, 'There, I feel better.' Why not feel better all day long at work?"

MacCarthy says he's not aiming to be conspicuous, or trying to start a trend toward tackiness.

"There's nothing eccentric or radical in a clean, open - neck short sleeve sports shirt," he said.

When MacCarthy has to go to the White House he reaches for a tie and puts on a jacket. He also does same when attending luncheon meetings in restaurants that require these items, though he thinks it's all nonsense.

"Men are slaves to habit," he scoffs. "They live on a very thin crust of custom. They're afraid of adult guts. Women don't have ropes around them. Most of them wear what they please whenever they please, especially in hot weather."

MacCarthy who was born in County Cork, Ireland, blew his jacket after sweltering many Washington summers.

His open defiance of custom has started a revival of what government employes call the "Brotherhood of Sensible Men" started about 10 years ago by one Charles Planck of the Civil Aeronautics Administration.

One could be a member by just taking off tie and unbuttoning shirt collar. Wearing a sports shirt would get a daring young man to the inner sanctum. The initial hullabaloo over the organization got becalmed, but membership in BSM has increased by thousands as men quietly develop what MacCarthy calls "adult guts."

Epidemic Kills Cattle

2 Prison Sentences Imposed Against Thug

AKRON (AP)—Concurrent sentences of 1-to-7 years for grand larceny and 1-to-15 years for breaking and entering were imposed on Ora Cye, 43, Wednesday by Common Pleas Judge C.V.D. Emmons.

Six other men associated with Dye in a gang which, police said, netted at least $35,000 in burglaries over the last two years, will be sentenced soon on similar charges.

WEEDS CURE AILS

Early woodsmen of Fayette County, and that includes the women and children, knew many "weeds" growing in the woods which had real medicinal qualities. They gathered them and used them freely for nearly all ailments, usually with good results.

In addition to such plants as yellow root (golden seal,) may apple (mandrake) and numerous other so-called weeds, many were herbs that were gathered and used for curing various afflictions and ailments.

For instance, they used the juice of jewel weed or wild touch-me-not for eradicating ivy poison. Because most of the frontiers men were rather well saturated with wood smoke from open fireplaces and particularly from their clearings, they were immune to ivy poisoning.

For instance, there is one plant known as wood betony or lousewort, woodsmen called "rattlesnake master." They used the crushed leaves to counteract the bite of poisonous snakes. Strangely enough the plant has an odor like a snake.

They used pennyroyal or common speedwell, peppermint and many of the other mints for tea, and illness. Sassafras teas was a blood purefier.

Early doctor's books contained many cures in which various herbs and other flora were used as the basis. The old time doctors themselves recommended various plants for certain ailments, and often used medicine made from the roots and leaves of the plants.

Even today many medicines have a base coming from certain plants, showing that the old timers were on the right track in using what nature so liberally provided.

THIRTY YEARS AGO

Pennsylvania Railroad was erecting new watertank west of Sycamore St., where the old tank had burst and scattered timbers over the surrounding area.

Wheat was producing 11 to 29 bushels to the acre.

John Robinson's Circus showed on Old Fairground. It required two long trains to move the big show.

Machine Gun Company M was in camp for 15 days at Camp Perry.

Fair Board officials asked commissioners for $5,000 for fair purposes during next year.

Council passed legislation for paving East St., from Short St., to Washington Ave.

Man, 25, Hitchhikes To Make Confession

DAYTON (AP)—After spending the night—at his own request—in the Preble County jail, Jack Swink, 26, hitchhiked 15 miles to the Montgomery County jail here today to admit an $81 forgery.

Asked why he hadn't surrendered in Preble County, Swink said he found the jail there "too lonely."

Authorities here said Swink will probably see another county jail—in Portage County — because he said he forged the check at his home in Brady Lake there.

Doctor Urging Men Dress Fitting with Hot Weather

By JANE EADS

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dr. Shane MacCarthy believes a man can do a better job in his short shirtsleeves when heat and humidity conspire to undermine comfort.

Executive director of the President's Council on Youth Fitness, he wears a sports shirt to work, on calls to the White House, and to conferences around town.

He believes the physical fitness of men in general would be improved if they dressed sensibly in sweltering weather. He says he hopes other officials will follow shirt!

"I feel that what I'm doing is completely in the viewpoint of aiding your responsibilities," he told me. "So many men go home after a long hot day, take off coat and tie as soon as they're in the house and sigh, 'There, I feel better.' Why not feel better all day long at work?"

MacCarthy says he's not aiming to be conspicuous, or trying to start a trend toward tackiness.

"There's nothing eccentric or radical in a clean, open - neck short sleeve sports shirt," he said.

When MacCarthy has to go to the White House he reaches for a tie and puts on a jacket. He also does same when attending luncheon meetings in restaurants that require these items, though he thinks it's all nonsense.

"Men are slaves to habit," he scoffs. "They live on a very thin crust of custom. They're afraid of adult guts. Women don't have ropes around them. Most of them wear what they please whenever they please, especially in hot weather."

MacCarthy who was born in County Cork, Ireland, blew his jacket after sweltering many Washington summers.

His open defiance of custom has started a revival of what government employes call the "Brotherhood of Sensible Men" started about 10 years ago by one Charles Planck of the Civil Aeronautics Administration.

One could be a member by just taking off tie and unbuttoning shirt collar. Wearing a sports shirt would get a daring young man to the inner sanctum. The initial hullabaloo over the organization got becalmed, but membership in BSM has increased by thousands as men quietly develop what MacCarthy calls "adult guts."

Fair Sheep Show To Be One of Best Ever Held Here

Thursday Judging Expected To Take Nearly Nine Hours

If entry list is any criterion, the sheep show at the Fair next week will be as big, or bigger, than one last year. That's the way it looks to Preston Dray, the board member in charge.

Last year, his records show, there were 315 sheep in the open classes and 37 in the Junior Fair classes. And, if all of those entered come, there will be even more here next week, Dray said.

There are classes for seven breeds — Corriedales, Dorsets, Shropshres, Southdowns, Suffolks, Oxfords and Montidales— with full classes in prospect for every breed.

Dray said it was a toss-up which breed would have the largest representative, but indications were that it could be the Suffolks, Shropshires or Suffolks.

There will be trophies aplenty in addition to the cash awards that go with the ribbons. Cash awards are $6, 4, $3 and $2 for each of the nine classes and $5 for the champion ram and $5 for the champion ewe of each of the seven breeds.

That means a cash outlay of $145 for each of the 11 breeds a total of $1,595 for the entire show.

BUT IT IS the ribbons and prestige, not the money, that the exhibitors really are interested in; for, more of them are breeders and make the money through the sale of breeding stock. And, the more prize ribbons and championships taken, the higher the sale price of the breeding stock.

The show will be held on the east side of the sheep barn again this year. An awning will be put over part of the show area to provide shade from the sun and shelter from the rain, should the weatherman be uncooperative.

Judging by Lowell Douce, extension agent of Highland County, will start with the open classes at 9 a. m. Thursday. At 10:30 a. m. this will be interrupted for the judging of the Junior Fair classes. When that is completed, probably by 1 p. m., judging of the open classes will be resumed.

Last year, judging of the sheep was not completed until after 8 p. m. Dray said the procedures had been streamlined somewhat for this year's show, but he was not too optimistic about finishing up before suppertime.

Dray said that in all probability some temporary pens would have to be put up under tents to take care of all the sheep and that arrangements had been made for them.

While most of the sheep will come from Fayette County farms, Dray said a number had been entered from farms outside the county.

Ohio Election Aides Warned On Population

CLEVELAND (AP)—Ohio election board officials were told today that they must take a long range view in anticipating population growth and shifts of the electorate from one area to another in the years ahead.

The speaker was Secretary of State Ted W. Brown, who told the officials at the opening of a three-day summer conference that anticipated population gains will bring additional problems in the handling of future elections.

"It is believed that the state's population will reach 11 million persons — 7½ million voters — by 1975," Brown said.

"You must take the public in as your partner, let them know what your problems are and what you are doing to keep pace with them."

The conference will be devoted principally to a discussion of the state's new election laws. Emphasis will be placed on the handling of elections of new county and municipal court judges in areas established by the Ohio Legislature at its last session.

Proposed Ohio Water Law 'Dangerous'

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—The chief counsel for the Toledo law department said today he has discovered "dangerous language" in a proposed state constitutional amendment to allow cities to sell more than 50 per cent of their water production outside city limits.

The proposed amendment might subject municipal water plants to regulation by the Ohio General Assembly, a thing cities have fought against for years, said Robert B. Konwin.

Approved by the Legislature, the amendment is to be submitted to the voters in the November election.

Konwin said a corrected copy of the amendment shows that a phrase apparently was inserted during the closing days of the legislative session. The phrase indicates that water and sewer plants would be made "subject to such regulations as may be provided by general law."

That language, Konwin said, may allow legislators to control the rates charged by municipalities as well as to determine any differentials that might be set for water customers outside the cities.

Fair for Everyone All Set Here

But, this year, the Fair Board turned over Tuesday night to the Junior Fair. The Junior Fair Board developed its own program and will stage it. There will be no admission charge to the grandstand to see it, either.

LIVESTOCK exhibits, expected to be on a par with those of previous years, will be housed in the barns—some even in special pens under tents—back "on the hill" in the western area of the Fairground.

There will be exhibits of hogs, sheep and cattle by both the young people and adults, but for the most parts they will be separate, as long has been the custom.

One of the principal features of the Junior Fair always has been the sale of livestock at auction. Market hogs shown by the 4-H boys and girls and the Future Farmers will go into the ring at 5 p. m. Thursday and sale of their beef cattle and sheep will start at 8 p. m. Friday in the sales pavilion on the Fairground.

JUDGING of the livestock will take place at shows almost every day during the Fair. But, efforts will be made to have this completed as soon as possible in order that the ribbons may be displayed proudly for all to see before the Fair closes.

The same goes for the exhibits of home furnishings and handiwork, which are expected to be as numerous as those in other years and cover as wide a variety.

A definite expansion of the Fair is in prospect in two places: the farm equipment display and the Merchants Building. The problem has been to find space for all the farm equipment and the automobile show and the Merchants Building, originally erected for commercial displays of merchants, will be crammed with so many typical Fair exhibits that merchants have given up their booths to make room for them.

Exhibits of the 4-H club boys and girls, while a part of the Junior Fair, have become so numerous that they almost have achieved a place of domination. They range all the way from livestock to dresses and cooking.

Individual clubs take great pride—and put in hours of work and planning—in the booths they will decorate to typify for the public their objective and accomplishments. Literally hundreds of boys and girsl take part in this phase of the Fair.

THE MIDWAY, too, will be as big, or bigger, than any Midway in the past. This colorful and raucus area just inside the main gate on Fairview Ave. is the place for fun, the place where young people get their "thrill" rides, and everyone sees the shows and tries his hand at the many concessions.

The Night Fair will have three entertainment attractions: automobile wrecking daredevils Wednesday and Thursday night; wild animal show, featuring ostrich and camel races with volunteer home talent drivers and riders Friday night and wrestling matches Saturday night.

A year of planning and negotiating by the 13-man Fair Board have gone into the Fair and arranging a program that will provide both education and entertainment.

The Fairground itself has been no small problem; it had to be made ready for the thousands of visitors who will stream through the gates all next week. Buildings had to be given minor repairs and the tall grass and weeds had to be cut. Already the grounds have been mowed three times and will be gone over again just before the gates open.

The big task of "setting up" the Fair will start Sunday and be on in earnest Monday. Trucks, large and small, and cars will make a never-ending procession in and out for the few days before the Fair actually gets under way Tuesday.

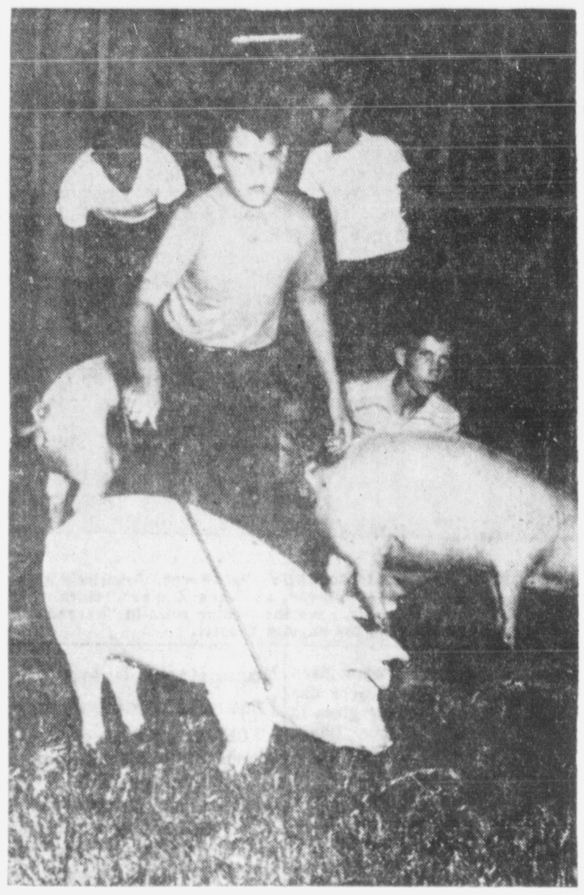
Most of the livestock will be trucked in and exhibits will be put in place Monday. But most of the concessions and the Midway attractions will be coming in Sunday.

Horses for the four days of racing already have started coming in, but most will arrive Sunday and Monday; some will not come until Tuesday, or even on the days they are to race.

Economics Classes In Schools Decried

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Charles B. Shuman of the American Farm Bureau Federation says public schools are falling down in teaching students how to make a living.

FUN FOR KIDS of all ages is in store when Walt Disney's "Cinderella" starts a two-day run Sunday at the Chakeres Drive-in Theater. A Western, "Gun for a Coward," also is on the bill.



IN ORDER TO WIN, Junior Fair pig showmen must display their pigs to the best advantage possible in the ring. Here, Charles McCoy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles McCoy of the Bloomingburg-New Holland Rd., gives the judge a look of unashamed pride as he demonstrates handling. Charles will use the same techniques on his own hogs as he uses here with this Yorkshire.

Nazarene Churches Report Donations

COLUMBUS (AP)—Dr. Harvey S. Galloway, superintendent of the 121 Nazarene churches in the Central Ohio District, reports the churches gave $135,000 last year for foreign mission work.

Dr. D. I. Vanderpool of San Jose, Calif., told the annual district "surely will be among the top five."

Last year the district increased total membership to 10,555, and established new churches at Plymouth, Richland County, and West Chillicothe.

Episcopal Minister Floored In Fuss with Parishioner

NEW YORK (AP)—The Rev. Dr. Herman S. Sidener, successor to the Rev. William Howard Melish at a strive-torn Brooklyn church, is reported to have been floored in a controversy with a member of the congregation.

George L. Hubbell Jr., counsel to Dr. Sidener and to the Protestant Episcopal Diocese, said "there have been several incidents" at the Episcopal Church of the Holy Trinity.

Asked Wednesday if Dr. Sidener had been injured physically or in spirit, Hubbell said "a little of both."

Dr. Sidener declined to comment on the incident involving him, after he conducted services at the church last Sunday.

The congregation has been split for years over the Rev. Mr. Melish, who has been supplanted by Dr. Sidener under court order. The case is still under appeal.

A newsman got this picture of last Sunday's incident:

After services, the congregation adjourned to the church gymnasium to have punch and coffee, as they often do. A congregation member, whose name was not made public, had some words with Dr. Sidener and, after a brief row, knocked him to the floor. Other parishioners interceded.

Hubbell, saying that no one was hurt seriously, called the fracas "a very unfortunate thing." The lawyer said he was not a witness to the episode, "but I was informed there was no complaint filed with the police."

"The matter is being studied," Hubbell added, "and we haven't made up our mind to take any action at this time."

Hubbell said that if such incidents continue, "it may be necessary to take some kind of action."

Hubbell was asked whether he believed that the Rev. Mr. Melish and his supporters were behind these incidents. "I don't believe they would be that contemptuous of the court," he replied.

The Rev. Mr. Melish was not available for comment.

The basis of his court case is the question of whether a quorum of the vestry was present when Dr. Sidener was elected to replace him.

Mechanical Mule Orders Increased

TOLEDO (AP)—Willys Motors has received five more contracts for "mechanical mule" vehicles from the Army Ordnance Corps, boosting the total value of its mule contracts to $6,783,424.

The mule is a flat-bed vehicle of around 900 pounds. It will carry a load of 1,000 pounds. Designed as a weapons carrier for use on rough terrain, it travels 25 miles an hour with both four-wheel drive and four-wheel steering.

Many of the vehicles will go to the 101st Airborne Division at Fort Campbell, Ky.

But, this year, the Fair Board turned over Tuesday night to the Junior Fair. The Junior Fair Board developed its own program and will stage it. There will be no admission charge to the grandstand to see it, either.

LIVESTOCK exhibits, expected to be on a par with those of previous years, will be housed in the barns—some even in special pens under tents—back "on the hill" in the western area of the Fairground.

There will be exhibits of hogs, sheep and cattle by both the young people and adults, but for the most parts they will be separate, as long has been the custom.

One of the principal features of the Junior Fair always has been the sale of livestock at auction. Market hogs shown by the 4-H boys and girls and the Future Farmers will go into the ring at 5 p. m. Thursday and sale of their beef cattle and sheep will start at 8 p. m. Friday in the sales pavilion on the Fairground.

JUDGING of the livestock will take place at shows almost every day during the Fair. But, efforts will be made to have this completed as soon as possible in order that the ribbons may be displayed proudly for all to see before the Fair closes

The same goes for the exhibits of home furnishings and handiwork, which are expected to be as numerous as those in other years and cover as wide a variety.

A definite expansion of the Fair is in prospect in two places: the farm equipment display and the Merchants Building. The problem has been to find space for all the farm equipment and the automobile show and the Merchants Building, originally erected for commercial displays of merchants, will be crammed with so many typical Fair exhibits that merchants have given up their booths to make room for them.

Exhibits of the 4-H club boys and girls, while a part of the Junior Fair, have become so numerous that they almost have achieved a place of domination. They range all the way from livestock to dresses and cooking.

Individual clubs take great pride—and put in hours of work and planning—in the booths they will decorate to typify for the public their objective and accomplishments. Literally hundreds of boys and girsl take part in this phase of the Fair.

THE MIDWAY, too, will be as big, or bigger, than any Midway in the past. This colorful and raucus area just inside the main gate on Fairview Ave. is the place for fun, the place where young people get their "thrill" rides, and everyone sees the shows and tries his hand at the many concessions.

The Night Fair will have three entertainment attractions: automobile wrecking daredevils Wednesday and Thursday night; wild animal show, featuring ostrich and camel races with volunteer home talent drivers and riders Friday night and wrestling matches Saturday night.

A year of planning and negotiating by the 13-man Fair Board have gone into the Fair and arranging a program that will provide both education and entertainment.

The Fairground itself has been no small problem; it had to be made ready for the thousands of visitors who will stream through the gates all next week. Buildings had to be given minor repairs and the tall grass and weeds had to be cut. Already the grounds have been mowed three times and will be gone over again just before the gates open.

The big task of "setting up" the Fair will start Sunday and be on in earnest Monday. Trucks, large and small, and cars will make a never-ending procession in and out for the few days before the Fair actually gets under way Tuesday.

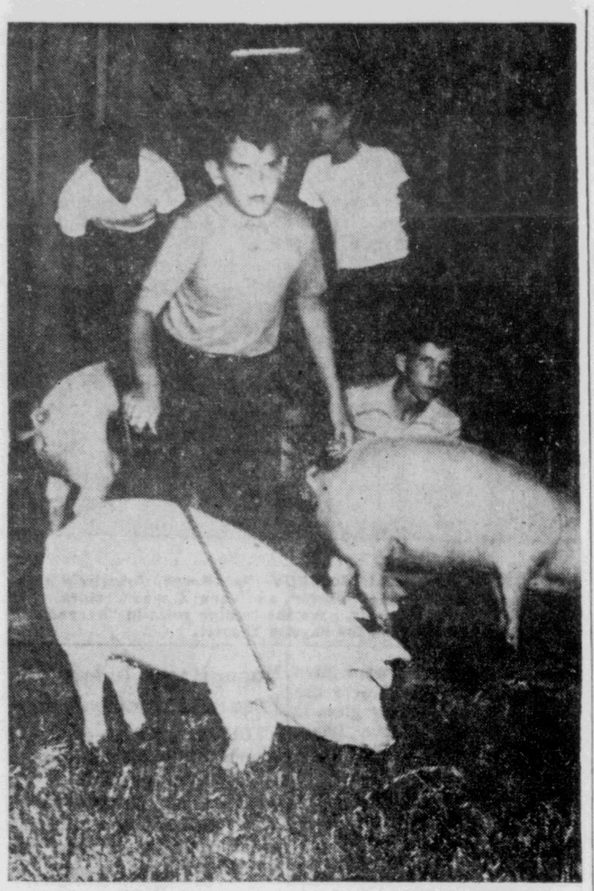
Most of the livestock will be trucked in and exhibits will be put in place Monday. But most of the concessions and the Midway attractions will be coming in Sunday.

Horses for the four days of racing already have started coming in, but most will arrive Sunday and Monday; some will not come until Tuesday, or even on the days they are to race.

Economics Classes In Schools Decried

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Charles B. Shuman of the American Farm Bureau Federation says public schools are falling down in teaching students how to make a living.

FUN FOR KIDS of all ages is in store when Walt Disney's "Cinderella" starts a two-day run Sunday at the Chakeres Drive-in Theater. A Western, "Gun for a Coward," also is on the bill.



IN ORDER TO WIN, Junior Fair pig showmen must display their pigs to the best advantage possible in the ring. Here, Charles McCoy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles McCoy of the Bloomingburg-New Holland Rd., gives the judge a look of unashamed pride as he demonstrates handling. Charles will use the same techniques on his own hogs as he uses here with this Yorkshire.

Fair Hog Show Is Expected To Overflow Barn

Several Exhibits To Have Entries Here for First Time

A feature-studded swine show today was shaping up as one of the outstanding attractions of the Fair that opens here next Tuesday.

There not only will be more exhibitors than last year, but there also will be some who have not shown their hogs here for some time, if ever before.

Richard Babb, director in charge, said entries in the open classes alone already are in from 20 different breeders of registered swine and added that a few more might be in the mail and not yet received and tallied.

In addition, there is the market hog show, one of the highlights of the livestock department of the Fair this year.

Babb estimated there would be between 200 and 250 hogs in the open show and at least 50 more in the market hog show. That will make a total of more than 250, not counting the entries by 4-H boys and girls in competition with the major breeders.

INDICATIONS are that all of the 72 permanent pens in the hog barn will not nearly take care of all the entries. Plans are being made now to put 12 temporary pens in the aisles of the barn and 15 more under a tent.

Many of the exhibitors are Fayette County breeders, but several will ship in from a distance.

While what is generally referred to as the "open show" takes in only the registered hogs, the market hog show and sale is for market hogs, regardless of breed; they need not be registered and they need not be purebred; all that is required is that they be the kind the pork buyer wants.

CLASSES have been made for six breeds in the open show — Poland Chinas, Spotted Poland Chinas, Yorkshires, Chester Whites, Durocs and Hampshires.

Checking over the entries already filed, Babb said indications are that the Poland Chinas will be most numerous, with the Hampshires, Yorkshires and Durocs following in that order.

H. H. Hart of Columbus, president of the Ohio Swine Breeders and Feeders Assn., will be the judge.

Judging of the Poland Chinas, Spotted Poland Chinas and Yorkshired will start at 8 a. m. Wednesday. Judging of the market hogs will start at 8 a. m. Thursday with the judging of the Chester Whites, Durocs and Hampshires to follow.

All hogs must be in their pens at 6 p. m. Tuesday. This will give the exhibitors a chance to get them ready for the judging early the next day.

THERE WILL be 15 classes for each breed in the open show with the cash awards ranging from a top of $6 to $2. However, it is the ribbons that the exhibitors really want, because they reflect the prestige of certain blood lines when they sell their stock for breeding purposes.

While the market hog show will draw its share of the spotlight Thursday morning, the sale, starting at 5 o'clock that evening, will be one of the principal centers of interest to farmers, who depend on the hogs they send to market for a sizable share of their income.

Trophies and other awards have been put up for the market hog show by more than a score of firms and individuals.

Dairy Cattle Showmen Get Advice from Adults

The Junior Fair dairy showmen, who will compete for honors at the Fair next week, got many a good pointer for the dairy cattle show at the Frank Dill farm, Creek Rd. two weeks ago, from the directors of the Fayette County Dairy Assn.

Some 25 4-H dairy club members, advisors and parents gathered for a demonstration on proper handling of 4-H cattle.

Chief instructor for the evening was Dan McGrew, extension dairyman from Ohio State University. He discussed selection of 4-H projects, feeding of dairy cattle and fitting a calf for the 4-H dairy show.

This was the first county-wide dairy training meet for 4-H members. It is hoped that this form of training can be continued in succeeding years. Refreshments for the evening were furnished by the Med-O-Pure Dairy.

No Traffic Deaths

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — Over 60,000,000 buses, cars and trucks have passed through the Norfolk-Portsmouth tunnel under the Elizabeth river here in five years without a single traffic fatality. There have been only 265 vehicle collisions in the one-mile tunnel.

Honey of an Idea

SEATLE (AP) — City employes aren't going to have to send an SOS for a beekeeper any more when bees swarm on traffic lights —as they did at least twice last year. The city has bought two beekeeper outfits—veils, gloves and "smoker" device. It nicked the city budget for $10.

Plot Is Uncovered

LONDON, Ky. (AP) — Burglars found a hiding place for the $200 in deeds, bonds and other papers they took from a local florist.

They buried the loot in a partly dug grave in the cemetery.

The cemetery custodian found the papers the next morning.

Woman Surgeon Has Many Talents

NEWARK, N. J. (AP) — A tall, green-eyed brunette, senior resident surgeon at St. Barnabas' Hospital Center here, has invaded a variety of fields marked "for men only."

No matter whether she wears rubber gloves for surgery, baseball gloves or even fencing gloves, many men will make a bow before Dr. Christine Haycock.

With her rubber gloves she performs surgery and she hopes to become the first woman certified by the Board of the American College of Surgeons in New Jersey.

After work, just to relax, she puts on her leather baseball glove and off she goes to play softball in the National Girls Softball League, with the Linden, N. J., Arians.

With the fencing glove and foil she's equally at home and in 1949-50, while studying medicine, she became New Jersey's woman fencing champion.

She's also a captain in the reserves and was the first woman interne at the Army's Walter Reed Hospital.

But don't think that the pretty young woman surgeon is interested only in fields reserved for men.

Danny Kaye Gives Warning

In the old days there were burlesque, small-time vaudeville and big-time vaudeville. Now a newcomer goes on television — and has to be good.

"Or he's told, 'you'll never have it,' " the comic continued.

"There's less opportunity than ever to develop a number of sides of your talent.

"Suppose you wanted to be a doctor. You wouldn't wake up some morning, go to a hospital and say, 'I've decided I want to be a doctor. Give me a scalpel.' "

Comedy also requires a lot of training, but, said Danny: "A lot of newcomers don't realize it's an art, a profession, and you have to study hard."

Kaye, himself, Brooklyn-born has "done everything in show business you could do" — except TV. That included summer-resort entertaining, traveling shows, night clubs, vaudeville, Broadway, radio.

"Everybody has to go through a painful learning process," he advised. "There are a lot of talented comedians around. But if they don't develop, they'll find they're not going ahead."

Even for veterans, however, he is against "overexposure." If he ever goes on television, it won't be oftener than once a month.

"Only a few can go on week after week and not have their work deteriorate. Mr. (Jack) Benny is a prime example of one who can. He'll go on for a hundred years. All of his experience has accumulated into a rounded character."

To avoid overexposure on the screen, Kaye never has made more than one picture a year. His current "Merry Andrew" is his 12th in 14 years.

He said he devoted almost all of last year to UNICEF — the United Nations International Children's Emergency Fund. As its ambassador at large he visited hospitals, nutritional centers and child aid organizations from England to Nigeria and from Spain to Isreal.

"I get tremendous satisfaction out of it," he said.

"There's less opportunity than ever to develop a number of sides of your talent.

"Suppose you wanted to be a doctor. You wouldn't wake up some morning, go to a hospital and say, 'I've decided I want to be a doctor. Give me a scalpel.' "

Comedy also requires a lot of training, but, said Danny: "A lot of newcomers don't realize it's an art, a profession, and you have to study hard."

Kaye, himself, Brooklyn-born has "done everything in show business you could do" — except TV. That included summer-resort entertaining, traveling shows, night clubs, vaudeville, Broadway, radio.

"Everybody has to go through a painful learning process," he advised. "There are a lot of talented comedians around. But if they don't develop, they'll find they're not going ahead."

Even for veterans, however, he is against "overexposure." If he ever goes on television, it won't be oftener than once a month.

"Only a few can go on week after week and not have their work deteriorate. Mr. (Jack) Benny is a prime example of one who can. He'll go on for a hundred years. All of his experience has accumulated into a rounded character."

To avoid overexposure on the screen, Kaye never has made more than one picture a year. His current "Merry Andrew" is his 12th in 14 years.

He said he devoted almost all of last year to UNICEF — the United Nations International Children's Emergency Fund. As its ambassador at large he visited hospitals, nutritional centers and child aid organizations from England to Nigeria and from Spain to Isreal.

"I get tremendous satisfaction out of it," he said.

Adults Give Youngsters Tips On Pig Showmanship for Fair

Close to 50 4-H pig club members met at the Ray Warner farm, Fairview Rd., several days ago, and got a lesson from their elders in swine showmanship.

The lesson, which included some incidental advice on preparing hogs for the Fair and handling them through Fair week was the second annual one of its kind sponsored by the Fayette County Pork Producers Assn.

Change of Venue

WAYNE, W. Va. (AP) — Times have changed.

In predominantly rural Wayne County, men have been ruling the roosts for centuries—including the ministering of justice as jurors. But under a recent change in the state constitution women now serve on juries. And the effect here was almost revolutionary. On the first panel drawn were 55 women and 24 men.

Futile Cutting Action

VIRGINIA BEACH, Va. (AP) — Faced with a big budget problem the mayor and city council here eliminated their own salaries—$900 for the mayor, $600 each for councilmen. Budget is still $114,692 higher than last year.

Valuable Worms Hooked

RHODELL, W. Va. (AP) — Some "worm" wormed his way into Fred Barker's establishment, he told police, and made off with 20,000 of his fishing worms imported from Africa. He valued the worms at $3,000.

Home Furnishing and Handwork Exhibits To Cover Wide Field

A few classification changes have been made this year regarding items to be entered in the home furnishings and handwork division of the fair here next week.

Crocheted, knitted and woven stoles will be judged in separate classes instead of collectively. In the clothing division pedal pushers have replaced the slacks classification and pictures painted by number and by free hand will be judged separately.

As usual competition in the home furnishings unit is open only to women in Fayette County and all who visit this display will see some of the finest needlework, knitting, fashion accessories and other handwork.

Mrs. Mac Dews Jr., is the superintendant of this division. Her assistants are Mrs. Ottice Stookey and Mrs. Jack S. White.

The quilt division will include old and new pieced quilts, appliqued old and new quilts, novelty baby quilts, afghans of woolen, cotton or any fiber novelties, embroidered pillow cases and handmade lace pillow cases.

On exhibit will be hooked or punched yarn rugs, hooked or punched rag rugs (wool or cotton,) crocheted, knit or braided rugs and homemade novelty rugs.

IN THE NEEDLEWORK classification will be five-piece homemade lace or embroidered lunch eon sets, centerpieces over 14 inches, centerpieces under 14 inches, novelty doilies, any size crocheted cloths, three piece buffet or vanity sets, scarves and runners and crocheted stoles or wraps.

An award will be given for the most interesting specimen of edging or insertion.

Tatting classifications are pillow towels, handerchiefs in sets of three and novelty articles.

Knitting to be exhibited will include sweaters, stoles or wraps, socks and gloves.

Living room items to be displayed are homemade chairback sets or tidies; sofa cushions; interesting odd accessories; homemade free hand pictures in oil, watercolor or novelty and specimens of needlepoint.

AMONG the subdivision in the clothing division are afternoon, sport or tailored dresses, formal or evening dresses and pajama suits.

Other subdivisions include dresses and aprons made from feed sacks, as well as party and novelty aprons. Pedal pushers will be judged, also sun dresses, blouses and unusual sun suits.

Clothing for infants up to two years will include homemade baby shoes or booties, knitted or crocheted outfits, dresses or rompers, sunsuits and sundresses.

Garments to be displayed in tow to six years old classification are homemade coat or coat sets girls dresses or boys' suits boys' tailored or sport shirts and coats for girls six years old or older will also be judged in this unit.

Fashion accessories for ladies to be judged will included hats and purse sets and any other homemade accessories.

Woven articles to be judged this year will include huck weaving on garments, towels and any other articles and woven stoles or wraps.

In the handcraft corner, judges will review pictures painted by number, novelty jewelry, metal etching in aluminum or copper, hand-decorated figurines, any home stencil or painting work item, guest towels, pot holders, stuffed dolls, doll clothes, original gift wrappings, party favors and party centerpieces.

More To Sport than Money

All Fair Race Winners To Be Given Trophies

Not many horsemen expect to make any real money from their participation in the sport of racing; most of them feel they have been successful if they can break even.

But, there is more than money to this fast-growing sport of rural America, gone urban, for the horsemen; it is that intangible something that goes with the love of the sport--the satisfaction of developing a winner, the thrill of the drive down the stretch and the trophy that will long remain as a refresher of those happy memories.

With this in mind, 16 individuals and firms have put up a trophy for every one of the four races on each of the four days of racing next week at the Fayette County Fair. These trophies range all the way from silver platters to racing equipment.

WEDNESDAY
2-yr.-old trot	$1,000 stake	silver platter	Heber Roe Jewelers
3-yr.-old pace	$1,000 stake	silver tray	Steen Dept. Store
22 class pace	$500	blanket	Fayette Limestone
THURSDAY
2-yr.-old pace	$1,000 stake	silver platter	Record-Herald
30 class pace	$500	silver tray	Brandenburg Garage
24 class trot	$500	horse statuette	Moore's Dream House
18 class pace	$500	silver pitcher	Carroll Halliday
FRIDAY
3-yr.-old trot	$1,000 stake	silver platter	Sagar Dairy
2-yr.-old trot	$500	silver tray	Kirk Furniture
24 class pace	$500	silver tray	Schorr Jewelers
18 class pace	$500	silver tray	Anderson Restaurant
SATURDAY
22 class trot	$500	blanket	Bryant's Restaurant
26 class pace	$500	halter	Sanderson's Hardware
18 class trot	$500	blanket	Rendezvous Room
2-yr.-old pace	$500	silver platter	G. D. Baker & Sons

In all probability, most of the presentations will be made by the donors, or their representatives, in front of the grandstand at the conclusion of each race.

The horses, and drivers in their bright racing colors, will be led to the post by Miss Barbara Rose, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Rose, mounted on her horse. She also will provide the escort to the winner's circle for the trophy presentation.

The positions of the horses at each quarter, and the time of the race, will be given by Dave Wetterman over the public address system. He also will introduce the winners at the conclusion of each dash and announce the time of each mile.

Ex-Mate Remains As Star's Agent

Her marital ties with the New Yorker were severed Wednesday. But under terms of a property settlement Soglio, 34, remains as her business agent and will continue to get five percent of her earnings.

The blonde, Swedish-born actress charged cruelty. She is 22 and is the leading lady in Bing Crosby's latest film. She and Soglio were married in July 1955 and separated in January 1956.

And, City Got Stuck

DETROIT (AP) — Chewing gum apparently isn't the answer to the financial problems of the Detroit Street Railway. Gum machines installed on 15 city buses dispensed only 9,830 sticks of gum at a penny a stick in a five-week trial. The city's cut was $14.75.

Cattle Shows May Be Smaller Here this Year

Both Beef and Dairy Classes Will Have Quality, However

The cattle show at the Fair here next week will not be as big as some of the record - breakers that have been held in the past, Sam Marting, director in charge, admitted with a note of disappointment after looking over the entries.

The drop in the cattle market from the high prices of a few years ago and the pressure of rain - interrupted farm work were blamed for the decrease in entries.

Marting explained that raising registered show cattle is not only a big business, but that it takes a lot of time to get them ready for the judge, and added, that "breeders just didn't have that kind of time this spring and early summer."

HOWEVER, even with the slump in entries, there was every indication that the cattle show would be well worth the time any livestock farmers takes to see the show.

There will be classes for only two beef breeds—Herefords and Angus— but there will be four for the dairy cattle— Guernsey, Jersey, Ayrshire and Holstein.

There will be more entries in the dairy cattle show than that for beef cattle, Marting predicted.

With 29 breeders in the Fayette County Hereford Breeders Assn. there will be no lack of interest in the judging, both in the open classes and in the Junior Fair show.

JUDGING by George R. Wilson, beef cattle specialist and widely known judge from Ohio State University, will start at 9 a. m. Thursday and Marting said indications now are that it will be completed by noon.

Judging of the 4-H club steer classes is to start at 1 p. m.— and this is expected to be one of the big attractions of the Fair that day, as it always has been.

The Hereford futurity, sponsored by the Fayette County Hereford Breeders Assn., has been abandoned and the prize money that went into that has been diverted to the open classes for beef cattle to raise the awards to as high as $12 for first place in most.

Top awards in the dairy classes are $10 with $5 for second and $2 for third.

Marting said that while there would be fewer entries, he felt certain that those breeders who did take the time to get a show herd ready would have as good stock as there ever has been here. This was based on two factors: (1) If a breeder is taking out a show herd, he is making a business of it and will not cut corners and (2) the awards here as better than of most fairs.

'Tent Theater' for Youth at Fair

Hundreds of Fayette County boys and girls are getting ready for the junior fair activities to be held at the "Tent Theater for Youth" at Fair here next week. This year will be the tenth that the tent has been made available by The Dayton Power and Light Co.

The 40 by 60 tent theatre will be equipped with an elevated stage, complete with an operating all-electric kitchen, moveable curtains and a public address system for use in staging a great variety of Junior Fair activities. A special elevated walk-way has been constructed for the annual style review.

A. E. Weatherly, DP&L district manager, pointed out that the purpose of the tent is to encourage youth to maintain an interest in rural activities so they may be better equipped to meet the problems of the future.

Tomorrow, the destiny of the cultural and business affairs of this county will be largely in the hands of these outstanding young people," he said.

Florida Plugging For Juice 'Break'

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP)—The rest of the country may urge weary motorists to stop for a coffee break, but in Florida it's got to be orange juice.

In a drive to curb accidents, the Florida Highway Patrol has been placing on automobiles stickers which read: "For safety's sake slow down and live. Stop for a coffee break."

This plugging of coffee aroused the ire of R. V. Phillips, a leading citrus man. He protested to the Florida Citrus Commission which carried the complaint to the patrol.

From now on the stickers will read: "Stop. Never drive while tired. Refresh with orange juice."

Actress Shuns Domestic Life

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Terry Moore says they'll never take a publicity picture of her peeling potatoes, sweeping the floor or cuddling kiddies by the fireplace.

The shapely actress whose ermine - trimmed bathing suit brought whistles and huzzas from GIs in Korea expounded:

"I feel that the less people know about your private life, the more glamorous you are."

Domestic-type publicity may be good for the likes of June Allyson or Debbie Reynolds because it goes with their screen roles, Terry continued.

"I may peel potatoes better than June Allyson, but, by golly, my public will never know it!" (she was vague about her prowess in the kitchen but indicated it holds little appeal.)

"The boys who go to movies look at me romantically. That's why they don't want to see me sitting around the hearth with with kids." (nor would she say whether she hopes to have tots to cuddle.)

As for posing in an apron like an ever-faithful-wife June Allyson.

"I don't play that kind of parts. I play sirens. I'm a natural blonde. Blue eyes, fresh scrubbed look. Don't drink or smoke—in private life or pictures.

"A sexy tomboy, an outdoor girl. The kind of a girl a guy dares to take home to mother. Yes, I'm a wholesome sexpot—you can say that. I think that's my main appeal."

Miss Moore, glamorous as could be for her role as a girl-about-town in "Peyton Place," wouldn't talk much, therefore, about her shaky marriage.

She has dropped her divorce suit against Panama businessman Eugene McGrath perding a talk with him after she finishes the picture. She said, "I think we'll work things out."

The best publicity, she opined, is "good parts. I don't think scandal is good publicity for me, because I play wholesome parts. Nor is domesticity good either."

Man's Best Friend Brings Irritation

Southbound Broad Street subway trains were held up for half an hour by a stray dog prowling along the tracks during the morning rush hour. Thousands of impatient passengers left the trains stopped at stations and sought other transportation—or walked—to work.

In France thre are more than 40 thousand statues of Joan of Arc.

The cattle show at the Fair here next week will not be as big as some of the record - breakers that have been held in the past, Sam Marting, director in charge, admitted with a note of disappointment after looking over the entries.

The drop in the cattle market from the high prices of a few years ago and the pressure of rain - interrupted farm work were blamed for the decrease in entries.

Marting explained that raising registered show cattle is not only a big business, but that it takes a lot of time to get them ready for the judge, and added, that "breeders just didn't have that kind of time this spring and early summer."

HOWEVER, even with the slump in entries, there was every indication that the cattle show would be well worth the time any livestock farmers takes to see the show.

There will be classes for only two beef breeds—Herefords and Angus— but there will be four for the dairy cattle— Guernsey, Jersey, Ayrshire and Holstein.

There will be more entries in the dairy cattle show than that for beef cattle, Marting predicted.

With 29 breeders in the Fayette County Hereford Breeders Assn. there will be no lack of interest in the judging, both in the open classes and in the Junior Fair show.

JUDGING by George R. Wilson, beef cattle specialist and widely known judge from Ohio State University, will start at 9 a. m. Thursday and Marting said indications now are that it will be completed by noon.

Judging of the 4-H club steer classes is to start at 1 p. m.— and this is expected to be one of the big attractions of the Fair that day, as it always has been.

The Hereford futurity, sponsored by the Fayette County Hereford Breeders Assn., has been abandoned and the prize money that went into that has been diverted to the open classes for beef cattle to raise the awards to as high as $12 for first place in most.

Top awards in the dairy classes are $10 with $5 for second and $2 for third.

Marting said that while there would be fewer entries, he felt certain that those breeders who did take the time to get a show herd ready would have as good stock as there ever has been here. This was based on two factors: (1) If a breeder is taking out a show herd, he is making a business of it and will not cut corners and (2) the awards here as better than of most fairs.

'Tent Theater' for Youth at Fair

Hundreds of Fayette County boys and girls are getting ready for the junior fair activities to be held at the "Tent Theater for Youth" at Fair here next week. This year will be the tenth that the tent has been made available by The Dayton Power and Light Co.

The 40 by 60 tent theatre will be equipped with an elevated stage, complete with an operating all-electric kitchen, moveable curtains and a public address system for use in staging a great variety of Junior Fair activities. A special elevated walk-way has been constructed for the annual style review.

A. E. Weatherly, DP&L district manager, pointed out that the purpose of the tent is to encourage youth to maintain an interest in rural activities so they may be better equipped to meet the problems of the future.

Tomorrow, the destiny of the cultural and business affairs of this county will be largely in the hands of these outstanding young people," he said.

Florida Plugging For Juice 'Break'

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP)—The rest of the country may urge weary motorists to stop for a coffee break, but in Florida it's got to be orange juice.

In a drive to curb accidents, the Florida Highway Patrol has been placing on automobiles stickers which read: "For safety's sake slow down and live. Stop for a coffee break."

This plugging of coffee aroused the ire of R. V. Phillips, a leading citrus man. He protested to the Florida Citrus Commission which carried the complaint to the patrol.

From now on the stickers will read: "Stop. Never drive while tired. Refresh with orange juice."

Actress Shuns Domestic Life

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Terry Moore says they'll never take a publicity picture of her peeling potatoes, sweeping the floor or cuddling kiddies by the fireplace.

The shapely actress whose ermine - trimmed bathing suit brought whistles and huzzas from GIs in Korea expounded:

"I feel that the less people know about your private life, the more glamorous you are."

Domestic-type publicity may be good for the likes of June Allyson or Debbie Reynolds because it goes with their screen roles, Terry continued.

"I may peel potatoes better than June Allyson, but, by golly, my public will never know it!" (she was vague about her prowess in the kitchen but indicated it holds little appeal.)

"The boys who go to movies look at me romantically. That's why they don't want to see me sitting around the hearth with with kids." (nor would she say whether she hopes to have tots to cuddle.)

As for posing in an apron like an ever-faithful-wife Jure Allyson.

"I don't play that kind of parts. I play sirens. I'm a natural blonde. Blue eyes, fresh scrubbed look. Don't drink or smoke—in private life or pictures.

"A sexy tomboy, an outdoor girl. The kind of a girl a guy dares to take home to mother. Yes, I'm a wholesome sexpot—you can say that. I think that's my main appeal."

Miss Moore, glamorous as could be for her role as a girl-about-town in "Peyton Place," wouldn't talk much, therefore, about her shaky marriage.

She has dropped her divorce suit against Panama businessman Eugene McGrath perding a talk with him after she finishes the picture. She said, "I think we'll work things out."

The best publicity, she opined, is "good parts. I don't think scandal is good publicity for me, because I play wholesome parts. Nor is domesticity good either."

Man's Best Friend Brings Irritation

Southbound Broad Street subway trains were held up for half an hour by a stray dog prowling along the tracks during the morning rush hour. Thousands of impatient passengers left the trains stopped at stations and sought other transportation—or walked—to work.

Fair of Today Is Far Cry from First One 100 Years Ago

By B. E. KELLEY

Although reports indicate that the first Fair in Fayette County was held 115 years ago, or back in 1842, as carried in a copy of The Daily Herald of July 7, 1870, the only authentic record available so far as I know, shows that the first Fair conducted by a duly organized company was in 1859.

In the fairs held prior to 1859, no record seems available as to their location, but in all probability they were held on the "Old Fair Grounds," now known as the "Washington Oaks", bordered on the north by Columbus Ave., south by Willard St., and the west by the Eastside School ground.

Records in possession of Mrs. Max Dice, chairman of the committee of records and research of the Fayette County Historical Society, show that the first fair company was organized April 18, 1859, or 98 years ago, and that it had 132 stockholders.

Stock was sold at $5 per share and this meant that a sizeable sum was made available for holding the fair and that income from gate receipts, concessions, etc., reached proportions sufficient to meet all expenses and probable have a nest egg left.

WHEN THE FIRST fairs were held here there were no Ferris wheels, no merry-go-rounds, no "rides", no lemonade, no this, that and the other which are today very much a part of any fair.

First buildings were makeshift sheds for horses, rail or pole pens for cattle, hogs and sheep and small wooden structures for housing the fancy work, fruits and vegetables.

The race track on the "Old Fairground" was a small oval on the south side of the ground, with the stables along Columbus Avenue.

The first race course, I am told, was a straightaway in which the horses were run the full length then turned and run back, or else timed in the one straightaway run.

I recall an old, weather beaten structure which stood on the "Old Fairground" just about where Lincoln Drive curves in front of the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Terhune. It was torn down 40 to 45 years ago.

Other buildings on the ground had vanished 50 years ago.

At that time there were many more trees on the grounds than now. Nearly all were large oaks.

There was a sulphur spring on the eastern edge of the ground. It flowed in almost all kinds of weather until the East End Sewer was built across the ground 150 feet from the eastern edge.

WHEN FAIRS were held on the "Old Fairground" until 1885, it was just as big event to the people in those days as the present fairs are to the people of today.

No one dreamed that time that some day their descendants would be riding to fairs in "horseless carriages" traveling 60 miles an hour— or more, and that the ground would be brilliantly lighted with electricity that was then unknown.

No one dreamed of two - row cultivators, cornplanters, tractors and other equipment which would completely change the farm set-up, and fair exhibits.

Anyway the old time fairs were marvelous events. Among the favorite sports, in addition to horse racing, were pitching horse shoes and wrestling.

Travel was by horseback, cart, buckboard and wagon. I am sure that in the real early fairs, they came in by ox-drawn carts and other vehicles pulled by "Buck" and "Mike".

Those early fairs on the "Old Fairground" brought together the bewhiskered farmers and business and professional men of the entire county, as well as their sun-bonneted wives, sons and daughters. The squatty hats of the men would look much out of place today as those "leg-o-mutton" sleeves on women's dresses and coats back in the "gay nineties".

A GREAT MANY of those attending the early fairs could neither read nor write. They had little money to spend, but they attended the fairs nevertheless, and thought them just about the greatest things on earth.

After fairs were no longer held on the tract in the eastern part of the city—which was very much outside the village at that time—it was used for years for circuses and other gatherings. Around 1895 "Buffalo Bill" (William F. Cody) who was buried on "Lookout Mountain" near Denver, Colo., overlooking the plains, appeared with his Wild West Show Annie Oakley the famous marksswoman, was with his show.

Down through the years dozens of shows used the ground until the tract was platted and filled with fine homes.

It was in 1885 that a new "Fayette County Fair Company" was organized. The first catalog, in the hands of Mrs. Dice, announced the fair would be "held on the company's new and beautiful grounds" Oct. 5 to 9, 1886.

The directors of the new fair company in 1886 were: F. M Black, Ace Gregg, E. A. Ramsey, H M. Daugherty, O. H. Saxton, A. B. Rankin Harry B. Dahl, M. J. Williams, L. C Coffman, F. G. Carpenter, John A. Worrell, L. W. Buckmaster, James H. Allen, H. D. Purseli and Thomas D. McElwain. Black was the president, Daugherty secretary and Ace Gregg, the treasurer.

THE 132 stockholders in the Fayette County Fair project in 1859 were:

Adam Allen, Benjamin Allen, Eathan Allen, Eber Allen, I. Bybee, Nathaniel Blackmore, W. H. Blackmore, Adley Bostwick, David Bryson, R. M. Briggs, Abraham Bush, John R. Baily, I. N. Beatty, Henry Bowers, Richard Brock, George Brock, Even H. Carr, Micrael Carr, Moses Carl, Hugh Campbell, George Cremer, Jacob Carr, Sol G. Cunningham, Joshua Colaw, Samuel Coffman, W. M. Creamer, J. B. Creamer, Westley Cheshire, M. C. Creamer, Benjamin Core, Nathan Coffman, Wallace Cremer, Lenox Campbell, Jerome Drais, I. L. Ely, Nathaniel Edwards, Robert Eyre, Simon Fulton, E. L. Ford, D. Furtwanger, A. Goolsbery, Benjamin Glaze, Jacob Grove, John W. Gillespie, E. Henkle, I. H. Hays, William Hays, Gillespie E. Hinkle, I. H. Hays, William Hays, William Hagler, Allen Hagler, John Hays, Willis Hays, David V. Harrison, Benjamin Hixon, William Harrison, Jesse Hagler, Scott Harrison, C. H. Higbee, Milton Hegler, Paris Horney, J. M. Houston, J. T. Houston, Charles Herold, Morgan Hays, Joseph Hidy, Jr., John J. Harrison, G. W. Janes, Harrison Janes, James Jones, Alvaro Jamison, V. F Johnson, John Iron, G. F. Kerr, Henry Kirk, J. Larimer, Thomas Larimer, Alexander Manery, J. M. Menery, Curran Millikan, Augustine Myers, Daniel McLean, Andrew Morris, John Messmore, John L. Myers, F. J. Messmore, Abram McCoy, Felty McKillip, A. M. McCoy;

William McElwain, Samuel Myers, A. M. Ogle, Russell Parrott, Jonathan Pancoast, Elias Parrott, Henry Pursley, John M. Pinkerton, William Pinkerton, Shreve Pancoast, A. F. Parrott, James Pursell, William Palmer, C. A. Palmer, C. Parvin, William Richards, Willis Rowe, Martin Rowe, Hamilton Rogers, H. Rogers, Jackson Rogers, William Ross, Singleton Robinson, Chipman Robinson, W. B Rogers Willson Rogers, William Smith, Elias Straley, Isaac I. Sperry, Nathaniel Squires, Thomas H. Sexton, Nathaniel Squires, Justice Squires, John Stookey, John Taylor, Gilbert Terrill, Holland Trimble, Thomas Thompson, Samuel Willson, Jesse J. Worthington, Henry Wendle, M. B. Wright, Daniel Wood, A. W. Wright, L. D. Willard, Amos Wright, J. H. Wilson, Joel Wood and John Yates.

The "new ground" has been used since that time, with exception of a few years for annual fairs and other gatherings.

The early buildings included the present grandstand, which has been changed but little; an art hall, an octagonal building which stood immediately south of the present Merchant's Building; a fruit and vegetable hall which stood north of the grandstand and a few livestock barns and two long strings of shed barns for horses.

The grandstand was nearing completion when the cyclone swept through the countryside and city, Sept. 8, 1885. However, it withstood the violent wind without material damage, and has since weathered numerous severe storms.

The new fair company continued to hold fairs each year until around the turn of the century. Since that time two or three different organizations have had charge of the event, with varying success.

For many years, after the fairs opened on the new tract where they are still held, it was nothing unusual to see the place covered with horses and buggies, carriages and farm wagons, buckboards and carts.

In those days practically all of the farm folk attending the fairs took their dinners which were left in their vehicles until the noon or supper hour (it was not lunch and dinner in those days) and Fair-ground police were kept busy preventing thieves from stealing the food.

Likewise the farm folk always took corn and hay for their horses, for feeding the horses was just as important as feeding themselves.

Cabinet Wife Ready To Return to Ohio

By JANE EADS

WASHINGTN — Mrs. George Humphrey, wife of the retiring secretary of the Treasury, isn't concerned about the problems of moving their Washington household belongings back to their home near Cleveland, Ohio.

"It's not too difficult when you're moving back to a place you've lived in some 25 or 30 years," she explained. "I haven't even started packing."

Gentle-voiced, friendly and unassuming Pam Humphrey, one of the most popular of the Cabinet wives, says their stay here has been a "very rewarding experience."

"But I can't honestly say I'm sorry to be going back to my family," she admitted, "and it certainly will be easier than living half in one place and half in another."

Mrs. Humphrey says they will remain in Washington until Congress adjourns, making only occasional weekend visits to Holiday Hill, their farm near Cleveland. Their three children all live nearby.

Junior Fair Show Tuesday Night in Front of Grandstand

It will be the first all - junior grandstand show in history. Previously, all grandstand shows have been put on by outside organizations, such as those that will present shows Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday this year.

Here are some of the events on the busy youth night program:

(1) A saddle horse parade, due to start at 7:30 p. m., and to highlight the coronation of the yet-to-be-selected queen of the Junior Fair;

(2) The queen's coronation on the grandstand stage, marked by colorful fanfare and pageantry; and

(3) A spangled and colorful evening-long talent show, to start about 8 p. m. and run on far, far into the night.

THE TALENT show, featuring 4-H boys and girls of all ages in a wide variety of acts, culminates weeks of diligent practice and preparation by the young people. Advance observers say it's sure to show that the youngsters learn something in 4-H besides better farming techniques!

Barbara Sue Knisley is Junior Fair board member in charge of the program, which comprises this year's recreation and rural arts show. Junior superintendents are Glenna Watkins and Mary Cook, while Mrs. Jesse Crago is superintendent.

First prize vocal music winners will get a $5 award from the Merriweather Motor Co., while a $2.50 second prize will come from the Cecil West Radiator and Welding Co.

For dramatics, Ralph Hickman, Inc., will donate a $5 first prize and Dunlop Tire and Battery Co. will donate $2.50 for second.

The Washington C. H. police department is donating $5 for the first place dancing demonstration, while the Dunlop Co. is also donating a $2.50 second prize.

Instrumental music prizes include a $5 first from the Richard R. Willis Insurance Co., and a $2.50 second from I. J. Quinn Co.

Admission to the program will be free.

Exhibitors include:

WHOLESOME COMPETITION is the keynote of the Junior Fair - - so much so that Sammy Forsythe, 11, of Good Hope-Austin Rd., will be competing against his sister, Linda, 14, in the same division of the cattle show. Which will do better? "It doesn't make any difference," Mrs. Wayne Forsythe, their mother, said: "they'll split the prize money." (Record-Herald photo)

Rabbits, Poultry To Be at Fair too

Exhibits Planned With Eye To Future

The Junior Fair poultry and rabbit exhibits may look small this year—but that doesn't mean they're dying out, officials emhasize.

"Through a series of slips that were nobody's fault, interest just didn't get drummed up as soon as it might this year," one observer explained.

"But some top talent has entered this year's show," he continued, saying "and it will give us a good start for the years to come."

Eight entries have been recorded in the poultry class so far, and four in the rabbit division.

Mrs. Ancil Creamer is superintendent of the division, which will be judged at 2 p.m. Wednesday by G. F. Crumbacher, registered American Poultry Assn. judge from Rossmoyne.

FIRST-YEAR rabbit exhibitors must show one doe and one litter while those in the upper brackets must show a senior and junior buck or a senior and junior doe. Premiums will be $1.50, $1.25 and $1.

For poultry, exhibits must contain three pullets or three hens if from a production project; or three cockerels if from a broiler project. Water fowl must be entered in pairs and turkeys in single entries. Premiums are to be $2, $1.50 and $1. A poultry sweepstakes trophy will be given by the Farmers National Farm Assn., R. E. Whiteside, secretary-treasurer.

Poultry exhibitors will include Charles Garringer, Ruth Cockerill, John Rockhold, Richard Smalley, Don Creamer, Karen Stephenson, and Roger and Tim Warner.

Rabbit exhibitors will be Jane Smith, Bill Gersback, Vickie Sue Anderson and Nelson Blackmore.

A notation in the lower left corner instructed the church credit $5 to the operating fund, $5 to the building fund, $5 to the United Unitarian appeal, and $5 to the Unitarian Service Committee.

"Everything was just fine," said the pastor, "except that the check was not signed."

Then a third bird appeared. It was a woodpecker. In jig-time the woodpecker drilled through the new board, enabling Mr. and Mrs. Starling to join their babies under the eaves.

Junior Fair Show Tuesday Night in Front of Grandstand

It will be the first all - junior grandstand show in history. Previously, all grandstand shows have been put on by outside organizations, such as those that will present shows Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday this year.

Here are some of the events on the busy youth night program:

(1) A saddle horse parade, due to start at 7:30 p. m., and to highlight the coronation of the yet-to-be-selected queen of the Junior Fair;

(2) The queen's coronation on the grandstand stage, marked by colorful fanfare and pageantry; and

(3) A spangled and colorful evening-long talent show, to start about 8 p. m. and run on far, far into the night.

Clubs Take Part In Flower Show

Classes for Men Only Are Set Up

Flowers on display at the Fair this year will be particularly fresh and beautiful due to the cooperation of the Garden Clubs.

Each day three different Garden clubs will make one entry in each class in sections one and two. Open only to garden clubs, there will be no judging in these sections and the clubs will share equally in the prize money.

Garden Clubs participating on Wednesday will be Buckeye, Posy and Twin Oaks. On Thursday Busy Bee, Town and Country and Washington garden clubs will display their arrangements and Fayette, Marilee and Pic-Fay clubs will have their arrangements on Friday and Saturday.

Mrs. Maurice Sollars is the chairman of the Fair flower show and Mrs. George B. Stitt is her assistant.

FLOWERS in section one will include arrangements in a tea pot, bottles, wooden bowl, favorite container, shell, black container and arrangements suitable for a kitchen window. Others will consist of roses; foliage; grey foliage and flowers; and canna foliage and flowers.

Flowers of all colors will be displayed in "The Niche" in section two.

Open to all residents of Fayette County, section three includes large and small zinnias, large and small marigolds, petunias, hardy phlox, gladioli, cosmos, dahlias, roses, mixed flowers and any variety of lillies.

Blooms grown and exhibited by men only will be displayed in section four. These will include any variety of hybrid tea roses and floribunda roses in red, pink, yellow, white and blends. Included also in this section will be large and pom pom zinnias, large and small marigolds, petunias, hardy phlox, gladioli, cosmos, dahlias, lillies and other flowers.

BRAND NEW TO COMPETITION at 14, Peggy Garrison still thinks she might be able to show her Suffolk ewe and her cross-breed ram into the money. Peggy, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Garrison of Dogtown Rd., lives on a farm with the front yard in Ross County and the house in Fayette. (Record-Herald photo)

Town's Bank Reopened With a Bang--Literally

GOODRICH, Mich. (AP) — A firecracker 85-year-old Steve Hagel was saving for almost 50 years was set off recently when the 24-year bank holiday ended in Goodrich. The community of 500 people hasn't had a bank of its own since state banks were closed in February, 1933.

The firecracker Hagel set off was one he had left in a dresser drawer in 1908. He found it years later and promised himself not to fire it until a bank was opened again in the town.

That's What Fayette Folks Are Saying These Days

Yes, Fair Week is one of the most exciting times of the year for many youngsters. For one thing it gives the 4 H Clubbers, Future Farmers and Homemakers a chance to display their accomplishments of the past year.

As for the adults, the Fayette Fair makes them proud to be living in such a wonderful part of the U. S. A. If you want to see the results of hard work and initiative, just take a look at the livestock show or the flower and baked goods displays. These are just examples of the many fine things that make our fair outstanding.

Pride in an area is not limited to individuals. We, as a company, are proud to be located in Fayette County. We are also happy that we are growing steadily --- creating more jobs and adding to the County's general prosperity.

Here's hoping we will see you at the Fair!

New Rides and Shows Set for Fair Midway

Something new and something different has been the primary objective of the Fair Board in its year-long development of a Midway for the Fair here next week.

Working in close co-operation with the F. E. Gooding Amusement Co., of Columbus, the concessions committee of three Fair directors, Frank E. Ellis, John Sagar and H. H. Denton, said they feel they have achieved this objective this year.

Of course, there are some of the old standbys that have been a part of the Fair for so long the Midway would not be a Midway without them. But, of the eight rides that will be set up by the Gooding Co., two will be strictly new and different. One of them is called "The Scrambler" and the other is a combination of ride and show, called "The Witch Castle."

With these will be the Ferris wheel, the merry-go-round, a 16-car "octapus," rolly coaster and tilt-a-whirl. While the thrills these rides provide is not strictly new, much of the equipment is either new, or just out of the shops where it was completely overhauled, F. E. Gooding, headman of the amusement company, said.

Realizing that the outdoor show's greatest potential customer is the small fry, Gooding said his company representatives continuously comb the country's leading amusement parks and makes consistent inquiries among the manufacturers of riding devices in search of something new.

For the tiny tots especially, there will be two old favorites at the Fair here--the auto ride and the tank ride. Customers for these two rides are somewhat limited by age and size, but they have been popular year after year here. One member of the committee commented: "A lot of kiddies would be disappointed if they did not have these rides and we just couldn't have that."

The four shows, booked for the Midway through the Gooding Co., are the Fun House, Chrystal Maze (something different), a freak show, featuring "the smallest man in the world" and the Witch Castle.

These nine rides and four shows will form the backbone of the Midway but will be by no means all of it.

There also will be a wide variety of small concessions, those typical little tent booths that have been a part of the Fair for years and years.

A taboo on games of chance and girl shows has long been a policy of the Fair board here.

The Midway— that gaudy, colorful and raucus area set aside for fun— will be just inside the main gate on Fairview Ave., right where it has been for many years.

The Midway has been gradually expanding at the Fair here, and this year is no exception. Members of the committee said it will not only bulge out a little further toward the grandstand and on both sides, but also that the attractions will be packed in a little tighter.

Boys Will Be Boys

KENOSHA, Wisc. (AP) — A tussle at a local home for aged wound up with a man in his late 70s striking a 65-year-old companion with a glass jar, knocking him over a table.

The older man, complaining of a remark by the other man, said he "wasn't taking that from younger boys."

'The Woman's Voice Makes the Choice'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mrs. J. Allen Frear, wife of the Democratic senator from Delaware and new president of the Women's National Democratic Club, says "the woman's voice makes the choice."

Using this as the theme of her administration, Mrs.Frear and her cabinet of prominent Democratic women, many of them congressional wives, are launchng a program to make that voice an intelligent and effective one. She hopes it will inspire a Democratic victory in the 1958 congressional and 1960 presidential elections.

Since coming to Washington in 1949, Mrs. Frear has been active in many organizations.

When Congress adjourns she will be joined by her husband and daughter, Clara Louise, 14, at their usual vacation retreat, Sea Island, Ga. Their son, Fred, 23, is married and stationed with the Army at Ft. Meade Md.

"We're anticipating grandparenthood," she said, "and for that we need to rest up."

Though the senator is not up for re-election until 1960, his wife says "he never stops campaigning." She helps with speech-making throughout his district. When he can't get back to his constituency to keep an appointment, she makes his speech for him.

Real Thing Based On Mock Attack

The state is set for the final phases of a schoolroom demonstration by the Marine Troop Training Command of the Pacific Fleet amphibious force.

All phases of a five-day amphibious assault are presented in miniature, with both time and space reduced in scale. Model ships and planes and helicopters are used on a model ocean and model beach.

The Marine training command calls the setup its sand table. It is located in a long hall, with bleacher-type seats along each side for classes and spectators.

Coaching All Right As Temporary Job

BOULDER, COLO. (AP) — There'll be no football coaching in the life of Doak Walker, the former Southern Methodist All-America halfback and professional star.

"Coaching is a pretty good job," Walker says. "In fact, it's about the best temporary job a man can get these days." He stresses the word temporary.

Asked if he'd like coaching, Doak replied:

"The coaching — yes. The pressure—no."

Walker, who starred for the Detroit Lions from 1950 through 1955, now is making his home here and commutes daily to the Martin missile plant southwest of Denver where he works on a construction job.

Doak looks like any other construction worker. He wears a work shirt, loose-fitting trousers and tin helmet.

He admits his first year out of football was "pretty tough."

"But I don't have any plans to go back and play," Walker says. "I could have played longer all right. But I felt the longer I waited to get into business, the tougher it would be."

New Rides and Shows Set for Fair Midway

Something new and something different has been the primary objective of the Fair Board in its year-long development of a Midway for the Fair here next week.

Working in close co-operation with the F. E. Gooding Amusement Co., of Columbus, the concessions committee of three Fair directors, Frank E. Ellis, John Sagar and H. H. Denton, said they feel they have achieved this objective this year.

Of course, there are some of the old standbys that have been a part of the Fair for so long the Midway would not be a Midway without them. But, of the eight rides that will be set up by the Gooding Co., two will be strictly new and different. One of them is called "The Scrambler" and the other is a combination of ride and show, called "The Witch Castle."

With these will be the Ferris wheel, the merry-go-round, a 16-car "octapus," rolly coaster and tilt-a-whirl. While the thrills these rides provide is not strictly new, much of the equipment is either new, or just out of the shops where it was completely overhauled, F. E. Gooding, headman of the amusement company, said.

Realizing that the outdoor show's greatest potential customer is the small fry, Gooding said his company representatives continuously comb the country's leading amusement parks and makes consistent inquiries among the manufacturers of riding devices in search of something new.

For the tiny tots especially, there will be two old favorites at the Fair here--the auto ride and the tank ride. Customers for these two rides are somewhat limited by age and size, but they have been popular year after year here. One member of the committee commented: "A lot of kiddies would be disappointed if they did not have these rides and we just couldn't have that."

The four shows, booked for the Midway through the Gooding Co., are the Fun House, Chrystal Maze (something different), a freak show, featuring "the smallest man in the world" and the Witch Castle.

These nine rides and four shows will form the backbone of the Midway, but will be by no means all of it.

There also will be a wide variety of small concessions, those typical little tent booths that have been a part of the Fair for years and years.

A taboo on games of chance and girl shows has long been a policy of the Fair board here.

The Midway— that gaudy, colorful and raucus area set aside for fun— will be just inside the main gate on Fairview Ave., right where it has been for many years.

The Midway has been gradually expanding at the Fair here, and this year is no exception. Members of the committee said it will not only bulge out a little further toward the grandstand and on both sides, but also that the attractions will be packed in a little tighter.

Boys Will Be Boys

KENOSHA, Wisc. (AP) — A tussle at a local home for aged wound up with a man in his late 70s striking a 65-year-old companion with a glass jar, knocking him over a table.

The older man, complaining of a remark by the other man, said he "wasn't taking that from younger boys."

'The Woman's Voice Makes the Choice'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mrs. J. Allen Frear, wife of the Democratic senator from Delaware and new president of the Women's National Democratic Club, says "the woman's voice makes the choice."

Using this as the theme of her administration, Mrs.Frear and her cabinet of prominent Democratic women, many of them congressional wives, are launchng a program to make that voice an intelligent and effective one. She hopes it will inspire a Democratic victory in the 1958 congressional and 1960 presidential elections.

Since coming to Washington in 1949, Mrs. Frear has been active in many organizations.

When Congress adjourns she will be joined by her husband and daughter, Clara Louise, 14, at their usual vacation retreat, Sea Island, Ga. Their son, Fred, 23, is married and stationed with the Army at Ft. Meade Md.

"We're anticipating grandparenthood," she said, "and for that we need to rest up."

Though the senator is not up for re-election until 1960, his wife says "he never stops campaigning." She helps with speech-making throughout his district. When he can't get back to his constituency to keep an appointment, she makes his speech for him.

Real Thing Based On Mock Attack

The state is set for the final phases of a schoolroom demonstration by the Marine Troop Training Command of the Pacific Fleet amphibious force.

All phases of a five-day amphibious assault are presented in miniature, with both time and space reduced in scale. Model ships and planes and helicopters are used on a model ocean and model beach.

The Marine training command calls the setup its sand table. It is located in a long hall, with bleacher-type seats along each side for classes and spectators.

Coaching All Right As Temporary Job

BOULDER, COLO. (AP) — There'll be no football coaching in the life of Doak Walker, the former Southern Methodist All-America halfback and professional star.

"Coaching is a pretty good job," Walker says. "In fact, it's about the best temporary job a man can get these days." He stresses the word temporary.

Asked if he'd like coaching, Doak replied:

"The coaching — yes. The pressure—no."

Walker, who starred for the Detroit Lions from 1950 through 1955, now is making his home here and commutes daily to the Martin missile plant southwest of Denver where he works on a construction job.

Doak looks like any other construction worker. He wears a work shirt, loose-fitting trousers and tin helmet.

He admits his first year out of football was "pretty tough."

"But I don't have any plans to go back and play," Walker says. "I could have played longer all right. But I felt the longer I waited to get into business, the tougher it would be."

4-H Homemakers To Show Practical Results of Training

Early one morning last month a Fayette County mother confronted her high-school-age daughter and said: "I'm not feeling too well today. Would you give me a hand around the house?"

The daughter's answer was quick, thorough and unmistakably to the point. She prepared a man-sized breakfast for her father and her brothers started work on a hot dinner, and made plans for supper that night.

She did the washing, mended clothes, cleaned up around the house and made some entries in the household books.

She fixed an afternoon snack for her brother, made a pie for the evening meal and made sure there was enough food for the next day.

And in between times she had a chance to get some work done on a tailor-made suit she was sewing for herself.

THE ONLY unusual thing about this story is that it's not really unusual at all. The teen-ager in the case is one of some 500 such young people all over the county who are learning to cook, sew and keep house just like their mothers.

About 450 of them will have exhibits at this year's Fayette county fair.

For these young ladies, 4-H work is not just an institutionalized version of playing house. Their homemaking is homemaking on the grand scale, with rules just as strict as their mothers follow.

From the littlest 10-year-old fumbling with the stitches on a tea cloth to the above mentioned housekeeper cum laude, all these girls are expected to meet the most exacting professional standards.

They have to, if they want to do well at Fair. For the competition is stiff and the honors represent the sum total achievement of the whole 4-H homemaking year.

NATURALLY, projects are graded so the little girls just learning to cook are not matched against the tops in the group. But within each group, it's every girl for herself.

Within the sewing section alone, there are no fewer than 10 different classes. First-year girls work on the simplified projects in the standard 4-H "Let's Sew" text. Older girls work through simple articles to use and wear, easy-make-cotton dressed, undergarments, school clothes and sportswear.

In the higher division, contestants make themselves formals, tailored clothes dress-up dresses, and — finally — complete costumes, through from head to toe.

The youthful cooks learn to make salads and sandwiches, simple cooked foods, family snacks, and then, at last, full meals. After they've mastered the meals, they go on to canning, freezing, and finally the difficult art of baking pies, cookies, breads and cakes.

OTHER categories allow the girls to learn how to keep household accounts and similar arts of household management. Classes are even established for child care.

This year, as in other recent years, the actual judging of homemaking projects will not be done at the fair. Instead, Mrs. Norma Cunningham, extension home economics agent, will view all projects before the exposition starts.

On July 8 through 12 Mrs. Cunningham toured the various girl's 4-H clubs or had them come to her. She examined all projects, selected a string of finalists and did her final judging July 18.

By STEVE LIBBY
Central Press Assn.

Roughly halfway between South America's Cape Horn and the Cape of Good Hope in the Union of South Africa is Tristan da Cunha. This extinct volcano with a crater lake at its top rises 7,640 feet out of the South Atlantic Ocean and is 1,500 miles south-south-west of St. Helena, on which it is a dependency.

It's the loneliest spot in the world.

Now rarely seen either by tourist or sailor, Tristan de Cunha was an anticipated sight during the days of sailing ships, for it was a landmark in the barren waters between the two southern Capes.

The main island—Tristan—is some 40 square miles in land area. Gough island, 250 miles south-south east is slightly smaller. Nightingale and Inaccesible islands are the only other two in the group of six islands large enough for names. Inaccessible island is the home of the rare flightless rail, an almost extinct bird.

THIS ISOLATED volcanic group is called home by some 251 islanders, mainly of European descent. Some are descended from clipper-ship men whose sailing vessels crashed into the hidden rocks of the remote islands.

The only permanent settlement is Edinburgh, whose natives apparently do not object to their lack of contact with the outside world or the typically oceanic and well-distributed rainfall.

Tristan da Cunha has high humidity and a tendency toward strong winds and rapid changes of weather and temperature.

The main island was discovered in 1506 by a Portuguese fleet under the command of Adm. Tristao da Cunha, who noted in his logbook that the island was uninhabited. More than a century later it was sighted and charted by a British vessel and in 1810 three Americans settled on Tristan. Since that time the island has been permanently inhabited.

IN 1816 a small British garrison landed and formally annexed the islands. But the garrison was soon withdrawn and only three men, headed by a Cpl. William Glass, remained.

During the next 65 years the colony thrived, largly because of its positon on a main sailing route. New settlers—primarily from shipwrecks—brought Americans, Dutch St. Helenians and Italians.

In the 1880s a period of isolation and decline set in. This was due to the replacement of sail by steam, the opening of the Suez canal, the infestation of the island by rats, and a boat disaster in which 15 able-bodied islanders were lost.

Far off steamship lanes are the Tristan da Cunha isles.

IT WAS NOT until 50 years later that a missionary was officially recognized as the honorary commissioner and magistrate. He appointed a headman and a headwoman and set up an island council.

In 1938 a letters patent made Tristan da Cunha a dependency of St. Helena, though the administration has continued to be directly supervised by the British Colonial office.

Four years later a unit of the South African defense force built an important meteorological and wireless station which was, for the duration of the war, manned by the royal navy.

Since the conclusion of hostilities this lonesome post has been operated by the South African government.

It was during the war that a navy chaplain recognized the opportunities for a crawfish industry and, in 1949, the Tristan da Cunha Development company, Ltd., began operations. Today, frozen and canned crawfish tails, sold mainly to American markets, are shipped by the United Kingdom Development corporation, successor, by two refrigerated vessels.

THE COMPANY'S ships visit Cape Town at six-week intervals during the September-to-March fishing season. The wireless station—the island's only contact with the outside world—is in almost daily contact with Cape Town and with passing vessels.

Potatoes, apples and peaches are raised in small quantity on the barren island, and livestock is kept. The eggs of the albatross and penguin are gathered for consumption by the islanders. Wood is supplied by native juniper trees.

Traditionally a jack-of-all-trades, the typical islander has been slow to settle down to regular wage earning. Since 1951 the island labor force has been insufficient to meet the needs of the cannery and the fishing vessels.

The administration maintains a doctor and a nurse. The 60 children of school age are educated by a missionary society staffed by two teachers. A small reforstation program is now being developed and the company supports a small store on the island.

Surely but slowly, the people of Tristan da Cunha are enjoying more and more comforts. But nothing short of a miracle can change its designation as the loneliest place on earth.

Among the first to offer sympathy was Robert Arnold, a real estate man. When Arnold got back to his office, he found someone had stolen his air conditioner.

Display of Farm Machinery Will Be One of Fair's Biggest

Farmers will have an opportunity to see one of the biggest and best displays of farm machinery and farm equipment ever assembled here at the Fair next week.

H. H. Denton, director in charge of this feature of the Fair, said it is impossible to tell just what will be in the display before the dealers get their exhibits set up, but he had no hesitancy in saying that "this year's display will be as big as any we ever had here . . . if not bigger".

Because this is the heart of an agricultural community, extra-emphasis always has been placed on the farm equipment display. The Fair directors are convinced that Fair goers here, whether they are farmers or not, are vitally interested in the tools of the farmer's profession, the essentials to his business.

DENTON SAID all of the dealers who had displays last year had reserved space for exhibits as big or bigger, for next week. And, he added, some who have not had displays in the past may have them this year.

He also pointed out that while many of the new models have been out for sometime, it is impossible for a farmer to see them all together in such a compact space.

"There will be a lot of pieces of new equipment there that many farmers never have had a opportunity to see close up before," Denton said.

The farm machinery display, with all the many accessories and other smaller pieces of farm equipment will be placed in the area between the Merchants Building and the main drive behind the grandstand again this year.

Denton said his problem, as superintendent, is to find space for everything. He has faced a similar problem for the last several years and always has managed to get it all in. It has been crowded, he said, but added this had the advantage of giving the people an opportunity to see everything without having to go far.

Along with the farm equipment display, will be a much bigger display of new automobiles and trucks than has been at the Fair for many years, Denton said. Practically all the dealers have said they want space, he pointed out.

Good Samaritan Kicked for Pains

BOISE, Idaho (AP)—Cowpunching gets unglamorous when you have to look in every cistern for possible strays.

One Idaho rancher, Arthur Van-Slyke of Homedale, was out checking irrigation ditches the other day. He noticed a sunken hole in an old cistern which had supposedly been filled by a bulldozer.

While they were pulling the animal out, it proved it was still alive by kicking Van Slyke in the arm.

There's No Business Like 'Bo Business

"What's your business?" Demopolos asked.

"I'm unemployed," was the answer.

"How do you support yourself?" the judge pressed.

"I don't need any money to get along," the man said.

"Well, you'll need some now," Demopolos replied. "I fine you $20 for vagrancy."

By STEVE LIBBY
Central Press Assn.

Roughly halfway between South America's Cape Horn and the Cape of Good Hope in the Union of South Africa is Tristan da Cunha. This extinct volcano with a crater lake at its top rises 7,640 feet out of the South Atlantic Ocean and is 1,500 miles south-south-west of St. Helena, on which it is a dependency.

It's the loneliest spot in the world.

Now rarely seen either by tourist or sailor, Tristan de Cunha was an anticipated sight during the days of sailing ships, for it was a landmark in the barren waters between the two southern Capes.

The main island—Tristan—is some 40 square miles in land area. Gough island, 250 miles south-south east is lsighlty smaller. Nightingale and Inaccesible islands are the only other two in the group of six islands large enough for names. Inaccessible island is the home of the rare flightless rail, an almost extinct bird.

THIS ISOLATED volcanic group is called home by some 251 islanders, mainly of European descent. Some are descended from clipper-ship men whose sailing vessels crashed into the hidden rocks of the remote islands.

The only permanent settlement is Edinburgh, whose natives apparently do not object to their lack of contact with the outside world or the typically oceanic and well-distributed rainfall.

Tristan da Cunha has high humidity and a tendency toward strong winds and rapid changes of weather and temperature.

The main island was discovered in 1506 by a Portuguese fleet under the command of Adm. Tristao da Cunha, who noted in his logbook that the island was uninhabited. More than a century later it was sighted and charted by a British vessel and in 1810 three Americans settled on Tristan. Since that time the island has been permanently inhabited.

IN 1816 a small British garrison landed and formally annexed the islands. But the garrison was soon withdrawn and only three men, headed by a Cpl. William Glass, remained.

During the next 65 years the colony thrived, largly because of its positon on a main sailing route. New settlers—primarily from shipwrecks—brought Americans, Dutch St. Helenians and Italians.

In the 1880s a period of isolation and decline set in. This was due to the replacement of sail by steam, the opening of the Suez canal, the infestation of the island by rats, and a boat disaster in which 15 able-bodied islanders were lost.

Far off steamship lanes are the Tristan da Cunha isles.

IT WAS NOT until 50 years later that a missionary was officially recognized as the honorary commissioner and magistrate. He appointed a headman and a headwoman and set up an island council.

In 1938 a letters patent made Tristan da Cunha a dependency of St. Helena, though the administration has continued to be directly supervised by the British Colonial office.

Four years later a unit of the South African defense force built an important meteorological and wireless station which was, for the duration of the war, manned by the royal navy.

Since the conclusion of hostilities this lonesome post has been operated by the South African government.

It was during the war that a navy chaplain recognized the opportunities for a crawfish industry and, in 1949, the Tristan da Cunha Development company, Ltd., began operations. Today, frozen and canned crawfish tails, sold mainly to American markets, are shipped by the United Kingdom Development corporation, successor, by two refrigerated vessels.

THE COMPANY'S ships visit Cape Town at six-week intervals during the September-to-March fishing season. The wireless station—the island's only contact with the outside world—is in almost daily contact with Cape Town and with passing vessels.

Potatoes, apples and peaches are raised in small quantity on the barren island, and livestock is kept. The eggs of the albatross and penguin are gathered for consumption by the islanders. Wood is supplied by native juniper trees.

Traditionally a jack-of-all-trades, the typical islander has been slow to settle down to regular wage earning. Since 1951 the island labor force has been insufficient to meet the needs of the cannery and the fishing vessels.

The administration maintains a doctor and a nurse. The 60 children of school age are educated by a missionary society staffed by two teachers. A small reforstation program is now being developed, and the company supports a small store on the island.

Surely but slowly, the people of Tristan da Cunha are enjoying more and more comforts. But nothing short of a miracle can change its designation as the loneliest place on earth.

Fair Within a Fair

Variety in Merchants Building

Come the week of July 23-27, the Merchants Building on the Fairground here will present what almost amounts to a fair within a fair.

For variety of attractions and assortment of displays, the long concrete block building on the north side of the grounds will be in a class by itself.

Nearly every other area, large and small, on the Fairground will be devoted to a its own specialty, whether it is harness horse racing on the track, livestock "up on the hill" or the Midway just inside the main gate.

But not so the Merchants Building. . .it will have a lot of features.

Mac Dews Sr., director in charge, admits there will be so many different exhibits in the Merchants Building that even he won't be sure what all of them are until they are set up next Monday. Some probably will be moved in Saturday and Sunday.

WHEN THE building was first erected more than 15 years ago, the plan was to use it exclusively for merchantile, or commercial, displays.

But, through the years, and with the growth of the Fair, first one merchant and then another gave up his booth to make room for fair exhibits.

All the while, long tables were making a gradual appearance in the aisle to take care of more exhibits.

Now more than half of the 40 booths have been allotted to a wide variety of strictly fair exhibits—exhibits for which premiums are offered.

The other half will have the commercial displays. And, these, Dews said, are in as great a variety as the fair exhibits. They will include just about everything from growing plants, through household appliances to building materials, he said.

Among the strictly fair exhibits, Dews said, there will be the prize vegetables and fruit, needlework by the women, grain of all kinds, baked goods and flowers and all of it will be there for the judges to pin on the award ribbons.

TWO OTHER displays, which do not fall into either the commercial of fair exhibit categories will be there, too.

The Scouts will have one and the camera fans the other. And, both always have been a powerful magnet for fairgoers.

The Scout exhibit will show, not only the objectives of this world-wide youth organization, but also some examples of what these young people have accomplished during the past year.

The photographic exhibit probably will be the most unique on the Fairground. It will show a wide variety of camera artistry. What makes it unique is the policy of judging the entries before the Fair so that only the best of the many submitted for consideration are hung in this solan with the rural atmosphere.

Working with Dews to co-ordinate the Merchants Building variety show will be the heads and superintendents of the various departments and organizations participating.

Dews said the merchants have been very co-operative in giving up the booths they could have used for commercial displays in order to make room for the increasing number of strictly fair exhibits.

The first U. S. federal taxes to be introduced were import duties and an excise on distilled liquors.

Shepherds Club Lends a Hand To Young Fair Sheep Exhibitors

Clinic Held Here To Give Them Pointers

Boys and girls have been getting ready for their sheep and lamb show at the Fair here next week for a long time under the guidance of the Fayette County Shepherds Club.

About a month before the Fair, the club held a clinic for the boys and girls who have lamb projects. G. B. Vance, who raises registered Suffolks, conducted the demonstrations.

For nearly two hours, he showed the 40 to 45 boys and girls how to show their lambs, how to feed them and fit them for showing, how to care for their health so they will look their best and how to gentle them for the week they will have to stay in pens while the curious public files by to look them over.

THIS CLINIC was primarily for the boys and girls with market lambs, but Vance explained that the methods used for these are applicable to those used for the purebreds.

The boys and girls have two avenues of approach for awards in the lamb show: (1) through the lambs themselves and (2) through their own showmanship.

The awards for the lambs depend largely on the care that has been given them by the youngsters, but the boys and girls are on their own for the showmanship awards. This showmanship, Vance explained to them, hinges to a considerable degree on how they have readied their lambs as well as on their own performances before the judge.

THE CLUB has put up the trophies again for three classes of showmanship: (1) juniors up to 14 years old, (2) seniors, 14 years old and over and (3) sweepstakes, for those who have won in either the junior or senior classes in previous years.

The sweepstakes is designed to give the previous winners a new and tougher, field of competition and at the same time take the experienced showmen out of competition with the younger showmen.

The Shepherds Club has been supporting the sheep and lamb shows, especially those for the 4-H club members, since 1940. Each year, Vance said, the program of support has been broadened with some new phase being added.

This is the first year a pre-Fair clinic on such a broad scale has been held.

Incidentally, there were about as many parents at the clinic as there were boys and girls—and they showed just as much interest.

Vance emphasized that the clinic was designed to teach the boys and girls "the things they have to do with their lambs before the Fair in order to win the prizes at the Fair."

Next March these boys and girls will be the honor guests of the Shepherds Club at its annual banquet.

The whole Shepherds Club program creates a closer tie between the boys and girls and the adults through development of an interest in sheep and lambs—and the Fair is the high point in the whole program.

Reds Make Postal Error

By EVAN CHARLES
Central Press Assn.

The Communists keep slipping on the seat of their postage stamps!

honoring a scientist, Prokop Divis, who, they said, had invented the lightning rod before Benjamin Franklin did.

The Reds said Divis invented the rod in 1754, "six years before Franklin" in 1760, but Franklin's calendar proves he was politicking in England in 1760, and actually had invented the lightning rod in 1752, receiving a Royal Society award for the accomplishment.

Now the Communists have slipped on their stamps again, this time in East Germany. There, the Reds decided to issue a postage stamp honoring the famous German composer, Robert Schumann.

Thousands of these stamps had come off the press before some eagle-eye discovered that while the picture is Schumann's, the music is not! The music was written by another well known composer, Franz Schubert, who was Viennese and who died while Schumann was still a boy.

How such a mail order mixup ever occurred, no one can say. However, before packing his bags for Siberia, the East German

His solution was to print another version of the same stamp, this one with a piece of music by Schumann. However, enough examples of the Communist blunder have leaked out to make the stamp a curio among stamp collectors and music lovers, everywhere.

House Rules Enforced; Intoxication Is Out!

STILLWATER, Okla. (AP)—Members of Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity at Oklahoma A&M have voted to get rid of a house guest — Intoxication, a pet skunk.

Speedy Justice Wears Court Down

OAKLHOMA CITY (AP) — Municipal Judge Mike Foster had to call a recess because his court was turned into a track meet.

A defendant suddenly broke away and ran from the courtroom. Five officials gave chase and the man was caught several blocks away.

"I had to order a recess," the judge explained, "because everybody was too pooped to testify."

Shepherds Club Lends a Hand To Young Fair Sheep Exhibitors

Clinic Held Here To Give Them Pointers

Boys and girls have been getting ready for their sheep and lamb show at the Fair here next week for a long time under the guidance of the Fayette County Shepherds Club.

About a month before the Fair, the club held a clinic for the boys and girls who have lamb projects. G. B. Vance, who raises registered Suffolks, conducted the demonstrations.

For nearly two hours, he showed the 40 to 45 boys and girls how to show their lambs, how to feed them and fit them for showing, how to care for their health so they will look their best and how to gentle them for the week they will have to stay in pens while the curious public files by to look them over.

THIS CLINIC was primarily for the boys and girls with market lambs, but Vance explained that the methods used for these are applicable to those used for the purebreds.

The boys and girls have two avenues of approach for awards in the lamb show: (1) through the lambs themselves and (2) through their own showmanship.

The awards for the lambs depend largely on the care that has been given them by the youngsters, but the boys and girls are on their own for the showmanship awards. This showmanship, Vance explained to them, hinges to a considerable degree on how they have readied their lambs as well as on their own performances before the judge.

THE CLUB has put up the trophies again for three classes of showmanship: (1) juniors up to 14 years old, (2) seniors, 14 years old and over and (3) sweepstakes, for those who have won in either the junior or senior classes in previous years.

The sweepstakes is designed to give the previous winners a new and tougher, field of competition and at the same time take the experienced showmen out of competition with the younger showmen.

The Shepherds Club has been supporting the sheep and lamb shows, especially those for the 4-H club members, since 1940. Each year, Vance said, the program of support has been broadened with some new phase being added.

This is the first year a pre-Fair clinic on such a broad scale has been held.

Incidentally, there were about as many parents at the clinic as there were boys and girls—and they showed just as much interest.

Vance emphasized that the clinic was designed to teach the boys and girls "the things they have to do with their lambs before the Fair in order to win the prizes at the Fair."

Next March these boys and girls will be the honor guests of the Shepherds Club at its annual banquet.

The whole Shepherds Club program creates a closer tie between the boys and girls and the adults through development of an interest in sheep and lambs—and the Fair is the high point in the whole program.

Reds Make Postal Error

By EVAN CHARLES
Central Press Assn.

The Communists keep slipping on the seat of their postage stamps!

honoring a scientist, Prokop Divis, who, they said, had invented the lightning rod before Benjamin Franklin did.

The Reds said Divis invented the rod in 1754, "six years before Franklin" in 1760, but Franklin's calendar proves he was politicking in England in 1760, and actually had invented the lightning rod in 1752, receiving a Royal Society award for the accomplishment.

Now the Communists have slipped on their stamps again, this time in East Germany. There, the Reds decided to issue a postage stamp honoring the famous German composer, Robert Schumann.

Thousands of these stamps had come off the press before some eagle-eye discovered that while the picture is Schumann's, the music is not! The music was written by another well known composer, Franz Schubert, who was Viennese and who died while Schumann was still a boy.

How such a mail order mixup ever occurred, no one can say. However, before packing his bags for Siberia, the East German

His solution was to print another version of the same stamp, this one with a piece of music by Schumann. However, enough examples of the Communist blunder have leaked out to make the stamp a curio among stamp collectors and music lovers, everywhere.

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—St. Augustine High School, which had an all male faculty for its all-male student body since it was founded 35 years ago, now has a woman teacher.

Mrs. Petlewski was doing volunteer filing for the school. She was willing, she was qualified, and she was hired.

House Rules Enforced; Intoxication Is Out!

STILLWATER, Okla. (AP)—Members of Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity at Oklahoma A&M have voted to get rid of a house guest — Intoxication, a pet skunk.

GI Barber Exception

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP)—Pvt. Harold Brokeshoulder of Ft. Carson, Colo., a native of Lawton, Okla., is the only member of the 39th Infantry Regiment allowed to deviate from the standard GI haircut. The reason: He's a full-blooded Apache Indian. Brokeshoulder has a strip of hair down the center of his scalp which, he says, is traditional for the Apaches.

Speedy Justice Wears Court Down

OAKLHOMA CITY (AP) — Municipal Judge Mike Foster had to call a recess because his court was turned into a track meet.

A defendant suddenly broke away and ran from the courtroom. Five officials gave chase and the man was caught several blocks away.

"I had to order a recess," the judge explained, "because everybody was too pooped to testify."

Junior Fair Beef Cattle Show Has More Entries This Year

The pessimists who said the Junior Fair beef show was dying had better eat their words.

Though the show showed some signs of weakness last year, it's bounced back this year so that it will be better—and possibly bigger—than ever.

True, there's still some weakness in the breeding division.

But the steer feeding contest has grown considerably. Total registration this year is up one third, from 39 contestants last season to 59 this year.

Breeding class totals have slumped from 17 to 12.

Recognized breeds in this year's show will be the same as in the past—Hereford, Angus and Shorthorn. Indicating the strength of the show, fair officials pointed out that, although more Herefords and Angus were entered last year, a Shorthorn won the title.

Judging in the breeding show will be done at 9 a.m. Thursday by George Wilson, who will also judge the steer feeding projects at 1 p.m. Wilson is an animal science professor at Ohio State University with a long record of experience in beef work.

George Hanrick, Pickaway County Agent, will judge the beef showmanship section, also at 9 a.m.

JUNIOR Fair board member in charge will be Robby Hagler. Four junior superintendents—John Bryant, Rosalyn Marting, Cindy Schlichter and Henry Roszmann—have been appointed, while Jesse Schlichter will act as senior superintendent.

In the breeding show, there are six heifer classes, a class for cows (calved prior to April 30, 1955) and one for bulls, calved between May 1, 1955 and Jan. 1, 1957. Heifer classes have been established according to age.

Steer feeding classes include classes for Hereford heavy and light weights, Angus heavy and light weights and snorthorns. Premiums in both sections are $5, $4 and $3.

A cross-bred steer will show in the class denoted by the breed of the sire. The 4-H exhibitors may feed as many steers as they wish, but only two may be shown at the Fair. They may sell as many as they wish.

The grand and reserve champions must sell. No bid-in calves will be permitted. The Producers Stockyards has offered its service at the shows and sale at no charge.

ALL HEREFORD and Angus steers will be weighed Wednesday morning to determine class. Shorthorns since they show in one class only, need not be weighed. On Thursday—livestock parade day—all cattle must be fed and watered by 6 p.m. though they may be watered again after the parade.

Cattle may not be fed Friday until after they are weighed for sale. Weighing will start at 7 a.m. Other days, livestock must be fed before 9 a.m. and between 5:30 p.m. and 7:30 p.m.

Aisle must be kept clear of trunks and feed, and must be clean at all times. Straw and hay should be kept outside.

All manure must be piled in a place designated by the Junior Fair board livestock administrators. It is recommended that cattle be tied over night.

Stalls will be assigned by the board members in charge. If rules are not carried out, premium money will be forfeited.

THE GRAND champion steer will receive a trophy from the Fayette Limestone Co. Another special trophy will be given — if it is a Shorthorn — by the Shorthorn Breeders Assn.

Trophy for the reserve champ will be presented by the Dr. Heinz Feed Co. Trophies for the champion Hereford, Angus and Shorthorn will be given by the Kroger Co., H. H. Denton and the Eshelman Feed Co., respectively.

Exhibitor of the champion Angus will also receive a pure bred Angus heifer donated by the Fayette County Angus Breeders.

Trophies for the reserve champion Hereford and Angus steers will be given by the First National Bank.

The Fayette County Hereford Assn. will offer a registered Hereford heifer calf to the winner of the champion Hereford steer award or to the steer standing highest in the Hereford class that has:

(a) been purchased by the exhibitor at the Fayette County Hereford Assn. calf sale;

(b) been purchased from a member of the association; or

(c) been raised by the exhibitor out of a registered Hereford cow and bull.

THE CHAMPION Hereford, Angus and Shorthorn heifers will receive trophies from H. H. Denton, the Moorman Feed Co. and McDonald and Son Elevator, respectively.

A trophy for the best beef exhibitor will be given by the Kirk Stock yards. The award will be based on proper registration, neatness of stall and alley, promptness and cooperation with the nanagement.

United Nations Stamps Bonanza for Collectors

By JEROME DREYER
Central Press Assn.

UNITED NATIONS, New York—"Better than owning a uranium mine," commented the stamp dealer as he examined his collection of stamps issued by the United Nations Postal administration since 1951.

"These stamps have a face value of $800 when used as ordinary postage," he explained, "but so great is the demand for them by collectors all over the world, their value has shot up to $15,000 and will continue to increase."

It was not the intention of the United Nations to create a speculative market such as this when the agency was started, but rather as a means to acquaint the people of the world with the orgnization.

This human rights commemorative stamp, issued by the United Nations in 1954, now is worth $450 a full sheet, say stamp collectors.

At present, the sale of stamps at the U. N. post office grosses about $1,500,000 yearly. What these stamps are worth in philatelic circles can best be described by what happened when the following stamps were issued:

IN 1954 the U. N. put out a human rights commemorative stamp. As with earlier issues, one million of each denomination were printed, more than enough, they thought, to exceed the demand.

This particular stamp, of a mother and child, sold out quickly because the Madonna-like design appealed to persons who used it on their Christmas mail.

When the issue was gone, the sheet of stamps that sold for $1.50 across the counter began to rise in value.

Today this same sheet is traded among collectors for $450.

THIS LUCRATIVE market resulted in speculators buying large was printed to commemorate the tenth anniversary of the U. N. Selling for 15 cents when issued, philatelists pay $25 for it today.

This lucrative market resulted in speculators buying large amounts of new issues. As a result, if a request comes in for 250,000 from a buyer obviously attempting to corner the market, the United Nations refuses to fill the entire order.

A consequence of this is that the U. N. now has increased its printings. The most recent issue, honoring the United Nations Emergency Forces in the Middle East, will have a total printing of 10 million.

One of the most discussed stamps issued by that body is one which was never offered to the general public. That there was such a stamp is denied by U. N. postal officials.

HOWEVER, several dealers claim that the issue was printed for sale several years ago, but the entire printing disappeared, presumably lost or stolen. Only recently, they say, the one- and-a-half-cent stamp has started to turn up among collectors at $10 a stamp.

Visitors to the U. N. who buy stamps for cards and letters, which can only be mailed at the U. N. post office, are of the opinion that the United States Post Office loses out in this.

Insecure, He Sues!

CINCINNATI (AP) — A man from whom police confiscated a blackjack and .45 caliber automatic is suing the city of Cincinnati for $1,500 because loss of the weapons is causing him to "suffer from a feeling of insecurity."

Police say they took the blackjack and automatic from Henry Lee Ivery after he fired a shot at a prowler. They said they were not convinced he was the proper owner of the weapons.

Guidance Center

When asked what he wanted, the youngster replied: "I'm running away from home and need a map to plan my route."

The lad was turned over to juvenile authorities.

Sorry, She Can't Trust Her Friends

DALLAS (AP)—Regional Postal Director George Gray had the buck passed to him for the solution to this little problem:

The postmaster of a small West Texas town which uses combination locks on its postal boxes reports that an elderly lady patron has her neighbors pick up her mail. The clerks have to hand them the mail, a time consuming — and seemingly unnecessary — procedure.

Finally, the postmaster suggested that the elderly woman teach her neighbors the lock combinaton.

"My goodness," she replied, "I couldn't possibly do that. I don't trust them."

It's a Dime Shame

LIVINGSTON, N. J., (AP) — Township police are dishing out dimes for telephone calls to stranded motorists here but funds are running short.

The men in blue have been leaving the dimes at isolated telephone booths on the highway with a note to return the money. So far it's been an 85 per cent losing proposition.

IT'S SO EASY TO PLACE A WANT AD

All Rules Are Waived For This Midshipman

ANNAPOLIS, Md (AP) — When Midshipman Roger H. Rotondi of Winchester, Mass, toted up the number of tickets he'd need for relatives to see him graduate he came up with 17.

Usually the Naval Academy allows each graduate seven. But in Rotondi's case they waived the limit so his parents, 12 brothers and sisters, his fiancee and her parents could all attend as his personal rooting section.

Die Fledermaus

lative market such as this when the agency was started, but rather as a means to acquaint the people of the world with the orgnization.

At present, the sale of stamps at the U. N. post office grosses about $1,500,000 yearly. What these stamps are worth in philatelic circles can best be described by what happened when the following stamps were issued:

IN 1954 the U. N. put out a human rights commemorative stamp. As with earlier issues, one million of each denomination were printed, more than enough, they thought, to exceed the demand.

This particular stamp, of a mother and child, sold out quickly because the Madonna-like design appealed to persons who used it on their Christmas mail.

When the issue was gone, the sheet of stamps that sold for $1.50 across the counter began to rise in value.

Today this same sheet is traded among collectors for $450!

THIS LUCRATIVE market resulted in speculators buying large was printed to commemorate the tenth anniversary of the U. N. Selling for 15 cents when issued, philatelists pay $25 for it today.

This lucrative market resulted in speculators buying large amounts of new issues. As a result, if a request comes in for 250,000 from a buyer obviously attempting to corner the market, the United Nations refuses to fill the entire order.

A consequence of this is that the U. N. now has increased its printings. The most recent issue, honoring the United Nations Emergency Forces in the Middle East will have a total printing of 10 million.

One of the most discussed stamps issued by that body is one which was never offered to the general public. That there was such a stamp is denied by U. N. postal officials.

HOWEVER, several dealers claim that the issue was printed for sale several years ago, but the entire printing disappeared, presumably lost or stolen. Only recently, they say, the one- and- a-half-cent stamp has started to turn up among collectors at $10 a stamp.

Visitors to the U. N. who buy stamps for cards and letters, which can only be mailed at the U. N. post office, are of the opinion that the United States Post Office loses out in this.

The fact is that the U. S. government is reimbursed for these stamps, also for the stamps used in official U. N. mail.

When asked what he wanted, the youngster replied: "I'm running away from home and need a map to plan my route.'

The lad was turned over to juvenile authorities.

Insecure, He Sues!

CINCINNATI (AP) — A man from whom police confiscated a blackjack and .45 caliber automatic is suing the city of Cincinnati for $1,500 because loss of the weapons is causing him to "suffer from a feeling of insecurity."

Police say they took the blackjack and automatic from Henry Lee Ivery after he fired a shot at a prowler. They said they were not convinced he was the proper owner of the weapons.

Sorry, She Can't Trust Her Friends

DALLAS (AP)—Regional Postal Director George Gray had the buck passed to him for the solution to this little problem:

The postmaster of a small West Texas town which uses combination locks on its postal boxes reports that an elderly lady patron has her neighbors pick up her mail. The clerks have to hand them the mail, a time consuming — and seemingly unnecessary — procedure.

Finally, the postmaster suggested that the elderly woman teach her neighbors the lock combinaton.

"My goodness," she replied, "I couldn't possibly do that. I don't trust them."

It's a Dime Shame

LIVINGSTON, N. J., (AP) — Township police are dishing out dimes for telephone calls to stranded motorists here but funds are running short.

The men in blue have been leaving the dimes at isolated telephone booths on the highway with a note to return the money. So far it's been an 85 per cent losing proposition.

All Rules Are Waived For This Midshipman

ANNAPOLIS, Md (AP) — When Midshipman Roger H. Rotondi of Winchester, Mass, toted up the number of tickets he'd need for relatives to see him graduate he came up with 17.

Usually the Naval Academy allows each graduate seven. But in Rotondi's case they waived the limit so his parents, 12 brothers and sisters, his fiancee and her parents could all attend as his personal rooting section.

Something New and Different

There will be something new and different in the way of entertainment at the Fair here next week and no mistake.

Gene Holter's Wild Animal Show, the like of which has never been seen here, will be staged in front of the grandstand Thursday and Friday nights, starting at 8:15 o'clock.

This is no ordinary animal show; this one features camel races and ostrich races. What's more, the camels will be ridden by volunteers from the Fair crowd and the ostriches, hitched to racing sulkies, will be driven by volunteers. All of which adds to the hilarity of the show.

One of the highlights of the program will be the performance of young Buck Jones, an outstanding trick rider although blind. He handles his well trained horses with uncanny ability as he mounts and dismounts while racing at top speed down the track; does Roman riding and puts one of his spotted horses through amazing "high school" stunts.

ALL TOLD, there are 16 acts in the show and unusual wild animals not ordinarily seen in circus, sideshow or zoo.

One of the most unusual of the lot is Sugarcane—half zebra and half donkey. It was named for its donkey mother, Sugar, and its zebra father, Hurricane. It is billed as the only animal of its kind in the world.

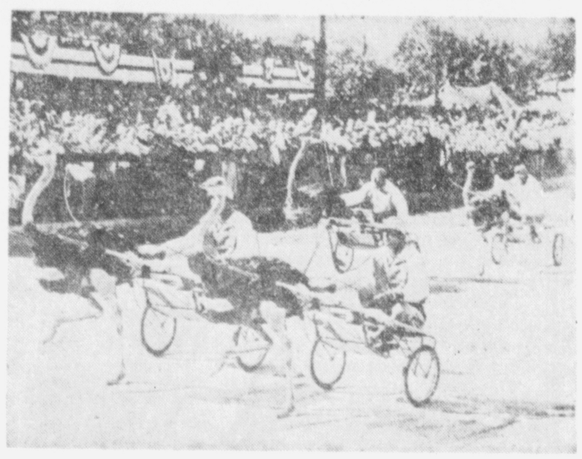
There will be a wild animal race and a race between a horse and an ostrich, too—and a game of zebra and donkey polo.

On the more sensible side, but nonetheless spectacular, will be the performance of the Liberty Horses, trained to go through precision drills.

For laughs all through the show, there will be Si Otis and his trick mule—and what would a show of this kind be without a trick mule and his rube owner.

The wild animal parade will include lions and llamas and big Babe, the performing baby elephant.

For a change of pace, there will be the Tournament of Roses white stallion and exciting performances by motion picture stunt men.



STRICTLY FOR LAUGHS—Volunteers from the Fair crowd will drive ostriches in one of the most unusual races ever staged here next Thursday and Friday nights at the Fair. The race will be part of the novel wild animal show.

KINGSTREE, S. C. (AP) — Kingstree school children who recently enjoyed three days of legalized hookey because of a flu epidemic had to make them up after all. They had to go to class on three different Saturdays.

Artful Columbus Cop Very Quick on Draw

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Thugs in this city are beginning to learn that the robbery squad of the Columbus Police Department has the assistance of a young patrolman who is quick on the draw.

Patrolman William M. Needles, 30, isn't any world beater at unlimbering his service revolver, but the "bad guys" are finding out that he's a whiz with pencil and charcoal.

Needles is a police artist and he has developed a knack of drawing fast and remarkably accurate pictures of criminals from word-of-mouth descriptions furnished by witnesses.

Needles started this kind of sketching in 1953 with remarkable good fortune. His first two sketches resulted in arrests.

The second attempt of the young police artist was particularly noteworthy. Just two hours after Needles' sketch appeared in a Columbus newspaper, a youthful gunman who had robbed a number of places was in police custody. The accuracy of the sketch was attested to by the fact a newspaper reader recognized the criminal and tipped off police.

73 Gardening and Engineering Project Set for Junior Fair

Though they often miss out on the top billing given other projects, it's no secret to those in the know that some of the classiest work in the whole Junior Fair is done by the youngsters who have prepared 73 projects in agricultural engineering and vegetable gardening this year.

One reason they miss their deserved publicity, associates feel, is that they are divided into three separate classes, scattered through two divisions. But that doesn't mean they still are not getting a lot of hard work, imagination — and interest — in their camp.

This year, vegetable gardening, electricity and woodworking will be the three projects in this grouping They'll be judged at 1 p m. Wednesday by Bob Hodson, associate agent from Clinton County. And stiff competition, observers say, is a sure thing.

OF THE 73 projects entered, 40 will be from boys in woodworking, 22 by the electricity group and 11 by the boys and girls in vegetable gardening.

Premiums are to be $1.50, $1.25 and $1.

JUNIOR FAIR Board member in charge of agricultural engineering exhibits is Jerry Smith. Junior superintendents are Ronald Sears and Larry Roush. Willard Bonham will be superintendent.

The 4-H premiums for electricity and woodworking projects are $1.50, $1.25 and $1. Both groups will be divided by experience of the entrants.

In addition to the regular premium, prizes in vegetable gardening includes $5 to be given by the Hoppes Sisters and $2.50 to be donated by George B. Stitt and son.

First-year woodworking: Johnnie Cline, Timmy Beesecher, David Dixson, Richard Schlue, Robby Rodenfels, John Dunn, Orlyn Bell, Mike Beucler, Lyle Bruce, Bobby Bruan, Charles Conger, Jerry Crawford, Richard Flora, Darrell Hamby, Ronnie Jones, Fred Pine, Jim Tremlett, Kenny Arnold, Eugene Christman, Mark Frederick, Larry Anderson, Jacl Warner, Alan Yeoman, Kent Garringer Danny Parks, Sonny Sanderson, Johnnie Bobbitt, Bobby Prater, Tim Rankin, Charles Wright, Jr., Dale Mathews, Sherwin Payne, Donald Juillerat, Mike Wright, Terry and Larry Armbrust, Danny McConnaughey and George E. Conaway.

Second-year woodworking: Kenneth E. Conaway and Lloyd Bowers.

DRESSES OF THEIR OWN were made by these two 4-H girls, on a somewhat more advanced level of 4-H project work to be shown at the Fair next week. They are Martha Ritenour, 14, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Ritenour of the Jeff-Jamestown Rd., and Janet Mitchell, 12, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Mitchell of Gregg Rd. (Record-Herald photo)

73 Gardening and Engineering Project Set for Junior Fair

Though they often miss out on the top billing given other projects, it's no secret to those in the know that some of the classiest work in the whole Junior Fair is done by the youngsters who have prepared 73 projects in agricultural engineering and vegetable gardening this year.

One reason they miss their deserved publicity, associates feel, is that they are divided into three separate classes, scattered through two divisions. But that doesn't mean they still are not getting a lot of hard work, imagination — and interest — in their camp.

This year, vegetable gardening, electricity and woodworking will be the three projects in this grouping. They'll be judged at 1 p. m. Wednesday by Bob Hodson, associate agent from Clinton County. And stiff competition, observers say, is a sure thing.

OF THE 73 projects entered, 40 will be from boys in woodworking, 22 by the electricity group and 11 by the boys and girls in vegetable gardening.

The exhibit shall consist of a display of at least three different vegetavles attractively arranged. Exhibitors are limited to one display.

Premiums are to be $1.50, $1.25 and $1.

A tractor rodeo and some FFA exhibits will be held as a part of the program. Details of their entries are not complete yet.

The 4-H premiums for electricity and woodworking projects are $1.50, $1.25 and $1. Both groups will be divided by experience of the entrants.

In addition to the regular premium, prizes in vegetable gardening includes $5 to be given by the Hoppes Sisters and $2.50 to be donated by George B. Stitt and son.

A $5 award will be given to the electricity champ by the Marion Marvels 4-H club, while D. E. Murdock is donating a $5 prize for the wood working winner.

First-year woodworking: Johnnie Cline, Timmy Beesecher, David Dixson, Richard Schlue, Robby Rodenfels, John Dunn, Orlyn Bell, Mike Beucler, Lyle Bruce, Bobby Bruan, Charles Conger, Jerry Crawford, Richard Flora, Darrell Hamby, Ronnie Jones, Fred Pine, Jim Tremlett, Kenny Arnold, Eugene Christman, Mark Frederick, Larry Anderson, Jacl Warner, Alan Yeoman, Kent Garringer, Danny Parks, Sonny Sanderson, Johnnie Bobbitt, Bobby Prater, Tim Rankin, Charles Wright, Jr., Dale Mathews, Sherwin Payne, Donald Juillerat, Mike Wright, Terry and Larry Armbrust, Danny McConnaughey and George E. Conaway.

Second-year woodworking: Kenneth E. Conaway and Lloyd Bowers.

Daredevils Will Be at Fair

Those zany, uninsurable auto daredevils will be back at the Fayette County Fair next week.

Long rated by test drivers as the best stuntmen in show business, Jack Kochman's Auto Daredevils will put on a program of thrills and chills in front of the grandstand Wednesday night starting at 8:15 o'clock.

The roaring show will include such hair-raising feats as ramp to ramp leaps, in which one car soars through 100 feet of space while another crosses beneath it, the end-over-end flipping of cars in deliberate roll-overs; steel-smashing crashes and dashes through a fiery wall.

The Daredevils are not new to the Fair here; they are being brought back for an encore to previous performances "because the people want to see them again," a member of the Fair Board's committee explained.

TWENTY 1957 Dodge automobiles are used in the show. This year, for the first time, they range through all models, station wagons and convertibles as well as sedans.

Another first this year will be the appearance of a girl at the wheel of one of the stunt cars. She is Miss Patricia Jones, a 25-year-old powderpuf. daredeviless from Wichita, Kas.

She takes part in the precision driving demonstration and even the dangerous roll-overs. Pat, who got her start as a stock car race driver, was born in San Louis. Potosi, Mexico, but has spent most of her life in Wichita.

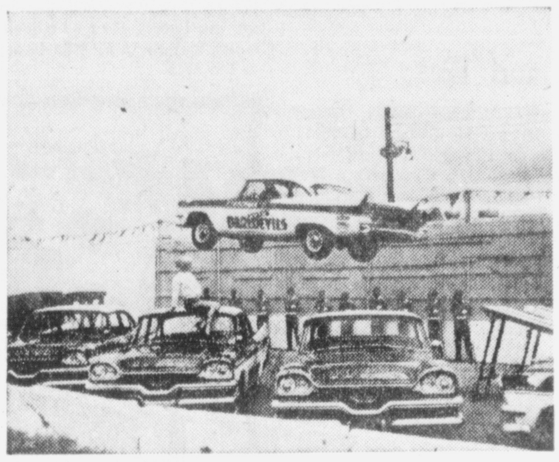
BUT MORE than daring goes into car-smashing show—it is the know how, careful study and planning and mechanical knowledge that counts, Kochman says.

Each stunt is worked out in advance by a crop of engineers, including factory representatives, who know just what stress and strain a car will stand.

Models, exact in every detail, provide for the elimination of every possible risk that might lead to maiming, or even death, before the drivers take the real cars up ramps and into the air to perform just one of the twenty-eight programmed stunts.

Thus, when a car is made to travel several hundred feet on only two wheels at high speed the driver knows in advance, like a tight rope walker, where the possibility of balance begins and ends. With the equipment in tip-top mechanical shape, since it is checked daily by the show's traveling mechanics, only the condition of the track provides a variable element and this, too, the personnel gauges with extreme care before the first car is driven on it.



GIRL DAREDEVIL — Patricia Jones is the first girl to invade the auto thrill shows. She will be one of the corps of performers on the program at the Fair here Wednesday night.

FLYING AUTO — Laws of gravity will be defied by Daredevils when they send cars from ramp to ramp through the air over other cars underneath Wednesday night at the Fair here.

Light-up Time

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — Lights gleam all night from an eight-foot square cupola atop the former administration building of the Old Soldiers Home here — keeping some tobacco plants awake. The plants are being used in research on tobacco protein. A continuous supply of new plants is required, hence the lights to keep them growing at a double pace.

Blessed Bessie

PRINCETON, N. J. (AP)—Bessie, a Brown Swiss cow, has a proclivity for productivity. She is, in fact, the new world record-holder for butterfat production in a single year.

From April, 1956 through April 1957, she manufactured the equivlent of $1,496 quarts of milk and 1,930 pounds of butter. In dairymen's terms that's 31,166.6 pounds of milk and 1,544 pounds of butterfat.

Her record stands for all breeds, reports the dairy department of Rutgers University.

Bessie displaces an Illinois Holstein in the championship stall. The previous record was 1,523 pounds of butterfat.

Flour Offering

DURANT, Okla. (AP)—The Rev. Arthur Smith, pastor of the Rock Pentecostal Holiness Church, offered a sack of flour as a prize for the largest family attending Sunday School.

Patriotic Parakeet

BISBEE, Ariz. (AP)—A local couple had little trouble locating their missing parakeet when they reported to the Bisbee Daily Review that the bird was easily recognizable by his voice. The parakeet, they said, had a habit of alighting on people's shoulders and saying: "Vive la France! To hell with the Russians."

Kite Hazard

VANCOUVER (AP)— Control tower operators at Vancouver International Airport say that with the advent of fair weather, high flying kites may plague aircraft. Said one: "If those thing got fouled up in a jet there would be an awful mess."

4-H Saddle Horse Club Has Big Role in Fair

Just after her coronation Tuesday, when the queen of the Junior Fair rides down the race track in all her royal regalia, she will be escorted by five of Fayette County's proudest 4-H club members mounted on prancing horses.

An infant eight-member organization just two seasons ago, the saddle horse group claims 27 boys and girls this year, a grandstand show of its own, and major parts in two other vital Junior Fair events.

A lot of the credit for the rapid growth of the little group goes to the hardy hard-working members themselves. Building up from tightly-knit core, they've demonstrated a brand of toughmindedness and horse sense that has made their numbers grow all out of proportion to what they might have done otherwise.

THEIR OWN show is set for 4 p.m. Wednesday on the race track itself—or as soon as the races are over. J. Rankin Paul, an experienced Washington C. H. horse show judge, will officiate.

A full array of prizes and ribbons are ready for the event. Competition, observers say, is going to be stiff.

Besides the Wednesday afternoon show, the Prancers — or at least, five of them — will get a chance to prance for the Queen's coronation and for the livestock parade.

CORONATION will be held at the grandstand Tuesday a little before 8 p. m. Livestock parade is set for 7 p. m. Wednesday.

Emmett Backenstoe and Richard Ware are advisers to the club and Backenstoe is superintendent for the Fair. Junior superintendents are Patty Hughes and Bob Corzatt. Mike Wagner is Junior Fair board member in charge.

Three classes will be held—one for colts up to two years old, another for 3-year-olds and older and a third for ponies. The colt class is a lead-in division, while the 3-year olds will be shown under saddle. Both 3-year-olds and ponies will be judged on showmanship.

Old Kentucky Home

She built a 5-acre lake on her farm, stocking it with bass. Then she built a cabin on the shore.

Now so many of her flock are returning home at vacation time she is planning to build another cabin.

Forever Female

DENVER, Col. (AP) — Capt. Naomi M. McCraken has been named the first female member of the Air Force Academy staff. A native of Texas, Capt. McCracken, 35, has been assigned as assistant director of cadet records. She formerly served four years as a weather forecaster in Germany. As a WAF officer in Germany, she became a star basketball player and was named as a guard on the all-Air Force WAF team in 1956.

Door Jam--Jet Planes Responsible for It, Too

SAN DIEGO (AP) — The mystery of why radio-operated garage doors in the Point Loma section seemed to just fly open several times daily was solved by the federal communications commission.

Vergne Hoke, FFC man, found the doors were being activated by radio signals from navy jet planes coming in for landing. The doors, in turn, were causing interference with the navy's airfield approach system.

Dairy Cattle Show One of Best at Fair

Hours of Work Put in by Exhibitors Preparing for It

While a lot of the attention at the Fair next week is being claimed by the sheep, the hogs and the beef cattle, a small but determined group of exhibitors will be busying themselves with an exhibit that some people almost overlook: dairy cattle.

And the exhibitors themselves will tell you there's nothing more interesting. They're right fully proud of their division and understandable convinced that none of the bigger shows take any more skill or effort.

It's difficult to raise interest in dairy cattle among the juniors, they admit. Unlike many livestock projects, the profit from cattle is spread over a number of years rather than gained by quick sale at the Fair.

And, also unlike some projects, dairy cattle must be cared for over several years in order to show a profit.

But—so say the exhibitors—that's part of the fascination. A total of close to 20 of them will be giving living evidence of that fact at the Fair.

RECOGNIZING the importance of the junior dairy show, the Fayette County Dairy Assn. directors recommended one of the top dairy experts in the state for this year's judging. He is Harold Kaesar, herdsman at Ohio State University, who will be here at 9 a.m. Thursday to give the show all the attention it deserves.

Wilbur L. Chrisman will be superintendent of this year's show, while Kenneth Pettit and Mary K. Recob will act as junior superintendents. Mike Wagner is Junior Fair Board member in charge.

Divisions will be set up according to age. No bulls of any age may be brought to the Fair Grounds or exhibited in the show.

4-H DEMONSTRATORS practice the exercise "packing for camp" which they will present in the Junior Fair demonstration show. Rebecca Slaughter, 13, (standing), daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Reynolds Slaughter, Jr., of Harold Rd., is doing the talking, while Jane Smith, 14, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Smith of West Lancaster Rd., puts the articles in the case. (Record-Herald photo)

Recognized breeds are Jersey, Guernsey, Ayrshire, Holstein and Brown Swiss premiums are $5, $4 and $3.

DAIRY PRIZES include a model Ayrshire from the Washington Produce Co. to the champion of that breed; the Med-O-Pure Dairy award to the champion dairy Guernsey; a model Jersey to the champion Jersey from Betty Weidinger; an award from Robert Klever to the champion Holstein and a champion female rosette from the Ross County Holstein Club to the champion Holstein.

A champion Junior Fair dairy exhibitor award will be made by the county Dairy Assn. to the best junior exhibitor. Award will be based on registration, neatness, promptness and cooperation.

Here's a list of registrants:

Dairy production: Ronnie Burke, Rebecca and James M. Klever, Alva L. Hanners and Mray K. Recob.

89 Youngsters To Enter Stock In Junior Fair Swine Show

This year's Junior Fair swine show — the biggest of the junior agricultural divisions — will be only 10 percent smaller than last year's record-smasher.

A total of 89 entrants have registered in all swine classes, as compared with a top of 102 last year. This year's figure is "highly satisfactory" considering past years as a whole, officials say.

The entry list includes 15 youngsters in first-year market pig projects, 47 in second-year work, 18 in the breeding gilt division, four in the sow and litter section and two in a farm herd section..

Charles Andrews will be superintendent of the swine show, while Mrs. Charles Andrews, Joe Fisher and David Carr have been assigned duties as assistant superintendents.

ONE OF THE TOP swine men in the state, Harold Hart, president of the Ohio Swine Breeders and Feeders Assn., will be here to judge the show at 1 p. m. Wednesday. Bob Hodson, associate agent from Clinton County, will judge the showmanship section at the same time.

Four classes will be open in the pig-breeding section — a junior sow division, another for junior boars, a third for aged sows and a fourth for a young herd.

Junior sows and boars may be of any recognized breed and must be eligible to register. They must have been farrowed after Feb. 1. All pigs must be vaccinated.

Treating certificates are to be shown to the inspecting veterinarian. Breeds are to be judged separately. These pigs will be eligible to show in the open classes, but regular entries must be made with the Fair secretary.

The aged sow competition will have all breeds shown together. For the young herd section, contestants must show four pigs, three gilts and one boar, from any recognized breed, farrowed after Aug. 1, 1956.

PREMIUMS on junior sows and boars and aged sows are $4, $3, $2 For the young herd, premium is $5, $4 and $3.

Four weight classes will be set up for market pigs. A fifty class will be established for pens of three. Pigs will be weighed when unloaded at the Fairground. No boar pigs may be shown in the market class.

If entries in any one of the four weight classes exceed 20, the superintendent will divide the class by lot and each sub-class will be shown separately. The champion and reserve champions in each class shown will return for the grand and reserve champion market pig selections.

All pigs are to be shown in their respective classes according to weight, even though the member has one or two pigs in the project.

Melvin Kiger, manager of the Eshelman Feed Co. will give a $20 trophy for the grand champion market pig. A $20 Smidley feeder will be donated by Ray French of the Webber C. French Manufacturing Co.

The reserve champ will receive a $15 trophy from John M. O'Connor of the Fayette County stockyards. Another $15 trophy will be given by the Producers Stockyards for the reserve champion pen of three. The reserve champion pen of three will receive a $10 trophy from Eshelman's.

THE CHAMPION swine exhibitor will receive a trophy from Albers Super Markets, Inc. Selection of the winner will be based on neatness of pen, proper registration, promptness, cooperation with management and the like.

Special swine awards to be given by the county Pork Producers Assn. include free trips to the Ohio State Fair for 4-H and FFA pig club members, plaques for the junior and senior showmanship winners and a pig trough for each 4-H and FFA person enrolled for the first time.

The champion gilt in each of the breed classes will receive earmarkers from R. H. Stoddard, of The Moorman Feed Co.

The purebred swine breeders in the county owning Hampshires and Duroc-Jerseys will offer an "ideal type" model trophy to each exhibitor in the breeding classes.

Swine exhibitors include:

Farm Herd: Robert and Roger Yeoman.

Full Fields Virtually Assured For 4-Day Fair Race Card

Some of the top colts and fillies in this area have been named for the four $1,000 Ohio Colt Racing Assn. stakes to be raced at the Fair here next week.

These will back up the 12 overnight races that make up the four-day program of harness horse racing, which will get under way Wednesday and continue through Saturday. A total of $10,000 in purses has been put up.

After checking the 124 nominations for the four OCRA stakes and the information they have picked up from horsemen planning to ship here for the overnight races, the speed committee came up with a prediction that this year's racing will be on a par with that of other years, despite competition from the commercial meetings now in progress.

While by no means all of the colts named for the stakes here are expected to start, members of the speed committee expressed confidence that there will be more than enough for full fields. Some of the stakes races may even have to be raced in two divisions to accommodate all of the youngsters.

THE OVERNIGHT races, each carrying a $500 purse, are expected to draw some good horses, although the fields for some of them may not be as big as those for the stakes.

Colt racing will draw a considerable share of the interest at the Fair here. And, the Fair directors feel this is as it should be, because Fayette County is a producer of harness horses and the people here know and appreciate the young stock.

McKinley Kirk heads the list of Fayette County nominators with seven; G. Damon Baker's Belle Aire Farm is close behind with five; A. G. Gordon, Harold Laymon, Richard and Joe Asher of New Holland and the Jackson Glove Co. Stable have entered two each and Harry C. Hughes, Loren Coe, Dudley Moon, Gene Bock and Mrs. A. L. Rhoads each have entered one.

Most of these are expected to start here with their owners and trainers handling the reins.

THE OCRA stakes nominees are dominated by 2-year-old pacers with 46. The stake for 3-year-old pacers drew 30 nominees and so did the stake for 2-year-old trotters. Only 18 were nominated for the 3-year-old stake for trotters.

Two of the OCRA stakes will be raced Wednesday, the opening day. The first race of the Fair will be for 2-year-old trotters with a purse of $1,000. It will be followed by the $1,000 stake for 3-year-old pacers and two overnights, one for 30 class trotters and other for 22 class pacers.

The stake 2-year-old pacers will open the Thursday program. Backing it up will be overnight races for 30 class pacers, 24 class trotters and 26 class trotters.

The last of the OCRA stake races will open the Friday card. It will be for 3-year-old trotters and be followed by an overnight race for 2-year-old trotters, a 24 class pace and an 18 class pace.

Saturday, the last day of racing will have a full program of overnight races, including one for 2-year-old pacers for the finale. The other three will be for 22 class trotters, 26 class pacers and 18 class trotters.

MEMBERS of the speed committee are reluctant to try to pick out a headliner among the overnight races, but agree that several of them have possibilities for developing into the best of the meeting, so far as speed is concerned.

There are stalls for around 125 horses at the Fairground but arrangements already have been made for tents for temporary accommodations.

Indications are that horses will be vanned here from Hilliards for the day as well as from Wilmington, Xenia, London an Springfield.

The Fayette County Fair was one of the first county fairs in the country to install photo finish equipment, the saliva test, the mobile starting gate, mutual betting and the two-heat system of racing. And, the policies have not been changed.

Harry Hagler's Sound Service has been engaged for the photo finishes and the loud speaker system that will be used.

Hank Butler will start the fields with his mobile starting gate and Dr. James McCoy will be the official veterinarian for the saliva tests. The mutuel department will be in charge of A. J. Pressler & Co. of Orville.

J. B. Bonham will be the presiding judge.

* * *

WEDNESDAY, JULY 24

2-Year-Old Trot, Ohio Colt (Closed) $1,000.00; 3-Year-Old Pace, Ohio Colt (Closed) $1,000.00; 30 Class Trot, Overnight $500.00; 22 Class Pace, Overnight $500. Totals $3,000.

THURSDAY, JULY 25

Full Fields Virtually Assured For 4-Day Fair Race Card

Some of the top colts and fillies in this area have been named for the four $1,000 Ohio Colt Racing Assn. stakes to be raced at the Fair here next week.

These will back up the 12 overnight races that make up the four-day program of harness horse racing, which will get under way Wednesday and continue through Saturday. A total of $10,000 in purses has been put up.

After checking the 124 nominations for the four OCRA stakes and the information they have picked up from horsemen planning to ship here for the overnight races, the speed committee came up with a prediction that this year's racing will be on a par with that of other years, despite competition from the commercial meetings now in progress.

While by no means all of the colts named for the stakes here are expected to start, members of the speed committee expressed confidence that there will be more than enough for full fields. Some of the stakes races may even have to be raced in two divisions to accommodate all of the youngsters.

THE OVERNIGHT races, each carrying a $500 purse, are expected to draw some good horses, although the fields for some of them may not be as big as those for the stakes.

Colt racing will draw a considerable share of the interest at the Fair here. And, the Fair directors feel this is as it should be, because Fayette County is a producer of harness horses and the people here know and appreciate the young stock.

McKinley Kirk heads the list of Fayette County nominators with seven. G. Damon Baker's Belle Aire Farm is close behind with five; A. G. Gordon, Harold Laymon, Richard and Joe Asher of New Holland and the Jackson Glove Co. Stable have entered two each and Harry C. Hughes, Loren Coe, Dudley Moon, Gene Bock and Mrs. A. L. Rhoads each have entered one.

Most of these are expected to start here with their owners and trainers handling the reins.

THE OCRA stakes nominees are dominated by 2-year-old pacers with 46. The stake for 3-year-old pacers drew 30 nominees and so did the stake for 2-year-old trotters. Only 18 were nominated for the 3-year-old stake for trotters.

Two of the OCRA stakes will be raced Wednesday, the opening day. The first race of the Fair will be for 2-year-old trotters with a purse of $1,000. It will be followed by the $1,000 stake for 3-year-old pacers and two overnights, one for 30 class trotters and other for 22 class pacers.

The stake 2-year-old pacers will open the Thursday program. Backing it up will be overnight races for 30 class pacers, 24 class trotters and 26 class trotters.

The last of the OCRA stake races will open the Friday card. It will be for 3-year-old trotters and be followed by an overnight race for 2-year-old trotters, a 24 class pace and an 18 class pace.

Saturday, the last day of racing will have a full program of overnight races, including one for 2-year-old pacers for the finale. The other three will be for 22 class trotters, 26 class pacers and 18 class trotters.

MEMBERS of the speed committee are reluctant to try to pick out a headliner among the overnight races, but agree that several of them have possibilities for developing into the best of the meeting, so far as speed is concerned.

There are stalls for around 125 horses at the Fairground but arrangements already have been made for tents for temporary accommodations.

Indications are that horses will be vanned here from Hilliards for the day as well as from Wilmington, Xenia, London an Springfield.

The Fayette County Fair was one of the first county fairs in the country to install photo finish equipment, the saliva test, the mobile starting gate, mutual betting and the two-heat system of racing. And, the policies have not been changed.

Harry Hagler's Sound Service has been engaged for the photo finishes and the loud speaker system that will be used.

Hank Butler will start the fields with his mobile starting gate and Dr. James McCoy will be the official veterinarian for the saliva tests. The mutuel department will be in charge of A. J. Pressler & Co. of Orville.

J. B. Bonham will be the presiding judge.

WEDNESDAY, JULY 24

2-Year-Old Trot, Ohio Colt (Closed) $1,000.00; 3-Year-Old Pace, Ohio Colt (Closed) $1,000.00; 30 Class Trot, Overnight $500.00; 22 Class Pace, Overnight $500. Totals $3,000.

Mealtime Tension

Don't Down Lunch in Hurry; You'll Feel Better, Happier

These two office workers have just bolted their lunches, gulped coffee and finished their cigarets in 20 minutes flat—so they can go bargain hunting in nearby shops.

By MEL HEIMER
Central Press Assn.

NEW YORK—For hundreds of years now, nervous waiters have been watching with fear and trembling whenever a woman walked into the chophouses where they work. Call it instinct, or foreboding—but whatever it was, they knew they might be in for a hard time.

Well—now their instinct has been backed up by cold, hard figures. The truth is, women restaurant patrons are considerable tougher to serve satisfactorily. They're rough on waiters.

This has been verified by a long survey taken of 4,000 restaurant owners in the United States, the results of which just have been completed, and are:

1—WOMEN are nearly twice as apt to be dissatisfied with the meal set before them than men.

2—Women have a small but definite edge over men in the matter of complaining about service. They beef louder and longer.

3—Women smoke more than men at meal time.

Actually, the survey has shown that men customers coming into restaurants are more apt to be suffering from tension and they are a little more apt to be suffering from such ailments as indigestion and upset stomach. However, the men apparently control their tension a little better and don't take it out on the lackey.

THE SURVEY was conducted by Restaurant Management magazine for the Muzak people, who supply background music to the eating places—and the polled restaurant owners came up with a number of suggestions to soothe the savage female beast.

Mainly, they recommended air-conditioning, with other factors being background music, sound-proofing, indirect lighting and cleanliness.

"Anything relaxing will help—music, less noise, etc.," one cafe proprietor said. Another said that the women seem to be trying to do too many things during lunch time, such as eating and shopping all in the one allotted hour.

Those women who take offense when a cafe manager tries to strike up a conversation at meal time are advised not to. "If a manager spends a moment with waiting customers," one restaurateur declared, "it relieves tension."

THE BACKGROUND to a meal, of course, long has been recognized as an important nutritive factor. The Encyclopaedia Britannica says:

"It is known that the amount of juice secreted, and therefore the digestive and nutritive properties of the food, depend in the long run not so much on the weight or calorific value of the food as on how we eat it, how it is prepared and served, and how we prepared ourselves and concentrate on its intake."

The survey, incidentally, also disclosed that meal-time tension has its effect on restaurant personnel—chiefly, by making waiters bring wrong orders. It also causes friction among employes, breakage of dishes, impoliteness to customers and mistakes in money handling.

According to Charles C. Cowley, Muzak's executive vice-president, background music at meal time not only sounds nice; it actually affects the thalamus, "that part of the brain which controls emotional responses, and changes breathing, pulse, blood pressure, metabolism and appetite."

Annual Fair Board Election Friday

Five Directors To Be Elected

Terms of five of the 13 directors of the Fayette County Fair expire this year, but all five have signified their intentions, officially, of standing for re-election.

The five whose terms expire are McKinley Kirk, H. H. Denton, Walter Sollars, George A. Steen and John Sagar.

Oddly enough, three of them—Steen, Kirk and Sagar—are members of the four-man speed harness horse racing committee. The other member is Frank E. Ellis, who is secretary of the Fair too.

These five also hold other key posts in the Fair. Sagar and Denton are on the concessions committee; Denton has charge of the outside commercial displays; Steen and Kirk are on the grounds committee and Steen and Sagar are on the advertizing committee.

Although all five have filed their "nomination papers," the race is wide open to any member of the Fayette County Agricultural Society, which puts on the Fair. Candidates must declare themselves two weeks before the Fair.

THE ELECTION of five directors will be held from 10 a.m. until 5 p.m. on Friday of the Fair. The voting will be by ballot on the Fairground.

Only members of the Agricultural Society ($1 a year dues) are eligible to vote for the directors and they must cast their votes in person. No proxy votes are permitted.

The election will be conducted by three judges and two clerks appointed by the president of the board who this year, is Ray Brandenburg.

Candidates may witness the vote count, either in person or by proxy but the judges are charged with the responsibility of verifying the eligibility of all voters as well as the candidates.

The election code is prescribed by the state; the board has virtually no authority to set up procedures.

TERMS OF the directors begin the first Saturday in December. At this meeting, the board will elect a president, vice president, secretary and treasurer. The secretary and treasurer may, or may not, be members of the board, but the president and vice president must be elected directors.

Brandenburg, Nisley, Mac Dews and Richard Babb were elected to three-year terms last year.

Terms of Ellis, Walter Dreisbach, Sam Marting and Preston Dray have two years to run.

THERE IS an almost even rural-urban balance on the board. Six of the 13 directors live in Washington C. H. and seven live on farms. But two of the directors who live in the city own farms and two others have business directly connected with farming.

Thus, there is a very definite rural flavor to the board that runs this annual agricultural extravaganza in the heart of a farm community.

Fair directors have a year-round job in planning and staging the Fair, although it lasts only five days.

They meet once a month regularly and oftener in special sessions as Fair time approaches.

Membership on the board is no empty honor; it involves a lot of hard work, consumes a lot of time and carries a lot of responsibility. The directors agree that experience is one of the most valuable assets of a director.

Through the years, a system has been worked out by the Fayette County Fair Board which spreads fairly evenly the duties of each director and minimizes the overlapping of responsibilities.

Although many who are not on the board play important roles in the planning and staging of the Fair here, a director-in-charge has been assigned to nearly every phase of the Fair to work with committees whose members are not directors.

Sheep Show of Junior Fair To Be Bigger Than Last Year

Though last year's Junior Fair sheep show set records that seemed ready to stand for years, this year's show will make all that so much water under the dam—it's to be bigger yet.

Not by much—that would be more than anyone could expect. But the quantity has taken a measured gain, and officials say the quality's up, too.

A total of 56 young people are registered for the market lamb show, while nine others are scheduled to take part in the sheep breeding division. That makes a total of 65 registrants in all—five more than in last year's record-breaking performance.

Lowell Douce, county agent from Highland County with a long record of sheep production know-how, will judge the market lamb show at 10:30 a.m. Thursday. George Hamrack, Pickaway County agent and last year's breeding show judge, will judge this year's breeding division, too.

* * *

ONCE AGAIN, Eldon Smith will be the Junior Fair Board member in charge of the sheep and lamb section. Ann Briggs, Phill Crago and Ruth Burton are to be junior superintendents. Senior superintendents are Eldon Marshall and Rodney Acton.

Market lamb exhibitors will show in three classes—under 75 pounds 75-90 pounds and over 90 pounds. Exhibitors may show two lambs in each class.

Those shown in the over-90-pound class should not be blocked but may be sheared anytime before the Fair. The judge is to be informed of this fact by a committee consisting of the superintendent of the sheep show, president of the Shepherds' Club, the county agent and the vo-ag instructor.

All lambs to be shown should be ewes or wethers.

FOUR CLASSES have been set up in the sheep breeding class: one for rams from one to two years of age, one for ewes of the same age, one for ram lambs and one for ewe lambs.

Premiums for market lambs are $3, $2 and $1. For breeding, premiums are $4, $3 and $2.

The Fayette County Shepherds' Club, which has fostered much of the interest in junior sheep raising here, will donate about $150 in additional premium money. Premiums of $1.25, $1, and 75 cents will be given for market lambs and $3 will be given with ram and ewe championships in breeding classes.

The club will also give $5 for the champion market lamb.

The champion fat lamb will receive $10 from his breed association if he is sired by a registered Shropsire, Dorset or Suffolk ram.

The Moorman Feed Co. will give a $10 trophy for the grand champion market lamb. The exhibitor 14 years of age or under who places highest in the market lamb class will receive a purebred Montadale ewe lamb from Walter Thompson.

Balwin Rice of the Production Credit Assn. is donating a trophy for the champion sheep exhibitor. The award will be based on proper registration at Junior Fair headquarters, neatness of pen and equipment, promptness, cooperation with the management and the like.

A special $20 trophy for champion ewe lamb over all breeds will be given by the Dunton Wool House.

First-year market lamb — Janet Sue Boggs, Phillip Price, Kay Sexten, Tom Rankin, Sherwin Payne, Billy Hains, Donald McClain, Allan Hains, Joe Keefer, Marv Joe Minton, John Minton, Helen L. Sheeley, Ruth A. Sheeley, J. P. Morgan, Joe Lane, Larry Carman, Jean Burton, Karen, Steve and Roger Thompson, Jimmy Bonham, Peggy Garrison, Sammy Mathews, Michael Beatty, Bob Caplinger, Dick Klever, Steve and Sidney Graumlich, Cathy Kneisley, Gary Hott, James Klever, Jane, Linda and Mike Whiteside and Linda Yeoman.

Breeding sheep— (first year) Don Creamer, Bobby Campbell, Phillip Crago, Eddie McCoy, Phillip McCoppin and Peggy Garrison; (second year) Beverly Stanforth; (third year) Roy Boggs and Ann Briggs.

Honesty Is Best Policy When It's Worth $5.78

NORMAN, Okla. (AP) — City Clerk Dorwin K. Wilcox hated to do it to an honest water user, but it was his job.

A woman called to ask why her bill was so much smaller than usual. Wilcox checked and found a mistake of 10,000 gallons had been made. His heart wasn't in it but he sent the women a bill for an additional $5.78.

Crime Rate Drops

BALTIMORE (AP)—While the nation's crime rate has been going up, Baltimore's rate was down for the tenth straight month, according to Police Commissioner James M. Hepbron. He reported that the overall decrease for the city in May was 6.5 per cent.

BLOUSE, covered with little green 4-H emblems, was made by Peggy Kelly (right), 11, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Kelly of Jeffersonville. Scrutinizing the work is Phyllis Fannin, 14, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Asa Fannin of Jeff. Peggy will show her blouse at the Fair next week.

Sheep Show of Junior Fair To Be Bigger Than Last Year

Though last year's Junior Fair sheep show set records that seemed ready to stand for years, this year's show will make all that so much water under the dam—it's to be bigger yet.

Not by much—that would be more than anyone could expect. But the quantity has taken a measured gain, and officials say the quality's up, too.

A total of 56 young people are registered for the market lamb show, while nine others are scheduled to take part in the sheep breeding division. That makes a total of 65 registrants in all—five more than in last year's record-breaking performance.

Lowell Douce, county agent from Highland County with a long record of sheep production know-how, will judge the market lamb show at 10:30 a.m. Thursday. George Hamrack, Pickaway County agent and last year's breeding show judge, will judge this year's breeding division, too.

ONCE AGAIN, Eldon Smith will be the Junior Fair Board member in charge of the sheep and lamb section. Ann Briggs, Phill Crago and Ruth Burton are to be junior superintendents. Senior superintendents are Eldon Marshall and Rodney Acton.

Market lamb exhibitors will show in three classes—under 75 pounds 75-90 pounds and over 90 pounds. Exhibitors may show two lambs in each class.

Those shown in the over-90-pound class should not be blocked but may be sheared anytime before the Fair. The judge is to be informed of this fact by a committee consisting of the superintendent of the sheep show, president of the Shepherds' Club, the county agent and the vo-ag instructor.

All lambs to be shown should be ewes or wethers.
